He then procured a spliced rope three hundred feet in length and to the end attached a basket containing a lantern, a dog and a cat. He let them dow, striking bottom at two hundred and ninety feet. At the end of six hours, the basket was brought up. The lantern was still burning, and the only visible effect on the dog and cat was chilliness. The next day the owner of the well accompanied by a trusty neighbor, Mr. Lefford, descended to the bottom. What was their surprise to find an im-mense cave, stretching miles and miles in every direction. Stalagmites and stalactites of magnificent gorgeousness lent beauty and variety to the otherwise tomb-like scene. Here and there a flowing stream of water rippled over stony beds, while thousands and lousands of bats fluttered their clammy wings, surprised at the intrusion of man. Petrified seashells of a hundred varieties anugget of metal resembling antimony, they returned to the surface, where their half stricken wives clasped them to their bosoms, thinking they had been lost. It is supposed that this cave is conceted with those at Warrior Ridge and Sinking Valley, only a few miles away. Specimens of the nickel ore have been sent to Philadelphia and analyzed and pronounced superior to the nickel of either Lancaster or Germany, the only two places on

IMPORTANT TO DRUGGISTS .- Judge Dean, at the recent term of the Blair county ourt, in sentencing the Tyrone druggists for match between the rifle clubs of Osceola and selling liquor without license, took oecasion to remark substantially as follows:

"Druggists are authorized to sell liquor for medical purposes, subject, however, to indict ment. A physician's prescription is not of itself a safeguard for the druggist. If the latter, even on the prescription of a regular physician, sells liquor to persons of known ntemperate habits, or to those who are known o use liquor as a beverage, he is liable to adictment, and if found guilty will be punish ed to the extent of the law. In short, in the pinion of the court, a druggist who sells liquor for any purpose whatever, or upon the prescription of the most eminent physician in the county, does so at his own risk."
