> SERMON.-Brief abstract of a sermon reached by Rev. W. C. Robbins, in the M. E. Church, in this place, on Sabbath last : And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying; neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away.—

Rev. 21: 4. After some references, deduced from ancient historical allusions to St. John, the speaker, gave an analysis of the book of Revelations, after which he proceeded to show that man's true destiny is not confined to this world. The is past our bodies crumble into dust, and the reasonable presumption is that our spirits either ascend to heaven or descend to hell. This would constitute a nursery, a preparatory state of being. As implied in the language of St. Paul, "For we know that when this earth-ly home of this tabernacle is dissolved, we have a building, a home not made by hands, eternal in the heavens,") we feel assured that we shall exist through all eternity. And God's intellectual creatures shall retain their identity or individuality. We regard this not as a intellectual creatures shall retain their identity or individuality. We regard this not as a presumption, but as a fact. In the parable of the rich man and Lazarus how plainly is this doctrine taught! Abraham said "Son, remember, etc." Had not the rich man retained his memory how nozsensical would the language addressed to him appear? The inference is that we will remember what we did and how we conducted ourselves here. Our destiny we conducted ourselves here. Our destiny while the "Huntingdon" began to play, and in lies beyond the present state of existence. How inconvenient with an intelligent idea of were extinguished. In its general sense repentance signifies sorrow for anything we do they being almost totally destroyed by the amiss. In a theological sense it convicts of a crowd that gathered in them, and they looked deep and sincere contrition for violating the as if an army of Western grasshoppers had commands of God, rejecting his counsels and encamped in them and taken a "square meal" proving ungrateful for his boundless mercies. Off the vegetables. Most of this destruction From sin we turn away with loathing and hor-ror. Then we exercise faith upon the ability and disposition of God to prepare us. Then "being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." All an incendiary, and if so we hope he may these are qualifying conditions. No stopping here, however. BAD BREATH!

Two hundred pair's of pants have just been purchased by Samuel March, agent, which he will sell very low

Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be so easily corrected if you will take Simons' Liver Regulator. Do not neglect so sure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your appetite, complexion and general health.

This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head, accompanied with disagreeafle nauses, and this constitutes what is popularly known as Sack Headache. For prompt relie TAKE SIMMONS' LIVER REGULA-TOR, OR MEDICINE.
