A CHEERFUL PRENCHMAN. A frenchman named Pelletier, who sent his wife to New York a year or two ago to take care of her-self, came over after her three weeks ago. Mons, Pelletier joined her, and found her living in com-fort. She having established a very fair connection as a scamptress. But the gentleman fancied that she had not been as faithful to him, since her arrival in New York, as he could wish, and some gossips in the neighborhood added fuel to his jealous flame, and he proceeded to arrange matters in a decidedly French way. He bound her on a sofa in her room, and heated a poker to a white heat, with the purpose of branding her, but he changed his mind. He procured a quantity of sulphuric acid, and smeared one side of her face, burning it in such a manner that she is disfigured for life.

The name of the great divine of Brooklyn has not been in the newspapers much lately, for the memory of his troubles is fading out gradually. Whether guilty or not, Mr. Beecher has recovered where failly lost standing. His church is crowd-ed regularly, as of yore, and his recent lecture tout was the grandest ovation ever given a man. Even where his halls were crowded, people coming hand-reds of miles to see him. He stands as well as he red of miles to see him. He stands as well as he ever did, in the popular estimation, though the loss of friends worries him immensely. Tilton is lecturing in California, with no remarkable success, Mrs. Tilton is keeping boarders with he mother, and it very poor. Bessie Turner is entirely forgotten and is, no on knows where, Frank Moulton has gone back to his old business, thesaltrade, to re-build his fortunes which were terribly impaired by his chivalrous standing by his friend, and Carpenter is painting pictures. The great candal is dead, and is never thought of except when divines like Dr. Buddington refuse to affiliate with Mr. Beecher as he did last week. Beecher is older than he was, and has changed for the Several Republicans are already implicated, and it is expected that more will be. He had tools in the Republican camp of course, for else he could not have got the Legislation at Albany necessary to carry out his purposes. FARMERS AND GARDENERS.

Do you want to increase the production of your Farms and Gardens at a small outlay and no troub-le? If so, send for a package of the Wangaman's Vitative Compound, or Seed

This is a wonderful chemical discovery, containing all the ingredients in a condensed form for the immediate and certain germination of the seed, and the vigorous and rapid growth of the plant. Its value can hardly be estimated, as it not only increases the production and hastens maturity, but protects the seeds and plants from the attack of insects and worms. Put up in packages at $1.00 and $2.00 each; the small is sufficient for half a bushel, and the larger for one bushel of seed. Sent
