patriotic record of the party in the past is not to be obscured, nor will it be arrested to congress by the former secretary of the treasury at the opening of its session in December last. These estimates, modified by the present secretary so as to conform to present requirements, are now renewed, amounting to $32,436,564.98, and having been transmitted to both houses of congress, are sub-mitted for your consideration.

There is also required by the navy depart. ment $2,003,861.27. This sum is made up of $1,446,668.16 due to officers and enlisted men for the last quarter of the last fiscal year $311,953.50 due for advances made by the fis cal agent of the government in London for the cal agent of the government in London for the support of the foreign service, $50,000 due to the naval hospital fund $150,000 due for ar-rearages of pay to officers, and $45,219.58 for the support of the marine corps.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17, 1877. Political-The Election-Joe Coburn-Business.

The meeting of the supporters of the President and, consequently, the opponents of Senator Conk-ling, at Cooper Institute, was important only as it shows the drift of public sentiment. The emint shows the drift of public sentiment. The emi-mently respectable gentlemen who sat upon the platform and applauded the righteous utterances of Mr. Curtis, believe in him and his ideas, and took the trouble to come up to the institute to show that they did so, but for all it will amount to they might as well have stayed at home. For they do not represent anything but the respectability of the party—they do not represent at all the work-ing, moving force. Mr. William E. reated a profound sensation here. To begin with clearly in that State than in any other, except
New York. To have a Democratelected by a majority of 30,000, is a little too much. It is true, the Republicans stayed at home, but why did they? There is but one answer to it—they desired to rebuke—well, they are not satisfied. It is a fact that the order prohibiting office-holders from taking part in political movements, hurt the ticket, but that is not enough to account for the overwhelming defeat. And then Iowa comes slowly in, with a victory that just escapes defeat, which must be charged up to the new departure. What it will be a year hence, remains to be seen,—it cannot be denied that up to to-day, the Republicans of the West have set the seal of condemnation upon the President's policy.

THE WORKINGMEN'S MOVEMENT,

THE WORKINGMEN'S MOVEMENT, commencement of the fiscal year the army though without pay, has been constantly and a actively employed in arduous and dangerous service, in the performance of which both officers and men have discharged their duty with fidelity and courage, and without complaint.

These circumstances, in my judgment, constitute an extraordinary occasion requiring that congress be convened in advance of the time prescribed by law for your meeting in regular session. The importance of speedy action upon this subject on the part of congress is so manifest that I venture to suggest the propriety of making the necessary appropriations for the support of the army for the current year at its present maximum numerical strength of 25,000 men, leaving future consideration all questions relating to an increase or decrease of the number of enlisted men.

In the event of the reduction of the army by subsequent legislation during the fiscal year, the excess of the appropriation could not be expended, and in the event of its enthe legitimate outgrowth of the strikes of last sum into a hall and initiate them. Then, when the day of election comes, each one is ready to be veted. As some of the utterances of the Troy laborates. ing men are, if not incendiary, at least capable of being twisted into incendiarism, there is a great deal of uneasiness expressed.

THE FATE OF THE PUGILISTS. Pugilism has been on the wane here for a great many years. The English bruisers have not succeeded in awakening any enthusiasm over their art, and the law has dealt roughly with them. Joe Coburn is about the last of the lot, and he has gone to the penitentiary for ten years. Joseph took it into his head to shoot an officer, and the court sent him up for ten years. His friends court sent him up for ten years. His friends treated the sentence as a joke, and appealed, but to his surprise, the court above held the sentence to be proper, and the short-haired are mourning the fate of their frrend. It is an encouraging fact that the roughs have lost a great deal of their influence in this city within the past few years, and they are getting to be rather shy of knocking down and dragging out. The police is better than it ever was, and the downfall of Tweedism left the fancy without the protection it had sheltered itself behind so long. It is kept fairly under, and only shows itself in the very week parts of the city shows itself in the very worst parts of the city.

BUSINESS Still continues brisk. The revival, I am happy to say, is not temporary but is genuine. There is an actual betterment in all lines of trade, and a an actual betterment in all lines of trade, and a more healthy feeling than we have had for years. The leading jobbers report sales largely in excess of last year, and it is continuing right along into the cold months. There is not so heavy a business being done in fancy goods, and goods of mere luxury, but there is a tremendous business in the solid necessities. The West is now here in force, and the number will be largely increased next week. And what pleases everybody it, the bills are being paid. Collections are very good, and altogether, the outlook is encouraging. I took a little run up through New England last week, and found the manufacturers in better spirits than they have been for some time. They are cleaning out the old stocks very fast, and are putting goods of recent manufacture on the market. The mills of recent manufacture on the market. The mills are running in many places full time, and at fair wages, when the drop in everything is taken into account. It may be safely said that the good times are here again. We want just a little more onfidence to put us on good, high and dry ground gain. PIETRO.
