By the resignation of Hon. Simon Cameron U. S. Senator, Hon J. Don Cameron, his son, succeeds to that office. In the Republican caucus to nominate a candidate for the office, the latter gentleman received every vote but one, and he fell in line be fore the vote was finally announced. The only way we can judge of the fitness of Mr. Cameron for the exalted position to which he has been elected, is by the capability he has shown in other places of publie trust in the past. He is yet to be tried in the high office of Senator. As Secretary of war in the administration of General Grapt, he proved himself an officer of great ability, and did a work of which any man might be justly proud. He is a practical hard working man, and brought to the office of Secretary of war the qualities essen tially needed there, and which he was fully capable of furnishing We know nothing of Mr. Cameron personally, but he is represented as a man of good character, and fine abilities. He is a Cameron, which, with many of our people, is equivalent to a condemnation without further hearing. Whether this is just, we are not prepared to say. If work, hard, consistent, faithful work for his party, entitles a man to recognition, Mr. Cameron is certainly rightly chosen to the office of Senator. He did more than any other one man to elect President Hayes, and is now in full accord with him, on all the questions that the President has outlined in his policy. His deundoubted; and now that he is to represent us in the Councils of the nation, we trust he may achieve as much success in his new office, as he has in those he has filled in other spheres .- Beaver Valley

THE N. Y. Times, of Sunday morning last, in speaking of the South Carolina matter says: Our Washington correspondent informs us that the deliberations of the Cabinet yesterday ended in a decision that the troops shall be practically withdrawn from South Carolina, and that the contest between Messrs. Chamberlain and Hampton shall be determined by the State courts Of course, this means the expulsion of the Republican leader and the installation of Hampton as the chief executive of the State. The proposition submitted by Mr. Chamberlain as a basis of settlement seems to us exceedingly fair, and the tribunal he proposed to create would have been in its composition more satisfactory than the commission which is about to leave for Louisiana The rejection of the proposition is ascribed to legal considerations, and with it seems to have ended the last chance of a compromise .-Hampton's unyielding arrogance proved more potent than Chamberlain's concilia tory suggestions, and the experiment re solved upon by the Administration will at once begin. Hampton would make no disaster quite as complete though not so terrible bargain, but he has put on record promises the value of which remains to be tested. This is not the solution of the South Car. olina problem which we have desired. It is a solution which justifies some anxiety.

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER REMOVING THE TROOPS FROM THE SOUTH CARO-LINA COURT HOUSE-THE SECRETARY OF WAR ISSUES AN ORDER TO TAKE EFFECT ON THE 10TH.

The following letter was written by the Presint and sent to the Secretary of War to-day: EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 3, 1877. SIR: Prior to my entering upon the duties of the residency there had been stationed, by order of ly predecessor, in the State House, at Columbia ny predecessor, in the State Flower, a continuous, i. C., a detachment of U. S. infantry. Finding hem in that place I have thought proper to delay ceision of the question of their removal until I ould consider and determine whether the condition of affairs in the State is now such as to either Squire or justify the continued military occupa-on of the State House.

In my opinion there does not now exist in that tate such domestic violence as is contemplated y the Constitution as a ground upon which the by the Constitution as a ground approximent the military power of the National Government may be invoked for the defence of the State. There are, it is said, grave and serious disputes as to the rights of certain claimants to the Cuief Executive office of that State, but these are to be settled and determined, not by the Executive of the United States, but by such orderly and peaceable methods as may be provided by the Constitution and law of the State.

I feel assured no resort to violence is contempla ed in any quarter, but that, on the contrary, the disputes in question are to be settled solely by such peaceful remedies as the Constitution and the law of the State provides. Under these cir-cumstances, and in this confidence, I now deem it oper to take action in accordance with the prin-les announce I when I entered upon the duties iples announce I when I entered upon the dutie f the Presidency. Terrible Railroad Accident.

A TRAIN ENCOUNTERED BY AN INFURIATED BULL WHEN ENTERING A BRIDGE—THE ENGINE AND CARS PRECIPITATED INTO THE WATER. DANVILLE, Va., April 1 .- Last night, about 12 o'clock, as a heavy freight train was approaching a bridge over Difficult creek, in Halitax county, Va., on the Richmond & Danville railroad, an inva., on the knemmond was Danville railroad, an infuriated bull jumped upon the track and showed fight. The engineer discovered the animal, put on the brakes and blew his whistle to frighten him off. The bull, with mane and tail erect, stood firm and waited the approach of the iron horse.

As the train was advancing slowly the cowcatcher of the engine mounted the bull just as it was entering the bridge, throwing the engine off the track and precipitating it with great force on the trestlework, which in an instant gave way, and the engine, tender and six freight cars went through with a terrific crash.

By a miracle the fireman escaped with some severe injuries, but Engineer Kidwell was nearly crushed to death, though he still survives. Prof. Tyndall's Warning.

In concluding an address to the students of tho is unquestionably one of the most in defatigable brain workers of our century said, "take care of your health. Imagine Her cules as oarsman in a rotten boat; what can be do there but by the very force of his stroke expedite the ruin of his craft. Take care of the timbers of your boat." The distinguished scientist's advice is equally valuable to all vorkers. We are apt to devote all our eneries to wielding the oars, our strokes fall firm and fast, but few of us examine or even think of the condition of our boats and we find ourselves the victims of a calamity which could have been easily avoided by a little forethought. What began with a slight fracture, or perhaps even a careless exposure to disorganizing influences, ends in the complete wreck of the life boat. The disease which began with a slight headache or an undue exposure to cold terminates in death, unless its progress be checked and the disease remedied. The first symptoms, the heralds of disease, give no indication of the strength of the on-coming foe, and the victim trusts that his old ally, Nature, will exterminate the invader. But Disease is an old general and accomplishes his most important movements in the night-time, and some bright morning finds him in possession of one of the strongest fortifications; and when he has once gained a stronghold in the system Nature ignominiousy turns traitor and secretly delivers up the whole physical armory to the invader. Like the wily politician, Nature is always on the strongest side, and the only way to insure her support is to keep your vital powers in the ascendant. Keep your strongest forts—the stomach and liver—well guarded. Do not let the foe enter the arterial highways, for he will steal or destroy your richest merchandise and impoverish your kingdom. To repulse the attacks of the foe you can find no better ammunition than Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines. (Full directions accompany each package.) His Pleasant Purgative Pills are especially effective in defending the stomach and liver. His Golden Medical Discovery for purifying the blood and arresting coughs and colds.
