NERVOUS PHENOMENA.

Our attention was called to nervous phenomena many years ago, and it was the subject of much anxious thought, but during the last eighteen months it has been the subject of daily, almost hourly, experiments. The result of the thousands of experiments will be found in the propositions which follow. Having satisfied our own mind of their correctness, in the main, we now submit them to the public that they may be examined by others. We invite our fellow citizens, who take an interest in the investigation of matters not clearly understood, and who are so circumcised that they can investigate for themselves, to join us and to communicate with us upon the subject, but we desire it to be distinctly understood that we want nothing to do with the class of men who expect to be called "scientists." We have latterly conceived a contempt for a large portion of this class of professional people that is inexpressible.

The nervous person lives in a world that the person of strong iron nerves knows nothing about and cannot comprehend. It is to fathom the mystery that has hung about delicately nervous persons, for all ages, that we have directed our efforts, and now we feel that our hypothesis can only be established by the most thorough tests, and to this end, we cordially invite the thousands around us, who have suffered with us from these mysterious agencies, to assist us by giving facts either to build it up or to destroy it. We are not astride of a hobby. Certain phenomena have been presented to us and we have labored earnestly and diligently to unravel it, and having resolved in our mind that we have found the hidden and mysterious spring, we present the waters to our readers to drink, to enable them to judge and investigate for themselves:

1. Every nervous system controls an almost inexhaustible quantity of electricity. It pervades every portion of the body and is utilized by it, through the brain, to produce action on the part of each and every muscle. The senses are the monitors and the brain separates, arranges and executes their suggestions. The senses seeing, hearing, tasting, smelling and sensation are the thinking faculties, as it were, and the brain merely the executive faculty.

2. The quantity of electricity utilized by the body depends upon the demands of the nerves. If they are excited, or as we frequently say "nervous," the amount brought into requisition is much greater than when the nerves are not agitated. In other words the more nervous the more electrical power or force. This accounts for the fact that under the influence of severe agitation the body and brain are able to accomplish things as much as under ordinary circumstances.

3. The brain does not only utilize the electricity produced or controlled by the body to control our muscles and thereby produce action, but it wields it—hurts it through space—upon any object against that, which we term the mind, is directed. And when directed against a similar nervous system it produces a sensible effect. The nervous force thus directed concentrates upon the object against which it is hurled, and in cases of extreme nervousness combined with sensitiveness, it can be made distinctly perceptible. This accounts in part for dreams, witchcraft, and for the manner in which the feline and reptilian animals seize their prey.

4. The nervous force or electricity is principally directed from and through the eyes, "the windows of the brain," and the opening and closing of these organs materially affects the current. This accounts for the fact that the cat and the reptile never move their eyelids when they attempt to paralyze and capture their victims.

5. The electricity thrown off partakes of the feelings which pervade the system producing it, thereby clearly demonstrating that feelings are merely the state of the electricity which pervades us, and this electricity, directed persistently against a similar nervous system, will produce the same feelings in that system as are present in the system directing it. This accounts for the learned doctors call sympathy, and will account also for the transmission of epidemic diseases.

6. The mind directed, for a few minutes, with persistence and force, by means of the medium above stated, will call the attention of any nervous system against which it is directed, if it is passive, but if it should prove to be repellant, it would be otherwise. This accounts for the fact that when we think of the devil he will appear." When we think of our friends persistently they must think of us.

7. Currents of electricity directed by one nervous system against another, when very heavy, cause the cold chills, and pass along the spine and may, when continued for any great length of time, produce bad effects outside of the mere feelings with which they come laden. This accounts for the cold chills running over many when an eminent orator is addressing them. In his agitated state he utilizes more electricity, than ordinary, with which to electrify his audience.

8. Extremely nervous persons, as a great or less distance, can keep up or get up their magnetic communication, by fixing their minds on each other, and thereby transmit their feelings and thus produce what are commonly called presentiments.

We present these views hoping that no one will undertake to cry them down until he has fully examined and tested them. Only those who will go to the trouble to make the tests should undertake to criticize.

The Recorder bill has passed the House by a majority of 100. It is now in the hands of the President.

THE PARTY WHIP AND SPUR.

A great political battle is to be fought in Pennsylvania this coming fall. Already the champions of the respective parties are mounted and, with whip and spur, are endeavoring to urge on their followers. It is amusing to hear their shouts and entreaties. They urge their fellows as if the salvation of all that is worth living for devolved upon the selection of their particular champion. This is the usual dogma. It is intended for the "greeny" and unsophisticated. The truth of the matter is that the men who are in office to-day have no principles. It is immaterial whether they are Republicans or Democrats. They have but one object, and that is to remain in office and keep their particular friends in it. When it comes to the real test, the whip and spur and commence whipping and goading the honest yeomanry to stand by the party. Thank heaven, this is about played out, and the honest yeomanry are voting, on all sides, that they are not disposed to be duped into supporting men merely because they desire to perpetuate their dynasty. The independent voter is abroad, and the safe plan for him is to take a position in opposition to the rings that have ridden the life out of the respective parties for the last ten or fifteen years. Men who ignore every one but their own particular clique should look to that clique and their particular friends for support. Party lines are broken, and the cry of "the Party" or "the Party" will come to naught. These people must be brought to their senses, and now is the time to do it. Huntingdon county has two thousand voters that will vote right. They only want to know where the head is that is to be hit.

HON. WM. S. STENGER spoke and voted against the Silver bill, and thus did violence to the sentiments of nine out of every ten voters in his district. Mr. Stenger has the happy faculty of getting on the wrong side of almost every public measure that comes before Congress. In his opening a way for a removal to New York? He has made a strong bid for the favors of the gold bugs, and we hope they will not prove ungrateful. His services can be dispensed with in this district.

It may not be generally known says a contemporary, that on the 1st inst., the directors of the Pennsylvania railroad company unanimously resolved to abolish the system of quarterly dividends, and ordered that hereafter dividends, when declared, shall be paid semi-annually, in May and November. This will account for the absence of a statement as to what action was taken in regard to a dividend at the regular meeting of the directors on the first of last month.

PEACE has been declared between Russia and Turkey and hostilities have ceased. The Sultan has been obliged to accept the most ignominious terms. Whether the settlement will give peace to Europe remains to be seen. England is preparing for war on a magnificent scale so that the peace patched up between the Czar and Sultan may be only the prelude to the opening of hostilities.

A COPY of Eberly's Record and Home Magazine, published by the Ledger Publishing Company, of Lewistown, found its way to our table the other day. It is very neatly printed and contains much useful matter, but we doubt whether it will prove remunerative. We, however, wish its projectors success.

On Saturday last Col. P. Benner Wilson, of Bellefonte, brother of the chairman of the republican state committee, and brother-in-law of John B. Linn, deputy secretary of the commonwealth, died in that place. Col. Wilson had command of the Fifth regiment, National Guard, of Pennsylvania.

A COPY of Geo. P. Rowell & Co's American Newspaper Directory for January, 1878, has been forwarded to us by the publishers. It is a very convenient and valuable compilation and its projectors deserve the lasting gratitude of the fraternity.

"BLUFF OLD BEN F. WADE" died at his residence, in Jefferson, Ohio, on Saturday last, after a protracted illness, in the 78th year of his age. He was one of the pillars of the republican party. He was an honest and fearless man.

196 to 73 and 46 to 19 is the way the way the story was conveyed to the President. It was a sad story for the Executive, but "a happy day for the Romans."

E. F. Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron. This truly valuable tonic has been so thoroughly tested by the classes of the community that it is now deemed indispensable as a Tonic medicine. It costs but little, purifies the blood and gives tone to the stomach, renovates the system and prolongs life. Every body should have it.

For the cure of Weak Stomachs, General Debility, Indigestion, Diseases of the Stomach, and for all cases requiring a tonic. This wine includes the most agreeable and efficient Salt of Iron we possess—Citrate of Magnesia Oxide combined with the most energetic of vegetable tonics—Yellow Peruvian Bark.

Do you want something to strengthen you? Do you want a good appetite? Do you want to get rid of nervousness? Do you want energy? Do you want to sleep well? Do you want to build up your constitution? Do you want to feel well? Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling? Do you want to try KUNKEL'S BITTER WINE OF IRON.

I only ask a trial of this valuable tonic. Beware of counterfeiters, as Kunkel's Bitter Wine is often imitated. The only safe and effective remedy in the known world for the permanent cure of Dyspepsia and Debility, as there are a number of imitations offered to the public, we would caution the community to purchase none but the genuine article, manufactured by E. F. Kunkel, and having his stamp on the cork of every bottle. The only safe and effective remedy, proves its worth and speaks volumes in its favor. Get the genuine. E. F. Harrisburg Correspondence.

Harrisburg, March 1, 1878. The Sessions held by the Legislature on Monday evenings might as well be abandoned for anything of good that is there accomplished. The sport of introducing original resolutions of political character, during the recess, has grown very stale, and the prosaic reading of bills the first time is by no means relished by either House, and the same respecting the same measure a body on last Monday night held a session of about ten minutes, passed several bills on first reading and adjourned.

In the afternoon Mr. Souder, President of the committee appointed to draft resolutions on the death of Hon. Henry O'Neil, late member from the fourth district of Philadelphia, submitted to the assembly a number of resolutions which after appropriate speeches, were unanimously adopted. The House then adjourned without doing any business, out of respect to the memory of the deceased member. At the close of the session the "In Memoriam of J. N. J." who was present in the lobby was called upon for a speech, and reading, "Familiarly known to the members for half a century or more. He gave some home truths of a political nature to both sides of the House which were much enjoyed."

On Tuesday the bill defining the term and enlarging the duties of the office of Recorder in Philadelphia came up on its final passage. The bill, as amended, defines the office as raised the point of order that under the fourth article third section of the Constitution the bill is unconstitutional. A section provided that no person shall be appointed to the office within any county who shall not have been a citizen and an inhabitant therein one year before his appointment. The bill was passed by the House on Tuesday, and the bill as amended by the Senate on Wednesday.
