Huntingdon has been a famous place during the last ten years. They have been having rolling mills and machine schops and car works and fur-naces and glass works and colleges and peniten-tiaries and the Lord knows what all; and they have succeded in getting up two or three mills that broke up everybody who gothold of them and now stand idle. The only thing that I recall now that has been a success was the small-pox, and it proved a success because the doctors and the coun-cil of that sleepy town were too slow to look after it until it had the town well in its grip.

cil of that sleepy town were too slow to look after it until it had the town well in its grip. The council acted and did right when it did wake up, but if the four chicken doctors had'nt at last agreed that the disease was small-pox would the council have done anything even now though in the meantime one-fourth of the population had died of the scourge? Easts would not bearyou out in answering that they would. Not until that long Local News article proving from all the medical works to be had or borrowed in Huntingdon that small-pox is only chicken, pig and sheep pox, et cetera, not until this wonderful article -aw the light in print did the local authorities think worth while to do something to stay the scourge. And, by the way, when that learned antignarian gets out a second edition of that famous work on small-chicken-pig-pox I would suggest that there are out a second edition of that famous work on small-chicken-pig-pox I would suggest that there are extant two works from which he did not quote— that these books could be borrowed in this town and quotations be given in next edition. I refer to Jayne's Family Medical almanac and the learn-to Jayne's Family Medical almanac and the learn-ed work of Dr. Gunn. But possibly I am off ry subject. I began this article to say, and I say it with sorrow, that you may talk until you are tired of glass works, col-legos and penitentiaries, but Huntingdon won't see any of them; simply, because the people of that village have no get up in them. There is a class that will kill any town and that class seems to have Huntingdon in control. They are impul-sive and excitable but their excitement is periodic and don't last long enough to accomplish anything.

The glass work fever has died out long ago and so will all other projects that are gotten up there. With many natural advantages and many op-portunities, Huntingdon ought to have been pros-perous and ought to have had 8000 population now instead of 4000; but Huntingdon won't get on much farther than it is until a radical change is made in its manner of doing things, and let us hope that that may soon be. A MUCH NEEDED LAW.

A MUCH NEEDED LAW. Mr. EDITOR :-- I see you have been so kind as to gracefully commend, and publish articles from two other papers commendative of the able, vir-tuous and thoughtful Mr. Garman, member from somewhere, who has introduced a bill into the House increasing the exemption from 300 to 800 dolars. I, along with many more, are interested in the passage of that bill and I hope it will be railroaded through the House and Senate and be-come a law soon. For, you see, I borrowed $300 from one fellow and $200 from another and, as they thought I was good, they were willing just to take common notes for the amount. I have the money invested and could pay them back almost any time with a little notice; but if I could get out of paying them at all, it would be $500 clear money to me. They may want their money pretty soon--they told me they needed it this spring--and I do hope Mr. Garman will hurry that bill through. If that bill passes I will tell them I have, sus-pended payment and that they has better try to collect their money before I go into hankruptey. Then I will let them get judgment against me and when they have issued execution I will claim the $800 law and tell them they can take an appraise-ment if they wish. I have't more than two or

Then I will let them get judgment against me and when they have issued execution I will claim the $800 law and tell them they can take an appraise ment if they wish. I haven't more than two or three thousand dollars worth of real estate and personal property but I don't think all I have would be appraised at over seven oreight bundred dollars—appraisers are generally a sympathizing set of men and animated with a christian spirit-and you see I would be out of paying thece notes just as sleek as a whistle. I have some notes and bonds beside but the appraisers won't need to know anything about these; and I think I am safe if that law passes. But I wish Mr. Garman, when he is about it, would make the amount a thousand or twelve hundred. If he would do this he would earn the gratitude of every honest laboring man in the country, and might possibly be elected Gover-nor next year. You see he can make the amount just as much as he pleases and no member will dare vote against it, because i they did they would be set down as enemies of the poor laboring men and they wouldn't stand a chance of re-election. hope Mr. Garman will make the amount a little larger, for possibly that appraisement might go a little over $800 and I would hate to be so near
