really deserved to be, but being comparatively a stranger here, we thought it demanded some notice on our part. And accepting the kindness and courtesy extended us by the leading paper in this section, the JOYBNAL, we "took the lands of the undersigned, lying on the East branch of Stone Creek, in Jackson townup the glove," (that still retained the odor of a serpents' den) and repelled the infamous attack of our new and unprincipled enemy, or rather enemies, for we are fully aware that the editor of the Monitor was not alone in doabout the authorship of a certain communication we once inserted in the Greenback Na SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1878, tionalist, as it denounced "fusion," advocated straight-out principles and the maintenance of straight-out principles and the maintenance of an independent party, &c. But it is all in vain, gentlemen (?) you may surmise, guess and suppose whom you please, you can't make us expose a correspondent, for we know our duty better. And further, your wanting to know the authorship thereof, is all a mere blind. If we did tell you it wouldn't amount to "ehucks." It was the contents of the communication that did the business—that's what "struck Dougherty!" For instance, what on earth would be the odds, if say, Mr. Fisher would write an article for the Monitor, if it alluded only to the crops, penitentiary or slackwater navigation, and sich? But should be for Mrs. Catharine Willoughby, to the heirs and of Mrs. Catharine willoughby, to the heirs and alluded only to the crops, penitentiary or slack-water navigation, and sich? But should be write politics—advising a combination of hard-money Democrats with the Republicans, and to cut loose from Boss Speer—that would be interesting. In fact it might raise a rumpus in your affairs. Now every fair-minded person will admit that it would be the contents son will admit that it would be the contents are republicant.

Then what is the use of keeping up an abominable braying like a wild ass with a jumping tooth ache? It is all foolish nonsense! And is done, as we said, from the start, for the purpose of diverting attention from the main object, which now has become so plain and self-evident that even a schoolboy cannot be deceived thereby.

In conclusion, the editor of the aforesaid mongrel organ assumes to be too immaculate, high-toned and genteel to reply to the writer's second article, leaving his readers to infer that such a course would really pollute his mudslinging apparatus; which is doubtless true, if one takes as a sample the closing sentence of the secured by independent bonds of purchaser. the item concerning us in his late issue, where he uses the vilest slang of the "cock-pit fra-ternity," who are considered the lowest class of creatures in a civilized community. What a paragon of refinement—model of genteel journalism? This applies to those who make the balls as well as him who threw them. We do hope that this is the last time we are compelled to appear in public print in this unenviable capacity, as personal contention is not interesting to the people in general and is certainly disagreeable to the writer, how-Thus "the battle is not always to the strong, nor the race to the swift," is an old and true saying—frequently exemplified.

The reader's patience, like our own, is doubt less exhausted, and we shall close with again thanking the JOURNAL for its kindness, &c. B. F. FRIES. HUNTINGDON, PA., Sept., 17, 1878.
