We do that same, and in November w will "pulverize" the Democratic party so fine that it can never be collected together.

JEFF. DAVIS, and not James Buchanan, was the last Democratic President. The seat of Government was only transferred from Washington to Richmond. Davis never forgot his Democracy and is that his former friends will scarcely entermaking speeches for his old party now.

SENATOR FISHER, of Huntingdon, has finally agreed to become a candidate for the Republican Congressional nomination in that district. We repeat what we stated some time ago-that if any Republican can carry that district, Fisher is the man. -Blair County Radical.

OUR townsman, Hon. R. Milton Speer, who has been on a tour through the oil regions, for the purpose of viewing the political field, was lionized by the Clarion from Wallace and Speer. What a big job Democracy during his visit to Edinburg,in it will be to grind that coffee! And it that county. He made them a speech, in which, as a matter of course, in true demagogue style, he charged the hard times and depression in business to the Republican party. A man of Speer's intelligence displays considerable "cheek," and counts largely upon the credulity of his hearers when he resorts to such clap-trap to advance the interests of his party. Had he told his hearers that the country was suffering from the results of the Democratic rebellion he would have told them a truth known to every intelligent man in the land.

FIRST DEMOCRATIC SPEECH OF THE KNOW-NOTHING DEMOCRACY.

It is refreshing to hear an occasional candid Democratic speech, to listen to a copperhead or a rebel speaking out openly, boldly, defiantly, and saying what he means. It is not often that we are so favored. Democrats are so much in the habit of acting from policy, of prevaricating, and of endeavoring to conceal their opinions and purposes, that we do not usually look for them to pursue any other course. In steering between the Unionism of the North and the rebel sentiment of the South, they find it necessary to avoid the plain talk that radicals on both sides may indulge in. Jefferson Davis has made a speech, and we think it auspicious for the Democratic cause that it is the first speech of the campaign. He is a plain, out-spoken Democrat and sets an example of candor and honesty of expression that may encourge the weak, the timid and the time-serving He has taught them how to touch the Dem. ocratic heart and stir the Democratic blood. If he has the same influence with his party that he had not many years ago, we may expect another bold push for secession and the Southern Confederacy.

This leader of Democracy and late head of a rival government said very modestly "Representing no one, it would be quite unreasonable to hold any other responsible for opinions which I may entertain."

It is not unusual for orators to speak in this manner when they know that their auditors are in complete accord with them, and to show the harmony of sentiment on this occasion between the speaker and his bench in Luzerne county last year by the hearers, we are told that "during the de- party that now calls itself the National. following in the late Confederacy may be Democracy. Ben. Butler says the Electoral Commission couldn't give Hayes a title because it had none to give.—Pittsburg Post.

Precisely. It was not the design of the Electoral Commission to give anybody a title. It was formed for the purpose of ascertaining to whom the title belonged-And in performing this duty it retained the respect of the country. Even leading Democrats in Congress approved of and affirmed its action. The Potter committee does not follow the Commission in inquiring who has the right to the title, but is effort receives the scorn and contempt of the people and is laughed at by the party it was intended to help. Mr. Thurman is in doubt as to its effect upon the Demogratic cause in Ohio, and as for Tilden, it has so completely killed him off tain the idea of making him a candidate

THE Democratic organs are making a vigorous campaign against Grant. They call him a "despet," a "man of iron and blood," and have much to say against "a strong government." We are glad that the civil strife which the Democrats inaugurated had this compensation, that it produced a Grant, one of the results which they a thousand times have had reason to regret. One of their papers calls on him to "come home and imitate other ex-Presidents by retiring to private life." It is a fact that a certain element of the Democracy of Luzerne, composed of what I call the Know-Nothing Democracy, is opposed to Senator Dill on account of his liberal, nonectarian views and tendencies and they will ote either for Mason or Hoyt.—Judge Stanton.

There is no denying the fact that the Democrats are trying to run religion and politics together in this campaign. This is the plan determined upon in all parts of the State, but they cannot carry it out in | ger. all places in the same way. The above extract shows how it is to be done in Luzerne county. It is absolutely necessary to impress upon the people there, of whom Judge Stanton aspires to be the leader, and upon the members of the church to which he belongs, that Dill is "liberal and non sectarian" in his views and tendencies and is opposed by "the Know-Nothing Democracy." It does not do in that county to say anything about Dill being the son electionering is reserved for counties like Huntingdon. The Democratic papers of Luzerne say that Dill denies being a Methodist. Here they say he does not. Without regard to that, we would ask our readers to observe the reason urged in the mining regions for his election. If he is consistent son of a Methodist minister, we think the "Know-Nothing Democracy" could support him as well as any other kind of Democracy. It looks as if he had become inextricably entangled in this effort to make an alliance between religion and Democracy.

No rain ! no rain! the heavens seem brass, As they frowningly on us lower, to prophet in Israel now, alas, To pray for the needed shower.

The sun looks down with an angry glare, And the earth, all parched and dry, ooks up with an earnest, pleading stare, To the pitiless, frowning sky.

The herbage is dead on the bare hillside, Where the cattle were wont to graze; And the corn is shriveled, parched and dried, 'Neath the burning noontide rays.

The famished herds as they seek the brook, For its life-giving rich supply, Now turn away with a hopeless look, For the stream, alas, is dry. We would welcome the thunder's music peal

And the lightning's fiercest glare; as the wheeling squadrons charge and reel, Through the blackened and blinding sir, As we watch for the "little cloud" in vain, Which, though small as the prophet's hand, Frought with it a first-class shower of rain To water the thirsty land.

Whenever and Wherever

Diseases of a cholerate type prevail, or there is cause to apprehend a visit from them, the system should be toned, regulated and reinforced by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Perfect digestion and a regular habit of body are the best safeguards against such disorders. If promptly taken in billious colic, diarrhea and cholera morbus, the disease is usually frustrated. In diarrhœa cases, it is only necessary to restore the tone of the relax ed bowels, and this is one of the specific effects of this medicine. Wind on the stomach, heartburn, biliousness, nausea, headache and other symptoms of disturbance in the gastric and hepatic regions are also speedily relieved by this excellent remedy. As a family medicine it is invaluable, since it promptly and completely remedies those ailments which are of most frequent occurrence. [july5-1m

Common Sense.
