

Republican State Ticket.

GOVERNOR: Gen. HENRY M. HOYT, of Luzerne. JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT: Hon. JAMES P. STERRETT, of Allegheny.

SETTLE UP.

The books of the late firm of J. R. Durbin & Co. are in my hands for collection, and I desire to have them settled at once.

J. A. NASH, may 31-4.

THERE is an earth-quake among the Democrats.

THEY call him "General" Speer. Did he fight with Dill?

THE Democrats like the South but can't cross the e-Quay too. Ho(y) for them.

WALLACE-machine poetry is making its appearance in the newspapers. It is ground out like the Democratic ticket at Pitts. barch.

TILDEN'S bar is not to be sent to Pennsylvania this year. Wallace's platform declares against any attack against President Hayes' title. S. J. T. can't furnish any money to support that.

IF General Lane should be elected Governor those railroads would be made through the lower end of the county he promised when a candidate for the Legislature. There will be one up Trough Creek. Look out for the locomotive!

THE Kanooks are in a bad situation—When war is threatened in Europe there is danger of a Fenian invasion, and when civil strife is talked of here they are likely to overrun by the copperheads. The latter would not be half as dangerous as an Irish army.

THANKS.—Hon. Alex. Port will please accept our thanks for a copy of the Report of the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society for 1877. The book is handsomely printed, whilst the illustrations are much superior to those generally found in publications of this kind. It is replete with valuable information.

THE Huntingdon Journal has strengthened itself for the campaign by associating in the editorial management Mr. Milton S. Lytle, of the bar of that county. Mr. Lytle is a staunch Republican, a forcible writer, and in the coming conflict, will carry the Journal to the front ranks of the battle.—Phila. Press.

THE "young man from the country," who is fearful of his inability to run the Journal successfully, can possess his soul in peace, and whilst he is pardoning his figures before those simple enough to listen to his twaddle, we will endeavor to show that his communistic ideas are detrimental to the best interests of the country.

THERE are unmistakable signs of another civil war. Some of the copperheads are again getting ready to go to Canada. They are getting to wait until they are sure there will not be a war in Europe. They might be impressed into the British service to fight against the Russians. That would be worse than fighting in this country.

THE country is in greater danger now from other causes than from not having enough greenbacks. The new difficulties are forcing the financial troubles out of sight. Nobody thinks about the latter any more but a few persons who have a personal interest in exciting the public mind. It is hard to keep up the agitation.

CONTRAST between the first-class hotels of New York shows that the service is constantly changing from one first class hotel to the other, and the bills of fare show the same variety of dishes. The important fact, to travellers, is that the Grand Central offers the same accommodations for one and two dollars per day less than the others.

COFFEE is one of the articles of daily use that have recently been very much reduced in price through the beneficence of Republican rule. It will no doubt be run up again towards autumn by the increased demand that will be caused by its extensive use in the political campaign. Wallace's coffee-pots will be running over. People should then remember to blame the high price on the Democrats and not on Republicans.

ALEX. H. STEPHENS says the Potter investigation will end in a farce or a tragedy. It is a mixed play—farce at the beginning, tragedy at the conclusion. The scene at Pittsburgh in which the Lord High Dictator Wallace struts upon the stage and says, "we oppose any attack upon the President's title," is for our amusement previous to the more serious parts.—They are reserving the surprises. As soon as the tragedy begins the Northern Democrats will make their exit at the back door. They will not be in while the killing is in progress. The Southern players will have to stand that themselves. It is the old thing over again, but as we haven't seen it since 1861, seventeen years ago, it may, after all, have something fresh and startling in it.

REDEEM THE DISTRICT.

The Congressional districts to which Huntingdon county has belonged, although Republican, have, through the indifference of our party, been represented during the last eight years by Democrats. The district to which we are now attached is one of the four in Pennsylvania that may be redeemed at the next election. The importance of doing so is very evident and will become more apparent as time proceeds.

WHAT IF WALLACE'S CONVENTION?

Some of the Democrats, from various motives, go to considerable trouble to deny that Senator Wallace played the part of a dictator at the Pittsburgh convention. The principal reason for this denial is that some of the lesser lights of Democracy desire to be honored with the credit of having exercised some influence on the proceedings and are not willing to be regarded as the mere puppets worked by Mr. Wallace's wires that people generally are inclined to believe them. In this controversy between the Senator and his illipian rivals, all fair men are obliged to uphold the cause of the former. We have carefully examined the work of the convention as reported at length in our contemporaries, for the purpose of ascertaining the extent of Mr. Wallace's power as an autocrat, and find it to have been supreme. The only thing that Mr. Wallace permitted to be done before appearing upon the floor, was the calling of the convention to order by the Chairman of the State Central Committee. He then arose and nominated Mr. Speer for temporary chairman.

HOW DILL WENT BACK ON THEM.

In his letter to the Southern people, Postmaster General Key reminded them of "the encouragement which the Northern Democrats in 1860 and 1861 extended to the Southern States to secede, and the manner in which their promises of aid and comfort were fulfilled." Mr. Dill, now Democratic candidate for Governor, is one of the gentlemen whom the Postmaster General had in his mind. In February, 1861, Dill was a delegate to the Democratic State Convention, at which the following resolution was adopted: "That we deprecate civil war, as we believe that the Union can never be maintained by force of arms, and that as Democrats we are not willing to take up arms to support a platform which a majority of the people reprobated and opposed at the polls."

WHAT IF HE DID?

It has been claimed for J. Simpson Africa that he organized the Department of Internal Affairs and that therefore he ought to be elected Secretary. The facts simply are that the name of the office of Surveyor General was changed and some few duties added, that General McCandless was the first Secretary elected, and that he appointed Africa his Deputy. There was but little required in the reorganization, the new Secretary not having much to do but to continue the business of the office as it had been conducted by the old official. If General McCandless failed to give his attention to any reform or changes in routine that were necessary, or to any additional duties under the new Constitution or the laws, it was a neglect of which the Democrats ought not to boast. If he handed these matters over to his Deputy, Africa, that gentleman could not avoid them without being his position. Had any other person been Deputy, even a Republican, they would doubt have been attended to as promptly and as well. A merely poor performance of a duty is not always a reason for retaining a public officer. If it were, some men might acquire a life tenure to office, contrary to our policy of Government. Mr. Africa has never done anything more than his duty, and in this instance it was not a difficult one. Capt. A. K. Dunkel, the Republican candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs, will take charge of Africa and conduct it fully as well as Mr. Africa has done with all his experience.

THE REPUBLICANS, THE DEMOCRATS AND THE TARIFF.

At a recent caucus of Democratic members of Congress a motion was made to postpone the further consideration of the Wood tariff bill until June 8, which would of course be too late for its passage at this session. The report of the proceedings says that "Fernando Wood rose in an excited manner, defended his bill as the most important measure before Congress, and insisted that it should receive immediate consideration. In answer to a question by General Ewing, whether he thought the tariff bill could be passed during this session, Mr. Wood replied evasively that he hoped the Democratic party would be true to its old-time principles and traditions." In the face of this, the Democrats of Pennsylvania, one-half of whom are led by Speaker Randall, by whom a Democratic free-trader from New York city was appointed Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, would have us believe that they are in favor of a tariff. Mr. Wood knows what "the old-time principles and traditions" of the party are, and even Mr. Wallace, the leader of the other half of the Democracy, did not say a word against them, as set forth in Mr. Wood's bill, in the Platform of the Pittsburgh Convention. As a contrast, we give the resolution upon the tariff question adopted by the Republicans at Harrisburg: "The Republican party of Pennsylvania, adhering to its historical record and to its principles heretofore often affirmed, declares: First, That it is uncompromisingly opposed to free trade, in whatever disguise presented; unchangingly devoted to the principles of protection to home industry, and hereby avows its special and direct hostility to the tariff bill now pending in Congress, the same being in the interest of importers and foreign manufacturers and in opposition to American labor."

A POLITICIAN FOR SUPREME JUDGE.

The career of Henry P. Ross, Democratic candidate for Supreme Judge, proves him to be more of a politician than a jurist. He has been twice defeated for Congress, has been a standing delegate to political conventions from his native county of Bucks, has frequently been in State conventions, was a member of the National convention that nominated McClellan in 1864, where he voted for the resolution declaring the war a failure, and was also in the convention that nominated Seymour in 1868. He has achieved no success and gained no honors except as a political manipulator, his adroitness in that respect securing him the favor of Wallace and the nomination at Pittsburgh. It will be an unfortunate day for Pennsylvania when Mr. Wallace gets the Supreme Bench upon his thumb as he has the Democratic party.

A REPUBLICAN FINANCIAL MEASURE.

The bill to forbid the further retirement of greenbacks was debated all day in the United States Senate on the 25th ult., and passed by a vote of forty-one to eighteen. It now goes to the President for his approval. Thus a Republican Senate has adopted a measure asked for by the Greenback party and which the latter would never have had the power to secure for itself. Is it not better to remain in a party that is able to legislate for the benefit of the country, than to belong to one that must always be in the minority everywhere.

WELL SAID.—Twenty years ago the decline in the Democratic power was apparent to the whole country. It had ruled, with but partial interruptions, for a generation, and the lust of the plunderer and the greed of the plunderer had stamped demoralization and decay upon the once proud and omnipotent party.—Philadelphia Times.

GENERAL BUTLER has been refused permission to go to Louisiana as a member of the sub-committee to investigate the alleged election frauds in that State. It is said that his presence there would not be tolerated, that his life would be in danger, that he would be assassinated. And it is from these people, whom President Hayes has endeavored to conciliate, and who have shown the result of his efforts by conniving at his removal, and threatening to murder a Union General if sent among them for the purpose of making the investigation, that evidence is to be obtained as to the right of the President to retain his office. Who will have any confidence in their testimony? And has not the conciliation policy been tried nearly long enough, too?

Jewels of the Crown of Scotland.

At Edinburgh, Scotland, some years since, the Jewels of the Crown were locked in a box, that box in another, and so on, until they were supposed to be burglar-proof. They were then locked up in the vault of the castle, where to remain one hundred years, they were placed in a mortar and fired into the sea. Scarce fifty years passed by, and the modern lock-picker opened the vault and boxes without trouble. The science of medicine, when studied with the aid of chemistry and the microscope, becomes plain and simple, and diseases that were regarded incurable a generation ago, now readily yield to remedial means. A decade of years since, and women were taught to believe that their peculiar diseases and weaknesses were incurable; but now hundreds and thousands of once bedridden women in the United States will testify to the fact that Dr. J. C. FAVORITE Prescription has effected their perfect and permanent cure.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 6th, 1876.

Dear Sir:—About five years ago my wife was taken sick, and though we employed the best physician in our city, yet she gradually grew worse, so that she was confined to her bed. Every remedy I had tried, or could find failed to cure her or even give relief. At last I procured a bottle of your Favorite Prescription, and to my surprise, it gave almost instant relief, and with a little perseverance, an entire cure was effected. Ever gratefully yours, GEO. BODENMILLER.

The Laboratory of the System.

The stomach is the laboratory of the system in which certain mysterious processes are constantly going on. These result in the production of the wonderful trifling agent, the blood, which in a state of health rushes laden with the elements of vitality to the remotest parts of the system. But when the stomach is paralyzed by dyspepsia, blood manufacture is carried on imperfectly, the circulation grows thin and sluggish, and the system suffers in consequence. Moreover, indigestion reacts upon the liver and bowels, rendering the first sluggish and the latter constipated. The brain also suffers by sympathy, and sick headaches, sleeplessness and nervous symptoms are engendered. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters reforms this state of things, gives permanent tone and regularity to the stomach and its associate organs, the bowels and liver, and ensures complete nourishment and increased vigor of the system. It is the most popular as well as the most efficient anti-dyspeptic and tonic in America. [June 1-11]
