"That question I mentally answered most decidedly in the negative, when an hour later I stood in the office and viewed the body and surroundings. It was still lying in the same position as when found, it not having been disturbed further than for unauthorized exception of the pockets in which were found.

"He deserved hanging, if any murderer ever didd, but he got off with imprisorment for didd but he got off with imprisorment for disturbed further than for unauthorized ex-mination of the pockets, in which were found did, but he got off with imprisonment for his watch, a small amount of money, and the life." key to the safe. "I procured a light, and went prowlin

"But to make sure of the work he had used the knife in giving several stabs in the region of the heart, and the arranging of the body, and dropping the knife near, to give the appearance of suicide, he had opened the safe, ab-stracted only the valuable packages, locked the doors of the office and freight-room with

"But as I studied the heel-mark in the soft pine I knew that he had left a trace-a link that I determined should be fitted to a chain that should bind him hand and foot. As I have said the exact imprint of the beel was deeply impressed into the yielding pine. The maker of the boot to which that heel belonged he had made in the centre a perfect star, and there it was, every nail distinct. It was useless to think of tracing his course without, for it had been snowing all night—and in fact all day-and of course every mark was long

It grew to such a mania with me, that I greatly surprised Mrs. Rollins by mechanically raising her boots, as she laid them aside to don her slippers one evening, and examining the heels thereof; and she fell to expatiating on the beauty of the fit and their cheapness, fearing, the dear little woman, that I was growing parsimoniously inclined. Some after this experiment proved a success one of after this experiment proved a success, one of the boys moved to another street, some two miles away, and this put a stop to their opera-tions for a while. But the young scientists were not to be thwarted in the pursuit of their favorite science. They went to work, and unaided and elone, stretched a wire from house to house, bought new instruments, and soon became proficient operators. The work of adjusting the instruments, making the batteries and stretching the wires had all been accomplished by these two boys alone, and in pursa-ing this there was developed in one of them a taste for mechanics, which, as he grew older, constantly increased, and that boy, at the age of sitteen, is now a cadet engineer at the Naval Academy in Annapolis, where he is pursuing his studies with that energy and ardor which characterized his efforts in Toledo, and his

A Revolutionary Incident.

The Charlottesville (Va.) Chronicle says :-The Charlottesville (Va.) Chroniele says:—
It is a fact well known that during the Revolutionary war the British Colonel Tarleton came very near capturing the Virginia Legislature, then in session at Charlottesville.—
Tradition has it that the members were indebted for their escape to the thieving propensities of Tarleton's own soldiers. It is related that the dashing cavalry leader called on Dr. Walker at "Castle Hill," and ordered breakfast. After waiting some time he complained that the cook was not as brisk as she breakfast. After waiting some time he com-plained that the cook was not as brisk as she might be, and the doctor went to the kitchen to "hurry up the cakes." He was informed that breakfast had been cooked twice, and as often consumed by the soldiers, who, as hungry as wolves, had made a rush for the smoking viands. Tarleton at once placed a guard at the entrance of the kitchen, and in due time sat down to a confortable meal. But in this sat down to a comfortable meal. But in the meantime, Jack Dewit saw the soldiers at the "You never saw a fellow weaken so quick, and investigate death of Agent Pancoast," was the order, and as the train was due in five minutes, I had little time for preparation.
