After the relation the greenback currency has sustained to the business of the country for full fifteen years—in that time legally and satisfactorily transferring thousands of millions of dollars worth of property—it might seem strange that the shadow of a reason yet exists for the organisation of a party, whose sole work is the defense and advocacy of this wholesome style of currency.

But one rational reason can be offered. That is the obstinacy with which men can hold on to old customs and precedents, however wrong or defective they may be, holding on until the eachquake has ground their foundations to powder, and the hurricane has blown them away. Because the greenback currency has found no friends in either of the great political parties, there seems to be a necessity for its advocates to derate themselves to its defense and protection in a distinct political organisation. It is, however, to be very much regretted that the Republican party has not closed this field against such a necessity. After having done so many good works, to not only leave this greatest of all good works for other hands, but to bitterly oppose a measure so much to the well-being of the people—a measure that will ensure stability in a paper currency (an admitted necessity), for all time to come, and by such opposition, drive from its ranks many of its old and best friends, is certainly cause for regret.

By the last Presidential campaign it appeared there were about 80,000 advocates of the greenback currency. This, it is true, is but a handfull among the millions of voters—only about one in a hundred—but the character of these voters may well be considered. Amid the fire and smoke of one of the hottest political battles ever fought, stood firmly, unmoved, earnestly, and independently, this handfull of men, for the principles they advocated. In the beginning of the campaign there were great numbers of fawning flatterers, hoping, no doubt, to reap honor and profit by an affiliation with the greenback movement. But after a time, seeing n munity, it stood firmly to the last, and cast it votes for the venerable Peter Cooper.

The followers of the noble old gentleman, who has spent fifty years of his life, and a million o so of money, in the perfection of one of the grand est and most beneficial of New York's great institutions constitute the only true, and resonations.

But as none of those figuring in the preliminary meetings in their simple native honesty, ever heard of such naughty practices, they could not be expected to make any deliverances thereon.

In conclusion, it is not an object with the greenback party to interfere with individual rights, but it does propose a financial policy that will enable those who wish to use money, to get it at a rate of interest they are able to pay, and for such time as they are willing to pay it. And for the time when this may become a cardinal principle of our government, we will ever pray.

LETTER FROM MR. GOBERT-PLATE

Rothe Erde, near Aix-La-Chapelle, Germany September 8th, 1877.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HUNTINGDON JOURNAL-Dear Sir:—I have reached home since a fortnight and I have found here a state of things on which and I have found here a state of things on which I ask liberty of calling the attention of your countrymen of the Juniata Valley. Prices are here very much depressed, both in labor and in material, so that machinery can now be built, here cheaper than ever. Malleable iron in bars is sold at one and a quarter cent per pound (1½0 per lb) and common labor can be had at 40 cents per day. It is generally thought here that the Turoo-Russian war will go on for many months, and this apprehension causes a general depression of business, so great that many works are entirely shut and many hands idle. The works that still go on working, generally work at a loss—this fact is clearly shown by the balance sheets which they must publish annually—and the consequence is that machinery can actually be bought at a price inferior to cost price. This fact is yery favorable to the purchaser, and I wish to call your attention to it. This diminution on the price of machinery carries with it a corresponding diminution on the to it. This diminution on the price of machinery carries with it a corresponding diminution on the amount to be paid for duty to the U. S. Custom office—this amount being, as you know, thirty-five per cent. of the original cost of the machinery, at the place where the machinery is produced.

I have since my return given much consideration to the problem of crecting plate glass works in the Juniata Valley, and I have come to the conclusion that it is desirable to find the means of starting with a very small capital. Judging by my experience of this summer in your country, I find that the general capitalist of your castern cities feels afraid to invest in a new thing, in a new manufacture which has to be built at least 200 increase the population and the business of the locality, provided the enterprise was a profitable one, and I have therefore endeavered to find the means of executing plate glass works with that subscription alone combined with the help that my friends and myself can afford to give. I have had new plans made and I am now in a position to guarantee the erection of Plate Glass Works producing 259 feet a day to every locality subscribing $100,000 in stock and donating the necessary land for the works and dwellings of the employees. Allow me another suggestion: If some of your fellow-citizens, who have visited the Plate Glass Works in the west of America, only took the pains of paying a visit to my country, they would be in position to judge the difference and of understanding by what beautiful organisation and powerful machinery our works compete with yours, in your own market, having against them a duty of one hundred and forty per cent. Plate glass is now sold in Belgium at 38 cents a foot and has to pay a duty of 54 cents to enter into the American market, and without "underrating American ingenuity," I claim that my country is the leading country in the manufacture of Plate Glass.

Are you going to the Sea Side, or are you there already? In either case procure some of Glenn's Sulphure Soap, if you would increase the luxury of the bath, render your skin white the principle head and coperate with it.

But instead of following this reasonable method, there is springing up, like the mashroom off the morning, all our the content of the mashroom off the morning, all our the cause they are blindly advocating. And it is to be feared the party of our county calling a convention on the 27th, largely partakes of this character. The platform as published has some greenback "streaks," but in spirit is not a greenback platform at all, and shows very clear ly that the originator has given but little thought to his subject—he is but a mere apprentice—the veriest "botch" at his trade. It has more of the spearance of a political "clap-trap," "got up," to catch the unwary, by which some political aspirant may be lifted into an official position; quite similar to an effort made a few yearsago, by a few of our citizent to organize a party; the number as recorded were five, where, in "counting the principle head and cooperate with it.

pirant may be lifted into an official position; quite similar to an effort made a few years ago, by a few of our citizens to organize a party; the number as reported were five; when, on "counting noses," four were wanting offices, while the fifth was willing to serve in his "day and generation" without official preferent. It would not be at all surprising if the greenback movement of our county would turn upon the same point.

One of the fundamental principles of the greenback party is, a reduction of the rate of interest, believing, as Mr. Williams expresses it, in his admirable letters, "that the rate of interest shapes and controls business enterprises, and fixes and determines the value of money and property." And again, in the language of our esteemed colaborer, John Dougherty, eaq., "it was the deamess of money that put out your furnace fires and sent your people to the pauper's market."

The true greenback party believes it is the rate of interest that paralyses our industries, but the spurious exotion of our county take no notice of this point. It is true, it, with the disciples of Kellogg, bends its bow at the National banks. The former, however, stops there, while the latter aims at all the harpies of the nation; for it would be the work of lunatics to fight against paying the National bank 10 to 12 per cent. for the use of money, and permit private banks to take 12 to 20 for the same service, or private individuals from 20 per cent. to the whole debt for a like brothelly kindness.

But as none of those figuring in the prelimina-
