PERSONS HAVING REAL ESTATE FOR SALE SHOULD ADVERTISE IT IN THE "JOURNAL," WHICH PAYS SPECIAL ATTENTION TO MATTERS OF INTEREST TO FARMERS AND CIRCULATES LARGELY AMONG THEM.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Brief Mention—Home-made and Stolen.

More rain. Republicans work. Transplant your trees. The oyster trade is dull. Sunday was a lovely day. Had colds are fashionable.

A FARMER SWINDLED.—One of the participants in the Crime Jump from the recently moving train was a farmer from the vicinity of Huntington, who was swindled by a man who claimed to be an express agent.

THE ROOF OF THE Normal school building is ready for the slates. A polar bear struck this latitude after the rain storm of Friday.

Col. Norris and family are expected to arrive at home this week. Nearly all the country mills, like Huntington's, hummers, are dry.

There was a corner in fat poultry in this place during the past week. D. S. Black has caught and bottled three snakes during the past week.

We have just opened a fine line of money purses at the Journal Store. Samuel H. Beck has been appointed postmaster at Morris, in this county.

Geo. A. Port, esq., took a flying trip to the city of broad brims this week. Another cross-roads' journal heard from. The fools are not all dead yet.

Ex-Governor Bigler was in attendance at the Synod in this place last week. Sanford's minstrel troupe shut our eye last week to the tune of $7.50. Next.

A party of gentlemen got an unexpected bath in the canal on Monday morning. The prettiest girl in Huntington promenade Fifth street on Sunday afternoon.

Some very handsome and very cheap inkstands just received at the Journal Store. Some lawless chap was firing a pistol within the borough limits at a late hour on Friday night.

Dr. H. B. Hotchkiss went to Philadelphia last week to attend the funeral of his venerable father. To attempt to do business without advertising is like trying to run a wagon without grease.

Patent election stickers a speciality at the Journal office. Call and see them and leave your orders. Blank articles of agreement between Directors and teachers just printed and for sale at the Journal Store.

Our across-the-street neighbor, McCullough, makes a grand display with his new stock of boots and shoes. The Keystone Zinc Company's buildings, near Birmingham, this county, are rapidly going to decay.

If the Journal is not the best paper on the American continent it is not for the want of advice how to run it. Snow squalls are reported to have prevailed on the mountains in the neighborhood of Altoona on Friday last.

The weather prophet is abroad in the land, and he predicts that the coming winter will be noted for its intense cold. The handsome paper, for making wall pockets, in town, all colors and styles, just received at the Journal Store.

Huntingdon was not represented at the Democratic state-convention, recently held at Pittsburgh, under the management of W. Howard Day. Dr. S. T. Wilson, for many years pastor of the Presbyterian church at Birmingham, has resigned his pastoral charge of that congregation.

George W. Crabb, one of Harrisburg's oldest journalists, died at his residence, in that city, on Thursday morning last, aged about 71 years. In York county, the other day, a man was sentenced to pay a fine and go to jail thirty days for stealing newspaper from subscribers' doors.

The venerable mother of Dr. W. P. McNite died at her residence, in Shirleyburg, on Sunday evening last, at the ripe old age of 86 years. On Sunday morning last a fire broke out in Lewistown, during the progress of which five stables, one horse and a number of hogs were burned.

The new Fountain Pen, to be had at the Journal Store, is just the thing for persons to use who have much writing to do. Only 25 cents. John R. Cunningham, who has been spending the summer at Media, has returned home, and his familiar tarantula can be seen on our streets again.

Hon. J. J. Morrill arrived at home on Wednesday last week, after having spent several months abroad as Commissioner to the Paris Exposition. The boys who are in the habit of tearing down and defacing handbills will find themselves in more trouble than they bargained for one of these days.

Book satchels, straps, superior black writing ink, books of all kinds, and a full line of school stationery, at the Journal Store, as cheap as the cheapest. A small bag of hogs, say large as one's head, placed in a bin of grain, it is said, will destroy weevil and other insects which find a lodgment. It costs but little and is easily tried.

We advertise some valuable real estate for sale in another part of the Journal. Persons desiring to invest in real estate will do well to examine our advertising columns before purchasing. The county commissioners of Blair have passed a resolution that the county will pay no costs incurred in the conviction and imprisonment of persons arrested for trespassing on railroad trains.

Cold piercing winds and driving rains seldom do as much damage as a cough, cold or hoarseness at this season, and Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup should be kept in every house. For sale at all druggists. 25 cents. Hon. Stanley Matthews, of Ohio, will address the Republicans of this place and vicinity, in the Court House, on Thursday evening, the 21st inst. Pack the building to hear this eloquent claspment of the Right.

Samuel M. Villy, esq., one of Huntington county's next representatives, dropped in to see us on Saturday last. He reports the signs of the times as propitious for an old-fashioned Republican victory in November. Our friends are drawing heavily on our advertising space just now; but the liberal patronage we are receiving is proof that people know where to get their money's worth. Send along your favors and we will accommodate you.

Brother X. C. Barclay, esq., of Altoona, Pa., dropped in to see us on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Barclay was attending the Presbyterian Synod in session in this place for a week past. He is a clever gentleman and is always a welcome visitor.

We had the pleasure of a pop-corn, on Friday morning last, on our esteemed friend, and former fellow citizen, Rev. J. C. Clarke, at present Presiding Elder of the Harrisburg District. Brother Clarke is as clever and jovial as ever and we are pleased to see him looking so well.

A half-starved dog, on Friday last, stole or eight pounds of pudding from the counter in Fiedley's meat market, and carried it to the street, where he gulped it down in less time than it takes us to tell it. A number of persons who witnessed the transaction, are going to vote for the dog tax.

By every consideration of profit, if not of propriety, that which sustains and strengthens the system should be absolutely pure. Bulls, hogs, and other animals, which are used for food, and poisoning of the blood and kept in such a way, which strengthens the blood and keeps it pure.

There are certain kinds of entertainments given in nearly every town, and the notices, tickets to be peddled about the streets, in the houses, stores, and all places of business, much to the annoyance of those important to the community. The other day, the business men sent a protest to the school board against the practice of allowing school children to sell tickets in the course of entertainments.

SPORTING NOTES.—

Bears are reported unusually numerous in Sinking Valley, Blair county. Myers' Altoona flyers carried off first money in a couple of trots at the Lancaster fair.

H. Clay Marshall, esq., of Mt. Union, has shot and killed three wild turkeys since the season opened. Jack McCallan and Howard Holzworth shot a good string of pheasants, quail and rabbits on Saturday last.

Mr. Geo. Vallance, of Martinsburg, shot and killed a two hundred pound bear, a few days ago, on the mountain near Henrietta. Alex. Long, of the firm of Long & Neal, brought the first wild turkey of the season to town on Thursday. He killed it on Finney Ridge.

T. C. Fisher brought several fine woodcocks to town the other day, the result of an hour's hunt in one of M. Cahill's fields, opposite this place. The Turkey Rifle Club spent last week in the Bear Meadows region, in this county, in search of game, but up to this time we have not heard what success the members met with.

A statement is made in an exchange that a party recently killed was operated, and its "crop" found to contain one cut-worm, twenty-one striped bugs and over one hundred chinch bugs. Old sportsmen are laughing at the report, and say that the "crop" will weigh more than the partridge, and that the largest size partridge crop will hold but a table-spoonful.

DEATH OF REV. JOHN MILLER.—Rev. John Miller, long and favorably known to the people of this town and county, where he has many friends and relatives, and one of the oldest clergymen in the Methodist church, died at Westchester, Md., on Thursday last week, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. M. O. Miller. He was born in the town of Mt. Olivet, Centre county, Pa. From the address of Rev. Dr. Brown, who assisted in the services, we extract the following interesting history of the lamented and honored dead.

John Miller, he said, was born on the 23d of December, 1794, in Huntington county, Pa. He was awakened at a watch-night service held at the house of the year 1816, under the ministry of Rev. Samuel Davis. He was received into conference in the year 1819. After traveling through the State he obtained a license in the spring of 1823 he was readmitted into conference. For upwards of fifty-nine years he has been in the ministry of the M. E. Church; his entire life has been a life of labor; sixteen years he traveled circuits; he was stationed nine years; was presiding elder two terms, and superintendent and superannuated together upwards of 15 years. Dr. Brown said he never met a man more deeply interested in the annual conferences than Mr. Miller, and that he was in all his convictions and purposes; his fidelity was marked and exact. Before dying he sent the following message to his brethren of the ministry: "Tell all the members of the Baltimore Conference I am dying in the faith, happy in the Lord, and want to meet them in Heaven." John Miller left his brethren an inheritance of an upright, dignified and Christian life, and to his children something far better than a marble monument.

A HANDSOME PRESENT.—We learn from Philadelphia that our esteemed young friend and ex-decl, Harry W. Long, now with Cunningham, Gleim & Co., of that city, was the recipient of a handsome silver coronet, one of the most beautiful ever made, from the musical association of which he has the honor of being the leader. The present was entirely unexpected, and when it was handed him by a residence of a friend, in the presence of his fellow members, he was so affected by this unexpected act of kindness that he could only utter the words, "I will tell them all." The instrument is a costly one with his name neatly engraved on it, and enclosed in a neat morocco case. The present is a very appropriate one, and a fitting memorial of his life, and we use it that our friend "Phil" for he is a musician of rare ability.

THE SYNOD.—The Synod of Harrisburg met in the Presbyterian church, in this place, on Thursday evening of last week. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Hamill, in a most interesting and edifying manner. Ministers and 57 elders answered to roll-call. The Synod held day and evening sessions up until and including Monday night. As no report of the proceedings has been handed us for publication we are unable to give a report of its doings. We learn that Williamsport has been selected as the place for the next meeting of Synod.

New Goods.—Wm. March & Bro., at their old stand, are opening a large and varied stock of goods for the season and for this market. Mr. Wm. They invite their old customers, and all who are desirous to call and see them before making their fall purchases.

WHAT OUR CORRESPONDENTS SAY. A WORD TO METHODISTS. Sent to us, October 21, 1878. Mr. Editor: It has been intimated to me that Republican members of the M. E. Church ought to vote for Dill for Governor, because he is a member of the M. E. Church, and so I thought I would state that denomination. I have been a member of that branch of the Christian church for 24 years, and I have never on any occasion voted for a man simply because he was a Methodist. To my mind that would be a dangerous policy to pursue.

one whose tendency would be to have sectarian influence control the Government which is just what we need and general good of all the citizens without reference to denominational distinctions. I trust there is not a Republican Methodist in this county who would not vote for grand old Commonwealth, be preacher or be layman, who will believe himself to that extent, as to vote for Dill simply because he is a member of the Methodist church. I have no doubt there are hundreds and thousands of Democratic Methodists in the State who will vote for Dill, but I don't think they will vote for him simply because he belongs to the great family of laymen of that denomination, but because they believe that he stands at the head of the ticket as the representative of the political principles which they believe are best calculated to develop and promote the civil, social and religious interests of the citizens. To vote for Dill simply because he is a Methodist will give every Methodist in the State the right to say who does it—won't show that spirit and disposition which alone should control the voter when he is about to deposit his ballot.

Only a few days since I was in conversation with a Methodist clergyman, who positively affirmed that he would not vote for Dill, but that his own brother, because he conscientiously believes he is not the exponent of those political principles which are best calculated to develop and promote the State and promote the happiness and prosperity of the people. He considers the elective franchise a common right, which it is, and when he goes to the polls to deposit his ballot he does it as a citizen and not as a Methodist preacher. He said it is his duty to vote for the man whom he believes will best promote the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth, and so should every member of the M. E. Church. A METHODIST.

WHAT A NEIGHBOR SAYS. Editor Journal.—I see that the Monitor urges voters of this county to support Mr. McElwain for Treasurer through sympathy. While I sympathize with the young man I do not think it right to support a man wholly unqualified for the office, because he has been unfaithful in the discharge of his duties as a member of the M. E. Church, and for three weeks before the nominating convention a neighbor inquired of him if he would accept of the office of Treasurer? He replied that he would, and added, "I do not know which party to attach myself to as I want to belong to the strongest one." This young man is not a political principle, he wants office, no matter which of the parties will give it to him. I have known him for years, and I speak truly when I say that he is not a man qualified to discharge the responsible duties of County Treasurer. OXEIDA.
