Prof. Arnold contributes to the New York Tribune the following excellent directions for making and packing butter so that it will keep: Persons who wish to know how to keep the butter made in hot weather for winter use are advised, first, to see that the cows are so circumstanced as to be quiet and comfortable. Cows which are by any means worried, or heated by too much exposure to hot sun, or annoyed with thirst, become feverish, and butter made from their milk will not keep. Sound Satisfied? Satisfied? The spirit's yearning For awest companionship with kindred minds, The silent love that here meets no returning. The inspiration which no language finds. from their milk will not keep. Sound and healthy milk is a sine qua non in making butter to keep. Second, the milk must not be kept so warm while standing for the cream to rise that the cream will become stale before it can be raised and churned. Butter made from stale cream has its death warrant signed and sealed, and nothing will prevent it from going to destruction. To make butter that will keep, the cream must be fresh-it may be a little sour, but it must not be in any degree stale. If the milk must stand in a warm room, better churn the whole milk when it begins to sour, though it should be but twelve hours old, rather than let it stand for the cream to rise till its freshness is destroyed.

Neither should the cream, after skimming, be long kept if it must be kept warm. If there is not cream enough for a churning when it is in the right condition, do not keep it till it spoils, waiting for more, but supply the deficiency with the milk, and let the churning go on before the cream loses its fresh taste. Third cool the cream to sixty degrees, as near as may be, before churning. Butter churned at a high temperature, so that it becomes soft and white, is spoiled for keeping. If good water is at hand, wash the made greasy. If butter, either in churning or making, is treated with so much violence as to break the grain and make it greasy, it will go to decay like bruised fruit and broken eggs, and for similar reasons. Greasy butter is so perishable that there is no use in packing it away for a future day. It will depreciate from the start and fail continually-salt will that salting high will save butter. No mistake could be greater. It is the avoidbutter its best keeping quality. Butter not injured in manufacturing is the only butter that will keep. Faulty butter will "go marching on" to destruction, though buried in the best of salt.

Why Milk Source During Thunder-

Mr. Malvern W. Iles, says the Journal made by him with a view to settling this "There have been various surmises in regard to this subject; none, so far as I have been able to learn, have been substantiated by experiments. "In order to learn whether milk did really sour during heavy rain and thunderstorms. I made several observations which proved to me that this opinion, so commonly held by the dairymen, was not erroneous. My experiments to arrive at the cause of the phenomena thus observed may be stated as follows :

"I took skimmed morning's milk, filled an endiometer tube (300. c. c.), introduced 100 c. c. pure oxygen gas. Then by the use of an ordinary battery, and a small Ruhmkorff coil, sparks of electricity were made to pass the oxygen for five minutes. The current was then broken and the tube shaken up and allowed to stand for five minutes. The milk does not appear quite as obaque, and shows a noticeable acid reaction. On continuing the current for five minutes longer, making ten minutes in all, the milk curdles very preceptibly, and shows a decided acid reaction. The contents of the tube on standing for twenty minutes had reached the consistency of ordinary some milk or 'bonny-clabber.'

"From the above experiment it will be seen that the oxygen was converted into ozone, which we think may be stated as the cause for the rapid souring of milk during thunder storms.

"The increased acidity is due to the formation of lactic acid, and most probably some acetic acid, by means of the ozone. One or both of these acids then cause the casein to be precipitated."

Water-Proof Boots.

A correspondent of the "Indiana Farm er" says: "I stood in mud and water two or three-inches deep for ten hours a day for a week without feeling any dampness or having any difficulty in getting my boots on or off. If you would be equally successful, before wearing the boots, give the bottoms a good coating of tallow and coal tar and dry it in ; then oil the uppers with easter oil, about one tablespoonful to each boot; then oil them twice a week with castor oil, when one teaspoonful will be sufficient. If the weather should be rainy or you are compelled to work in water during the day, wash your boots clean at night, hold them by the fire until quite warm, and oil them while wet, and you will have no trouble about your boots getting hard and shrinking up so that you cannot get them on. If the leather should become red, give a coat of ordinary shoe blacking before oiling. The effect of castor oil is to soften the leather, while it pour out his whole heart before Him, not fills the pores and prevents the water from

CURE FOR THRUSH .- Mr. Walker John. ston, informs us that he has used lime good effect, in the curing of Thrush in cattle. He simply throws lime into their stalls. He cured a valuable cow by this means, and we presume all aniafficted with the same disease would receive relief from the same remedy.

Around the Fireside.

I Shall be Satisfied.

Not here! not here!-not where the sparkling waters Fade into mocking sand as we draw near; Where, in the wilderness, each footstep falters I shall be satisfied; but oh! not here! Not here,—where every dream of bliss deceives us, Where the worn spirit never gains its goal; Where haunted ever by the thoughts that grieve us, Across us floods of bitter memory roll.

There is a land where every pulse is thrilling With rapture earth's sojourners may not know Where heaven's repose the weary heart is stilling, And peacefully life's time-tossed currents flow. Far out of sight, while yet the flesh infolds us, Lies the fair country, where our hearts abide, And of its bliss is nought more wonderous tol Than these few words, "I shall be satisfied."

Shall they be satisfied? The soul vague longing The aching void which nothing earthly fills?
Oh! what desires upon my soul are thronging
As I look upward to the heavenly hills.

Thither my weak and weary steps are tending,-Saviour and Lord! with thy frail child abide! Guide me toward home, where, all my wanderings ending, I then shall see Thee, and "be satisfied."

Heaven Nearer.

"Now is our salvation nearer than when Paul appeals to the Christians at Rome to be faithful in service and submissive to their trials, by reminding them that their salvation was nearer than when they first believed and entered upon the new life. It is an appeal that does not often influence us as it should, or as it would if we prayerfully meditated upon it.

The nearness of final, complete salvation in heaven, is adapted to animate and comfort the heart under its varied burdens of trial and sorrow. "Many are the afflictions of the righteous," but in the heaviest pressure of them there is hope of deliverance, of final entire exemption from them, and of surpassing gracious reward in that land where "the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest."

"Now is our salvation nearer" than when we entered upon the new life. This buttermilk out, but if not, press out with is a comforting truth. Even "now" many ladle or level with the least possible fric- of our appointed trials are actually over tion. It must not, on any account, be and done with forever. They are now fewer than when we first encountered them. Soon the very last one of all will alone remain.

Surely we should not faint with such a prospect of the termination of all our troubles. We strive for a glorious prize. So far from being dispirited, every new trial should be met with cheerfulness, because there is one less to encounter. not save it. Many people have an idea Every victory gives new strength and added skill; every success makes the burden lighter, the foe less formidable, ance of injury in making which gives to and the conquest easier; and we are thus the more prepared for the final struggle and victor's triumph.

We are nearer to the prize. If we were told that the very last trial had come, how should we be braced to meet it, and especially if we were assured of success! We have that assurance. "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith" in the infinite merits of the Lord Jesus. Our armor is of heavenly temper, and the of Chemistry, has sent us the following Captain of our salvation is with us; the note, giving an account of experiments joy of the Lord is our strength. When we come to the conflict, the enemy shall be destroyed; death shall have no sting, and the grave no victory over us, Let us be steadfast and patient, and hope until the end. Let us work while the day lasts, in faithful love to all with whom we have to do. The end draweth near. Soon the last trial will be past, the final affiiction ended .- Rural New Yorker

Nature's Sermons.

Nature is emblematical to man. The autumn leaves fall, but are not lost. They die, but are not annihilated. The leaves decay, but the bud is a promise of renovation. Black clouds in the sky lower. but sunshine dispels them. The bright star sets in the western horizon, but again rises in the east. Night comes on, but day succeeds it. Winter steals on apace but spring comes after. The song of the birds has ceased, but to be renewed.

Sunshine and shower, heat and cold, summer and winter, decay and renovation. all nature, speak to man in varied tones, gentle or stern, but he seldom understands her language.

Nature says to man, "You fall like the leaf, but you are not lost. You die, but you are not annihilated. You decay, but a germ of after life is in you. Shadows, like clouds, cross your path, but brighter days, like sunshine, will succeed. Your star appears to be extinguished, or set for ever, but it reappears in another direction. When your night comes on it is not eternal, but day will reappear. Your icebound winter (fit emblem of despair) soon brings spring, the emblem of hope. Your pleasures, like the migratory birds, at times, seem all to have departed; but never mind, they will some day come back and renew their way."

Confiding Prayer.

Prayer must be confidential, for it is the utterance of one who has been brought nigh to God, and taught to feel at home with Him, even in His habitation, yea, brought to dwell with Him there. It is the blood sprinkled upon the mercy seat, and round the walls of the sanctuary, that gives this blessed feeling of security and confidence; and so long as that blood is there, he sees that there is no room for distrust and unbelief. That blood which was sufficient to secure his entrance, is enough to keep him there in safety and Health and Happiness are priceless Wealth to their possessors, and yet they are within the reach of joy; nay, to fill his soul with the most entire and undoubting confidence. His utterances are the confidential of a child. His whole intercourse with God is that of one who has learnt to convey everything straight to God, to consult with God about everything, to tell his whole mind, and to everything, to tell his whole mind, and to only as one who can trust everything to His paternal love, but as one who feels

Wa. H. R. Stream, Queens Co., Long Island, New York.

Mr. H. R. Stream, Could be a small certificate cencerning. Vegetine prepared by you. I have been a sufferer with the Dyspepsia for over forty years, and have had the Chronic Diarrhosa for over six months, and have tried most everything; was given up to die, and did not expect to live from day to day, and no physician could touch my case. I saw your Vegetine recommended to cure Dyspepsia. I commenced using it, and I continued doing so, and am now a well woman and restored to perfect health. All who are afflicted with this terrible disease, I would kindly recommend to try it for the benefit of their health, and it is excellent as a blood purifier.

By Da. T. B. Forrers, M. D. for MRS. W. H. FORBES.

Vegeting.—When the blood becomes lifeless and stag nant, either from change of weather or of climate, want of exercise, irregular diet, or from any other cause, the Vegetine will renew the blood, carry off the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels, and impart a tone of vigor to the whole body.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir.—This is to certify that I had been suffering from a Rose Cancer on my right breast, which graw very rapidly, and all my friends had given me up to die, when I heard of your medicine, Vegetine, recommended for Cancer and Cancerous Humors. I commenced to take it and soon found myself beginning to feel better; my health and spirit both felt benign influence which it exerted, and in a few months from the time I commenced the use of the Vegetine, the Cancer came out almost bodility CARRIE DEFORREST.

I certify that I am personally acquainted with Mrs. DeForrest, and consider her one of our best women.

ALL DISEASES OF THE BLOOD.—If Vegetine will relieve pain, cleanse, purify, and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies, suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a suffering for rears, list it not conclusive proof, if you are a suffering for rears, used in the blood, in the circulating flaid. It can be trily called the Great Blood Purifier. The great source of disease originates in the blood; and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention.
