the penalty.

It is contended that the act now before the Legislature will, if it becomes a law, prevent all this, and it is further urged that numerous cases of bigamy will thus be prevented om the fact that in the first place no may iage can be entered into without a license i eviously procured, and the authority issu ere penalty for non-compliance, to ascerta whether the parties to the contract come with n the scope of the law; and secondly, tha the fact of the bond of union being entered on the record books of the county will prevent many persons from contracting a second man iage, while both parties to the original co tract are still living. The person issuing the certificate, or license, will have access to such books, and it is made a part of his duty to se hat no impediment of the kind exists. It elieved by many that a law of the kind is a absolute necessity, considering the growing evil of hasty marriages being entered into by minors, who do not ask permission from their mardians, and who soon tire of their bargain They will not take time to repent, and if a divorce court will not sever the band, they take the matter into their own hands by forming ew alliances. That there is not indi-vidual expitat offering its assistance to the enter-prize, makes the belief altogether probable that the road would not pay; and, therefore, none but a foolish government would lead its aid. But, a woll is the road would lead its aid. But, and the road might not pay in-tividuals, who always want large dividends, it could be made profitable, and of great advantage to the government, when the right with the road of the road was a small road.

it built by it alone; for the government has the means to build the road, in the lands lying along its route, and, therefore requires no more in the way of dividends than just enough to cover the operating expenses of the road.

leaving the government to foot the bills. It is of no consequence how an act is framed, how many safe guards are thrown around, there will be loop-holes enough left for the whole squad to escape with their pleader. The only honest and safe way to build this road is by the government alone. And the time has certainly come when we as a people should do great things—construct great works—and in such a way as will be profitable to all and a burden to none.

We very greatly need many public improvements, and when for the people generally, the government should construct and centrol them. The people want a road from occan to occan and as acarly a free road as the expenses will admit. They want a great four track road from Burlington, on the Mississippi, to some one of the Atlan-They want a great four track road from Burlington, on the Mississippi, to some one of the Atlantic cities; made in as nearly a straight line as

And all these things, and others, should be owned and operated as the Postal department for the general good.

To construct the S. P. road the government can FOR RENT.

To construct the S. P. road the government can issue certificates, bearing about two per cent, interest, which will be received in payment for any of the public lands the government has for sale. By this means it could, in a short time, pay for building the road, and still furnish land to settlers [jan26-tf] a much lower price than cornerations would o and thereby save millions of acres that in other case were donated to individuals. By this method th vernment is a certain gainer; for the land would ay all the cost of building even though the road peak of paying enterprises they expect from six o twenty per cent. In the nation's misery let our sleepy Congressmen wake up and do something for which the people may hour them. Let them perfect a plan to build the road at once. In ten days it may be in t might, however, be a more important work and more beneficial at this time, to the people East and West, to build a road from Burlington, n Iowa, already referred to. It is a work the well able to build it, and it alone should build it, for only by its control can cheap transportation be assured, and that is one of the great wants of the Eastern manufacturer and the Western farmer. So that they may be brought together without consuming all their profits in reaching each other. The road can be built by the same kind of certificate, to be redeemed in the same way as we have eate, to be redeemed in the same way as we have sed for the S. P. Road. roposed for the S. P. Road.

It should be made a four track road from the sst. In order to have freight transported at a stream. Over this road the rates of freight will be constant and uniform, and no hard hearted and soulless corporation, will be permitted to put the serews on the people when weakest and most need help. It has been carefully estimated that, over Summer. su ha road, wheat can be carried from Iowa to New York for three cents per bushel, or about $10 per car load, and coal returned for $1.00 per ton. Does not such an enterprise commend itself to e thinking man of the nation? This road, once oult would prove so great a benefit that a number of other trunk lines would soon follow on the same system. Corporations could still own the branch-ies. This idea is not a new one, for it is precisely Belgian system which has become so popular n that happy country. We are told however, that his is all well enough, but it would be such a conentration of power in the hands of the govern-ent, and it would be an open door to all kinds of seculation and fraud. We ask, what do people ean by talking of concentrating power in the overnment? What do they call the government? if they object to placing these things in the hands of parties, clicks, or rings—just what is now done with a vengeance—we will go to any length with them in their objection. But when an operation is carried on for the interest of all the peole—which is the government—there is no force i the objection. It would be but increasing the ne duties and labors of the people's clerks and gents. And all these things can be so arranged, the people are honest and willing to have hon t men serve them, that no party or ring can con-ol them, or have the slightest opportunity to teat or defraud the people. So long as human nature exists, there will be so long as numan nature exists, there will be more or less cheating done. But it may be observed here, that cheating in violation of law, is but a tithe of the cheating and swindling done under cover, and by the protection of law. It would have required a long time for U. P., or the N. P. R. R., to swindle the U. S., out of land enough to make three or four large States. But how easily was it done when the great seal of the parties. ily was it done when the great seal of the nation was fixed to the parchment containing the grant. Let a road be built from Burlington to the East as we have described, and that by the government, and when once in operation, its benefits and bless-ings will be so felt that the people will leap to the activity of a new life.

PILGEE WURRIN. A NEW PROCESS.

Having heard considerable talk in regard "HACKMETACK" a new and delightful Perfume is sold by JOHN READ & SONS, Huntingdon, Oct 20cow-6m.

Pa. Elsewhere by all dealers. Oct 20cow-6m. what is considered first-class machinery, and on making inquiry as to what it meent. I was told that they were going to adopt a "mew process" in making flour, consequently an entire change of the mill was necessary.

Upon inquiry of the mill-wright, as to what difference the change would make, the "process" was explained to me. The old style of grinding wheat in this county is far behind the age. Grinding the what [meahairs] was acknown his box ing the wheat, (mechanically speaking) high or rough and making the flour on coarse bolting oth has been the rule in this country, consequent y some of the flour is very fine and some rough, ut this "new process" overcomes all this and the our must all be of the same fineness. In the old tyle grinding, No. 2 and No. 10 bolting cloths sult is they are driving a brisk teade, regar the panic. When all other mills are do-heir personal attention every thing movies moothly. The wheat rolls in and the flour to doe out and no plus of hard times. In the per f Mr. Hower, you will always find courtesy: HUNTINGDON MARKETS.
