The Muses' Bower. BY ALBERT PIER. The Spring has less its brightness, Every year...

Oh! how glad to look before us, While the cloud grows darker o'er us, Every year! When we see the blossoms faded, The dew knows we might have added, And immortal garlands braided, Every year...

rest him stole upon him from the back way, and secured him before he thought of resistance.

It was a plain case. They found proof enough of robberies he had been at the bottom of all along, hid away in his trunks, and he owned them at last, with smiling complacency, turning back his sleeve actually when no one was looking, and showing the prints my teeth had made on his right arm, and kissing them with the old gallant empressment.

in return for this the Erie influence, through Gould and Fisk, was used in behalf of Tweed and his associates.

The confession says that all the painting and bookcases in Recorder Hackett's house were paid for by the city. Mr. Tweed purchased the votes of sufficient members of the Common Council to secure a majority...

Lambert's Luck. TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD FOUND IN A CAVE IN HANPTON COUNTY, TENNESSEE.

There is a very strange story, yet nevertheless a true one, to be given you by our readers. In the early history of East Tennessee, about 1774, as near as can be determined, three men by the name of Patterson, all brothers, visited the New Market Valley, with the intention of buying the rich and extensive lands near what is known as Panther Springs...

Noted Congressmen's Deaths. ELI PERKINS' INTERVIEW WITH GARRIGA A. BROW.

From the Chicago Late Opener. "Let's see," mused the silver-haired Gathasha A. Brow, as his mind's eye reverted to various Congressional reminiscences while we were dining together in one of those C. B. and G. dining rooms...

George Lake's Great Fortune. Mr. Lake came to New York a poor boy from New England. He obtained a situation in the old house of Updell & Pierson, and in the course of time, made a contract for three years for five hundred dollars per year...

It was a sad funeral to me," said the speaker—"the saddest I have attended for years." "That of Edmondson?" "Yes."
