THE English are still making immense preparations for war. The presumption is that Turkey has entered into an alliance with England. We still think, however, that the trouble will end without a fight.

THE President's visit to Philadelphia, the close of last week, was an affair that did credit, alike to Philadelphians, and to the Presidential office. The people of Philadelphia are remarkable for their hospitality and social qualities, and they maintained their reputation on this occasion. The President and his retinue returned to Washingdon delighted, we are assured, with the marked respect shown them.

WE have received from the author, Mr. F. E. Saward, a copy of his Annual Review, "The Coal Trade," giving facts and figures for the year 1877. It forms the labor required to secure accuracy of statefifth consecutive yearly review, issued from the office of the Coal Trade Journal, at als. The work does not show. THE confession of the Floridians did fact it hardly created a ripple upon the placid breast of the country at large. At I well knew would obtain me no praise, Maryland. The people of this great country have settled down to the fact that Rutherford B. Hayes is the legal and equitable President of the United States, and they will not encourage any violent diligent author, but for the newspaper, settled.

THE absolute repeal of the Bankrupt Law is a virtual admission on the part of our statesmen that they cannot perfect a bill that will not prevent sharks from getting the advantage of their creditors. This conducted newspaper—carefully, princiis a humiliating confession, and we are pally, for those things for which, as Bos. sorry that it became necessary to make it. but so it is. There is no doubt that such omitted would do not only contemporary a law is absolutely necessary, but it requires to be hedged in with such strong provisions that it cannot be converted into a vehicle of fraud instead of a most righteous measure for the relief of the truly unfortunate.

THE rush of the bankruptcy court for liabilities $510,000; on Friday seven petitions, liabilities $146,000; on Saturday seventeen petitions, liabilities $700,000, making a total of seventy-nine petitions and of $2,186,000 of liabilities. The total assets is infinitesimal compared with the liabilities. Among the seventeen petitions filed yesterday was that of Samuel W. Groome, of Philadelphia, doing business in Williamsport, with liabilities of $277,-

SECRETARY SHERMAN.

We have, as our readers know, says the New York Daily Graphic, spoken freely as to the obstacle which seems to be in the way of the complete realization of the resumption scheme of the Secretary of the Treasury. For instance, the bank of France, at the time of officially returning to specie payments, had in gold and silver coin $404,805,000, against a circulation of $520,300,000. This was exclusive of the coin in the hands of the people, which is always a very large amount in France. The reserve of the bank available for immediate purposes of resumption was, therefore, only twenty per cent. below the face value of all its circulation. Our legaltender circulation is about $350,000,000: and we expect to have in the treasury, available for purposes of resumption on the first of January next, $140,000,000-that is only forty per cent, of the face value of our circulation. France, with large amounts of coin in use in the country, had in the vaults of the bank eighty per cent. of the value of its paper circulation in gold and silver; while the United States, with very little coin in the hands of the people, will attempt to resume on a coin basis of forty per cent. of our paper circulation. This statement excludes all reference to the National Bank notes which are to be redeemed in legal tenders. If they were to be provided for we would be attempting the task of retiring a circulation of $650,000,000 by means of $140,-

000,000 in gold and silver. But whatever obstacles are in his way, Secretary Sherman's energy and resources and the end he has in view are deserving of the highest commendations. Should he succeed in the great task that he has undertaken and actually bring us back to a specie basis-for paper that is interchangeable with coin is for all practical purposes coin-Secretary Sherman will loom up as a very prominent candidate for the Presidential nomination on the Republican ticket in 1880. Nothing succeeds like success. When a great task has been successfully accomplished by a public man, everything but the supreme fact is forgotten and he is the favorite of the day. Every one sincerely hopes that Mr. Sherman may succeed in spite of fears well founded and groundless. If he does, whether he attains the Presidency or not, he can rest in the consciousness that he has performed the greatest service that it was in the power of any one man to have rendered to his country at this time.

A Debatable Question.

While much has been written concerning the use of "put up" medicines, the question is still an open one, and demands of the people a careful consideration. The salient points may be briefly stated, and answered as follows:

1st—Are the sick capable of determining their real condition, the nature of their malady, and selecting the proper remedy or means of cure? 2d—Can a physician, no matter how skillful, prepare a universal remedy, adapted to the peculiar ailments of a large class of people, residing in different latitudes, and subject to various climatic influences? In answer to the first proposition, we would say, diseases are named and known by certain "signs" or symptoms, and, as the mother does not need a physician to tell her that her child has the whooping-cough, or indicate a remedy, so people when afflicted with many of the symptoms concomitant to "impure blood," "torpid liver," and "bad digestion," require no other knowledge of their condition, or the remedy indicated, than they already possess. Second proposition—Many physicians agree that proposition—Many physicians argue that diseases are sectionally peculiar, and that their treatment must therefore vary, and yet quinine, morphine, podophyllin, and hundreds of other remedies are prescribed in all countries to overcome certain conditions. Is it not therefore, self-evident that a physician whose large experience has made him familiar with the many phases incident to all impurities of the blood, general and nervous debility, liver complaint, dyspepsia, consumption, and catarrh, can prepare a series of remedies exactly adapted to meet the conditions manifest, wherever, and by whatever means, it may have been engendered? The family medicines prepared by R. V. Pierce, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y., fulfill the above requirements. Many phy-sicians prescribe them in their practice. His The Great Discovery!
