April 15th, 1878. MESSES. EDITORS :- I date my letter as above because what I have to say might be said or written with equal force and propriety in any part of Huntingdon County. It matters not ankle. The young man was conscious, said to the resided at Mt. Joy, this State, where he had a wife and child. He had been working in a western town, and had come to Altoona where he became acquainted with some drinking fellows, whom he thought were laying their plans to rob him of a handsome pin which he may be a state weeker, and the despatch, as well as the excellence with which suits are made on a freight as the excellence with which suits are made on as a result of this over-production of would be a state excellence with which suits are made. on as a result of this over-production of would be kid-gloved gentry. A petty quarrel springs up in a community; each party has his friends; the case is talked over and over until all the standing witnesses in the community conclude that they are important witnesses in the case; each party goes for counsel; the more respec-table attorneys advise the parties to go home and compromise, but the case has been so ably argued at home that each party thinks he or she has a strong case and it would be a shame take hold. They fix up a number of cases, subpœna from five to twenty witnesses on each subpœna from five to twenty witnesses on each weeks, Reg. 1907. case, taking good care to put all the witnesses' names on the case in which the county is most likely to be socked for the cost. Now, sirs, what I have said in regard to petty quarrels is equally true of petty larceny. We have an illustration of this in the famous "Rooster case," recently brought into Court, in which the cost was some two hundred dollars. He ought to be a very fine specimen of the feathered tribe. If this kind of business is not broken up it will not be long until Huntingdon county will produce a "Rooster" that will affect the tax-payers as bad as Peter was affected. In conclusion, let us, as tax-payers, urge the importance of the Grand Jurors taking this matter in hand and send such parties home with the costs on their own shoulders. TAX PAYER. DON'T BE DECEIVED.

Then again Messrs. Hatfield & Sons, a short time since completed an additional process for cleansing sand, I believe they call it a churn. They are now making and shipping first class sand, fully equal to McVeytown or Lewistown. This new process adds very much to the value of their sand works, especially in making first and second glass sand.
