Storing Potatoes.

Every method has been tried by farmers to store and preserve their potatoes through winter, and we may say until potatoes come again. It is the most valuable of all vegetables, though here and there we find a writer who undertakes to tell us universally consumed in all civilized countries, as where it cannot be grown it ances without injury, when ventilation is attended to.

In storing potatoes several methods are adopted, yet they are all practically the same, the object being to protect them against freezing, whether buried in pits, or stored in cellars. The first consideration is to keep them in perfect darkness; the next is, the bins should not be to deep -not over three feet-to produce warmth and cause them to sprout. When stored in the field, straight trenches are dug, say twenty feet in length and four or five feet wide which are filled to the depth of three feet with potatoes, then well covered with straw, on top of which put eighteen or him! twenty inches of earth. In a pit twenty feet long there should be about three gas escapes or ventilating openings, which should be plugged with straw and covered with a board set at angle to turn the rain. If in cellars, barn or otherwise, the bins should be covered with rugs, old carpeting or straw. Those intended to be kept for late spring sales should be frequently examined and all sprouts removed; for as soon as a potato begins to sprout it loses its solidity, dryness and quality.

Long Hoofs.

The hoofs of cattle sometimes grow unnaturally long, especially when they are chance for the hoofs to wear away as they doing all your influence can do against toes into proper shape. If the balls of the hoof project much below the sole of the pasture, they will seldom be troubled in this way, as the hoofs wear away as fast as they grow. Hogs kept on manure wearing away of the soles. The Rural World says: "If you want to keep hogs, horses, cattle and sheep healthy, give them salt regularly. There is no better vermifuge than salt. Much of the so-called hog cholera is due to in testinal worms. Plenty of salt would prevent the accumulation of these worms. All animals desire salt, showing that it is for wise purposes." .

When and What Size to Plant Trees.

Trees are frequently transplanted when their size is large. Indeed, it was in this way that Louis Napoleon planted trees in Paris, to the great delight of the Parsians and the benefit of his popularity. Some of the authorites say that the tree should cal families, a new song, to be practiced, be transplanted only in the early winter, when frost has kept the earth well about evening pass pleasantly, and a time to look the roots. We have seen trees of good size successfully transplanted in spring. "If I Should Die To-Night."

If I should die to-night My friends would look upon my quiet face Before they laid it in its resting place,
And deem that death had left it almost fair,
And laying snow-white flowers against my hair
Would smooth it down with tearful tenderness,
And fold my hands, with lingering caress—
Poor hands, so empty and so cold to-night!

If I should die to night, My friends would call to mind, with loving thought Some kindly aced the icy hand had wrought; Some gentle word the frozen lips had said; Errands on which the willing feet had sped, The memory of my selfishness and pride, My hasty words would all be put aside, And so I should be loved and mourned to-night If I should die to-night, Even hearts estranged would turn once more to me,

Recalling other days remorsefully, The eyes that chill me with averted glance, Would look upon me as of yore perchance, And soften in the old familiar way, For who would war with dumo, unconscious clay So I might rest, forgiven of all to-night.

O friends, I pray to-night,
Keep not your kisses for my dead, cold brow;
The way is lonely; let me feel them now,
Think gontly of me; I am travel-worn;
My faltering feet are pierced with many a thorn
Forgive! O heart estranged, forgive, I plead;
When dreamless rest is mine, I shall not need
The tenderness for which I long to-night.

We have an Advocate with the Father

"If any man sin, we have an advocate." Jesus is an advocate for "any," and therefore for any sinner. Not only is He an advocate for His people, but for every sinner; yea, even for those who as yet are filled with malice towards him, as were the sinners of Jerusalem, over whom he wept, and his enemies around his cross for whom he prayed.

Jesus prays for his own people, and blessed be his name, for those who are not so; yea, for all who have not yet returned is imported, which can be done long dist-to his fold. He came to seek and to save the lost, and he is carrying on his intercession for all the lost sheep who are yet wandering "far off" from God. What an IS BETTER THAN ANY MEDICINE. affecting thought is this, that Jesus in heaven should be praying for the salvation of his enemies! Yes, careless sinners Jesus is praying for you. You may never have thought of this. You may never spare a thought for Jesus, except to blaspheme his blessed name; but he has many a loving thought for you; and as he exhibits before his Father's throne the marks of his sufferings, "the scars of honor in his flesh," the print of the nails in his hands and feet, he says, "Father forgive

> Thus he prayed for Jerusalem, as he stood on Ofivet, and "beheld the city, and wept over it saying, O Jerusalem, how often would I have gathered thy children together as a hen doth gather her chickens under her wings, but ye would not."

And thus he prayed for his murderers, 'Father, forgive them, they know not what they do.'

And thus says the Apostle Paul in the Epistle to the Hebrews, "He is able to save unto the uttermost all that come unto God by Him, seeing that he ever liveth to make intercession for them."

Ah! sinner, you may be careless and ungodly; you may be going about your confined for a long time in stables, or work at enmity with God. AND WAS CURED.

Delaware, O., Feb. 16; 1877.

Mr. H. R. Stevens:—Dear Sir—I wish to give you this testimony, that you may know, and let others know, what Vegetiae has done for me. About two years ago a small some came on my leg; it soon became å large ulcer, so troublesome that I consulted the doctor, but I get no relief, growing worse from day to day. I suffered terribly; I could not rest day or night; I was so reduced my friends thought I would never recover; I consulted a doctor at Columbus. I followed his advice: it did no good. I can truly say I was discouraged. At this time I was looking over my newspaper; I saw your advertisement of Vegetine, the "Great Blood Parifier" for cleansing the blood from all impurities, curing Humors. Ulcers, &c. I said to my family, I will try some of the Vegetine. Before I had used the first bottle I began to feel better. I made up my mind I had got the right medicine at last. I could now sleep well nights. I continued taking the Vegetine. I took thirteen bottles. My health is good.—The Ulcer is gone, and I am able to attend to business. I paid about four hundred dollars for medicine and doctors before I bought the Vegetine. I have recommended Vegetine to others with good success. I always keep a bottle of it in the house now. It is a most excellent medicine. Very respectfully yours. F. ANTHONI.

Mr. Authon is one of the pioneers of Delaware, O.—He settled here in 1834. He is a wealthy gentleman, of the firm of F. Authoni & Sons. Mr. Anthoni is extensively known, especially among the germans. He is well known in Cincinnati. He is respected by all.
