Republican State Convention.

Headquarter's Republican State Committee, Harrisburg, May 26th, 1877. In pursuance of a resolution of the Republic State Committee, adopted at a meeting held in Harrisburg, this day, a Republican State Conven tien, to be composed of delegates from each Sena-torial and Representative district, to the number to which such district is entitled in the Legislature, is hereby called to meet in the city of Harris burg, at 12 o'clock noon, on Wednesday, August 29th, 1877, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Supreme Judge, State Treasurer and Auditor General, to be voted for at the ensuing general election on the sixth day of November next.

A. WILSON NORRIS,

MR. BLAINE, in bis Woodstock speech spiked the little gun pointed toward Mexico to distract attention from some very unpopular home policy. We suspect it was only a likely quaker after all.

A CABINET, at Washington, without a single representative Republican in it, has not, a might have been expected, shaped matters to suit the party as a whole .-Dead wood should never attempt to stem the current-it can only float with it.

THE failure of the Charter Oak Life Insurance Company, one of the best of the lot, only goes to show that Joint Stock Companies are not to be relied on. Today they may be sound enough, to morrow the present demoralized condition of the their management passes into the hands Republican party, without aid from Washof a set of villians and the policy-holders can go to grass.

THOMAS H. GREEVY, ESQ., editor of the Altoona Globs, has received the Demo eratic nomination for the office of City Becorder of Altoona under a late act of Assembly. Mr. Greevy is fully competent, and will, if elected, (of which there is but little doube fill the office with credit to himself and to the entire satisfaction of the community.

WE were led to believe that the Presi dent's Southern policy was a mere experiment, and if it did not prove satisfactory to the country at large, it would be changed. Since the indicament of the Louisiana Returning Board the President will, no doubt, cast about him to see how hope so.

If a few secundrels, who seek notoriety in this way, were converted into be a good thing for the undertakers but for the editorial fraternity generally.

THE N. Y. Sun says Dr. R. V. Pierce the greatest living medical advertiser, is flatteringly mentioned as a candidate for the office of Mayor of Buffalo, the Queen City of the Lake. Let other advertisers and other medical men imitate his example and we shall hope in time to record the fact of similar distinctions conferred upon them all. They cannot all be Mayor of Buffalo, but each may become great in his own locality, or, what is better, great in the consciousness of a great deal of money judiciously spent. We tender our respectful compliments to Dr. Pierce. Let him be Mayor!

There are few Demoeratic papers in the country, that make any pretentions to merit, that did not get of better articles on the subject during the protracted sittings of the Commission. We expected something new and ponderoas, but instead it is the hideous noise of the same old cracked and disfigured gong

In view of the fact that the Republican State Convention does not meet until the 29th of August proximo, we would sug gest that the chairman of the Republican County Committee, of this county, call the County Convention to meet on or about the 20th of August. This would obviate the necessity for a meeting of the County Committee to select delegates to the State Convention, which has been made necessary, heretofore, by the early meeting of that body, but which matter can now be referred to the County Convention itself, as it should be. This would be about the usual time of holding the County Convention, and in view of the fact that there are only two offices to be filled at the approaching election, the candidates should have all the time given them that can be extended, to enable them to visit every loeality and personally urge out every vote. If this is not done the Republicans of Huntingdon county will not get out one half

THERE is much said in certain circles in regard to what will be the result of the election in Pennsylvania this fall, and it is intimated that the Camerons are dis posed to leave the State go by default .-We do not believe a word of this, but we have no hesitation in saying that neither the Camerons, nor any other set of men, can carry the State of Pennsylvania, in ington. If the administration wants the Republican party to succeed in Pennsylvania it must hold out some inducements for $2.50. for men to spend their time and their noney in behalf of the organization. If Democrats and non-partizans and overgorged Republicans are to receive the rewards, then, we predict, that it will not be the Republican banner that in triumph

THE speeches of Chamberlain and Blaine. at the Woodstock, Connecticut, celebration have created much comment in political circles. They plainly foreshadow trouble in the party-trouble that could as readily have been avoided as not. The speech of Gov. Chamberlain is one of the ablest of the period and, unfortunately for the President, it presents the views of nine tenths the old thing works and a change may of the Republican party. It is the merest bosh in the world to talk about the people to talk about bosh in the world to talk about the people being with the President and that it is only the politicians who are opposing his works running day and night for four months.

Dyspepsia is the most perplexing of all human ailments. Its symptoms are almost infinite in their variety, and the forlorn and despondent victims of the disease often fancy themselves the prey, in turn of every known malady. This is due, in part to the close sympathy which exists between the stomach and the brain, and in part also to the fact that any disturbances of the digestive function necessarily disorders the liver, the bowels and the nervous system, and effects, to some extent, the quality of the blood.

NEW YORK, July 9, 1877. The Temperance Movement—Political—The Jews — Tenement Houses—Business Stagnation—Missionary Societies—The Weather.

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT is going on vigorously. The old law, restricting licenses to sell intoxicating drinks to those keeping inns, and defining inn-keepers to be those persons keeping three beds for the accommodation of the public, has been revived, and its performance insisted upon. The big beer saloon under the Tribune building put in three cots, to conform to the law, and put them in the lowest cellar. A to the law, and put them in the lowest cellar. A temperance detective, thinking that such a concern would not have the beds, and that an opening would be had for a prosecution, went in last night and demanded lodgings. "All right," said the proprietor, "come dis way." And down through long, winding cellars he took him, till, in a dark vault, they came to three cots, of the hardest, meanest description, and with rats coursing over them: "You vill dake No. 2," said the proprietor; "goot night." And he went away, leaving the detective in a place from which no man unacquaint-led with the remission of the same to the same that the constitution of the same to the law to to to the law, and put them in the lowest cellar. A detective in a place from which no man unacquainted ed with the premises could escape, without a guide. In a doleful mood he passed the night, and in the morning paid his dollar, thinking it cheap, as he had the company of the rats. The league is working vigorously and to the point. Wherever they can catch a liquor dealer napping, they bring him to book; and, as they have plenty of money and the best legal talent in the city, they are accomplishing something. The breaking up of the rings has lessened the politician power of the gin mills, and the politicians are willing to see them go to the wall. (Note for the benefit of all kinds of respectable people.) Politicians are beginning to court the favor of decent people, because the decent people kicked in the traces and refused to follow them, unless they had at least as much attention paid to their wishes as to the deminant of the rum sellers. "Be not carried about The office-holders who have walked the plank, and those whose heads hangs lightly on their shoulders, don't like him, but the people do. The Republicans who have tried to have decent men in Congress and in the Legislature, but who have been overridden by the trained cohorts of the Oustom-House and the Post-Office, whose proprietors had axes of their own to grind, are rejoiced that this is at last over, and that hereafter the people will have a chance to be represented as they desire to be. It was a nuisance and a curse. The swarm of office-holders made polities a business, and it was no use for the citizen to undertake to comnincredulous and ignorant public, yet to-day they are received and honored by all as benefactors. When Dr. Pierce announced his Discovery, many seemed to doubt, and were a southern politician could be trusted have passed into history, and the chivalry are "no moah!"

Every Rabbi in the city preached on the topic, and to read the papers Monday, one would suppose that all the brarery, all the virtue, all the capacity, and all the good qualities that have ever blessed humanity were qualities that have ever blessed humanity were concentrated in the Jews. They may be excused for slopping over somewhat, in view of the insult that was put upon them, but without all this there is much te be said in their favor. There is an enormous population of them in the city, probably sixty thousand. They are the heavtest bankers, the heaviest merchanits, and the best financiers in the city. There are thousands of small retailers, and thousands of rag-pickers and all that, among them; but there are no Jew mendicants, and very few Jew criminals. They take care of their poor better than any other people on the globe; they are the most charitable and the most enterprising. Here the Jew has had a chance, and he has shown himself to be great in more ways than one. The ghost of Stewart, who is known as Hilton, made a grave mistake when he insulted a race of such rrave mistake when he insulted a race of such grave mistake when he insuited a race of such wonderful capabilities, capacity and means. TENEMENT HOUSES. A building six stories high, in which over four hundred people existed, commenced caving in at cleven o'clock in the morning, and at four in the afternoon it fell with a mighty crash, embracing in its ruins all the worldly possessions of the people who inhabited it. Fortunately the cracking walls gave timely warning of their intention to go down, and no lives were lost. Had it happened in the night the loss of life would have been terrible. There are thousands of such buildings in the city, the falling of which is a mere matter of time, for the walls are as thin as they can possibly be city, the falling of which is a mere matter of time, for the walls are as thin as they can possibly be and stand, and everything so built as to make the interest on the cost as large as possible. The authorities have taken it in hand, and an inspection is being made of the tenement houses. Quite a number of them have been condemned, and the tenants ordered to move out. The owners who are reaping twenty-five per cent. on this class of structures are indignant. They don't see why they shouldn't have the privilege of building any kind of a trap they choose, so that it pays them. ARSOLUTÉ DULLNESS and well situated for the scene to be enacted. During the darkness of the night the robbers captured the watchman, and forced him under the charge of one of the number, who held a revolver to his head, to signal the train to stop; as soon as it came to a stand still, a robber appeared at each door of the passenger ears, and with leveled six shooters, ordered all to remain quiet on pain of instant death, the order was literally obeyed, and, while thus sitting covered by the revolvers, another party of the robbers, rifled the mail and express cars, which being finished, they ordered the train to move on, and then dashed into the woods.
