Graphic drawings by Thomas Moran supplement the text "Caribou-Hunting" is described in a personal narrative by Charles C. Ward, whose "Moose-Hunting," a year ago, will be remembered by sportsmen; the author and Henry Saudham furnish the drawings. "The Douglass Squirrel of California," has found a friend in John Muir, who writes with enthusiasm and with rare knowledge of this little forest planter. Mr. Bolles draws some Indian boys using the Doughlass as a target for archery-practice. There is also a sketch of "Dora D'Istria," the eminent philanthropist and social writer of Wallachia, with a portrait after Schiavoni. The Wallachia, with a portrait after Schiavoni. The serials are also illustrated.

In public discussion there are some timely papers by experts; "The National Bank Circulation," by Professor W. G. Summer; "Are Narrow-Guage Railroads Economical?" by Lorenzo M. Johnson, an engineer who has built both broad and narrow guages, and a painter's view of "Art at the Paris Exposition." Other papers are "Undergraduate Life at Oxford," by Ansley Wilcox, "My Look at the Queen," by Treadwell & Walden, and "He Playing Sbe," a light sketch of college theatricals in former days. Poems are college theatricals in former days. Poems are contributed by "H. H.." L. Frank Tooker (a new poet), Anna Katherine Green, and Henry S. Corn-poet), Anna Katherine Green, and Henry S. Cornwell.

Dr. Holland discusses "The Prudential Element,"
"Literary Materials and Tools," "Social Needs and Social Leading." In a communication Mr. M. S. Beach relates for the first time the way in which the Trea'y of Guadalupe Hidalgo originated, and how a plot to make the Duke of Montpensier Emperor of Mexico was frustrated by President Polk. "Home and Society" has a second installment of "Hints to Young Housekeepers," and an account of "The Maternity Society." "The World's Work" has descriptions of new appliances. ment of "Hints to Young Housekeepers," and an account of "The Maternity Society." "The World's Work" has descriptions of new appliances, including "Street-car Motor," "New Electric Lamp," "Improved Ironing Machine," "Improvement in making Artificial Stone," "Automatic Davise for Reproducing Music," etc. The Device for Reproducing Music", etc, etc. The fresh and carefully prepared accounts in this department are now widely quoted.

ST NICHOLAS FOR DECEMBER Whets the appetite for more. There is just enough of ante-Christmas flavor about it to let you know the merry season is near, and to assure you that the real Christmas number of St. Nicholas is yet to

The December number has eight extra pages and fifty pictures, and begins with a poem of nomelife that sings itself into the heart. It is by the editor, and describes what the frontispiece illustrates:—a Scotish lassic in the cottage door-way watching her father rowing across Highland lake on his way to home and supper. The picture is a wood-engraving after a painting by John Phillip, R. A.

idnight revelry in which she shared. Laur ated with a striking picture by Kelly,—of how and Jones and his friend struggled through a readful snow storm among the Catskills. But the most attractive stories are these reiold-tales that everybody knows and loves, but in strange Italian dress, and delicately litustrated by Alfred Fredericks. Mr. Crane also explains from what ancient sources come these beloved stories. Mary Hallock Foote supplies a short article, illustrated by herself, about the children of a Mexican mining-camp. There is an account of "Mistletoe-Gathering in Normandy," with a picture by W. J. Hennessy. Ernest Ingersoll chats pleasantly about "Snakes and Birds." And Mrs. Treat explains and illustrates some of the wonders she has seen through the microscope.

Young students of German are presented with a short legend in that language, for them to turn into English; and Very Little Artists are supplied with white-line pictures to be copied upon their slates.

The serial story, "A Jolly Fellowship," by Frank R. Stockton, carries its readers through a "jolly" installment of fun and travel in the sunny south-land, and adds to its own attractions six telling pictures, two of which represent actual scenes in Savannah and St Augustine, visited by Will and Rectus. As for the "Half a Dozen Housekeepers," their winter fun and frolic and laughable scrapes continue, and the text is enlivened by three fine pictures from the pencil of Frederick Dielman.

The young folks themselves contribute greatly to the interest of the departments, "Jack-in-the-Pulpit," "Letter-box," and "Riddle-Box"; the latter having a curious cipher, and an illustrated problem based on the new silver dollar. These publications can be had at the JOURNAL News

There are several short stories. One of them illustrated by Sel Eytingo, tells of the curious way in which "Wild Becky," a country Tom-Boy, was j'tamed. In another, Lucretia P. Hale faithfully reports how those well-meaning muddle-heads, and the droll mishaps that attended their efforts. Next comes a fairy story, with a fine drawing by Jessie Curtis; this tells how little Lizzie became an enchanted chicken, and describes the weird A number of children are in the Alms House who will be Indentured to suitable parties upon application to the Directors.
