Potatoes for Cows.

Cows in milk may be fed so much of certain kinds of food as to derange their digestive powers, and thus dry up their milk. The Live Stock Journal states that it has been found that a large feed of potatoes will lessen the percentage of hay digested, but we think the large amount of salt contained in the potato causes a looseness of the bowels, and thus impairs the digestive function. We often fed potatoes to cows in milk with great benefit. Our plan has been to run potatoes through a root slicer and to feed four quarts at a time mixed with cut For DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION, Jaundice, Biliou attacks, SICK HEADACHE, Colic, Depression of Spirits SOUR STOMACH, Heart Burn, &c., &c.,

This unrivaled Southern Remedy is warranted not to contain a single particle of Melecury, or any injurious mineral substance, but is hay and a pint of oil meal or pea meal, or a quart of oats. And since the experiment mentioned, we have again tried this mode of feeding, and found it to work admirably well.

The potato is a very imperfect food alone, being principally starch, having too rangement of the Liver and nowess.

The SYMPTOMS of Liver Complaint are a bitter or bad taste in the mouth; Paln in the back, sides or joints, often mistaken for Rheumatism; Sour Stomach; Loss of Appetite; Bowels alternately costive and lax; Headache; Loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; Deblity, Low Spirits, a thick yellow appearence of the Skin and Eyes, a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption.

It is very laxative food in the raw state, and that is probably the cause of its peculiar effect on the digestion of hay.

When the potato is cooked the effect is quite different, and its value is increased. "We have tested its virtues, personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Billousness, and Throbbing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw. We have tried 40 other remedies before Simmons' Liver Regulator, but none of them gave us more than temporary relief; but the Regulator not only relieved, but cured us."—ED. TELEGRAPH AND MESSENGER, Macon, Ga. quite different, and its value is increased. A small quantity of potatoes, say four quarts at a feed, will increase the yield of milk nearly as much as so much grain, provided they are fed with other food rich in the constituents of milk.

Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stom-ach, and can be so easily corrected if you will take Sim-mons' Liver Regulator. Do not neglect so sure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your ap-The American dairyman is prone to feed one thing at a time, almost wholly, instead of giving variety in food, which will furnish all the elements required in the proper proportion. We found an objection to the use of oil meal when fed above two pounds per day to a cow, as it is too laxative. ## Oatmeal in the Household.

In Great Britain childrin of all ranks are raised on an oatmeal dict alone, because it causes them to grow strong and healthful, and no better food can possibly be found for them. It is also quite as desirable for the student as for the laborer, and for the delicate lady as for her hardworking sister; indeed, all classes would be greatly benefitted by its use, and dys pepsia, with all its manifold annoyances. can be kept at a safe distance. Oatmeal is more substantial food, it is said, than veal, pork, or lamb, and quite equal to beef or mutten, giving as much or more mental vigor while its great desideratum consists in one's not becoming weary of it, for it is as welcome for breakfast or tea as is wheat or Graham bread. It can be eaten with syrup and butter as hasty pudding, co with cream and sugar, like rice. It is especially good for young mothers upon whose nervous forces too great a demand has been made, when they lose the equilibrium of the system and become depressed and dispirited. Oat meal requires to be cooked slowly, and the water should be boiling hot when it is stirred in.

HARBOWING winter grain is a very profitable practice. This is in effect root pruning, and wherever tried is found to produce excellent results. Harrowing old pastures in spring, and the application of a good seperphosphate is coming into vogue at the cheapest and readiest means of renovating them. Animals in feeding take from the soil more of the phosphates than any other fertilizing element. Fifty per cent. of the bones of animals are phosphates, and 100 pounds yearly is said to be the amount contained in the milk of a good milch cow. 50 TELL MINE
