CLOAKS.

Our success in filling the wants of those wanting an outside covering is not one of luck, but of study, constant inquiry and long experience in the making as well as selling these garments. No part of our house requires such untiring watchfulness, no kind of merchandise is so worthless when out of style as a cloak—no department is more active in the season of selling.

The materials used this season are Diagonals, in various widths, Matelasse, Fur Black Beavers, Silk Matelasses and Plain Silks; also, a rough-faced material called Camel's Hair, which is new, but not vary pleasing to the ave.

Silk Matelasses and Plain Silks; also, a rough-raced material caused Camel's Hair, which is new, but not very pleasing to the eye.

The articles used for Trimmings are Velvet, Gros Grain, Grass Fringe, Fancy Gimps and Braids.

As to shapes, the new things are of the Mantle order, but with a sleeve much more comfortable and yielding than garments of this character have been heretofore; the general effect, too, is more graceful and pleasing. The Sacque, though, retains its old popularity, and is bound to be the leader with the majority. In shape it differs but little from last season.

CHILDREN'S CLOAKS, from the smallest size up, have our best attention. They are made of Blue and Brown Beaver, Matelasse and Fancy Cloths, and cost from $4.00 upward.

SHAWLS.

The great variety of styles, materials, colors and weights wanted in a Shawl for different seasons and occasions, requires a most extensive stock to be able to suit even a majority of consumers. We are in condition now to suit more than a majority, having the greatest collection of staples, as well as novelties, in this line ever shown in Philadelphia—including even the rich fabrics of India, where years are often occupied in producing one Shawl.

No department has received more personal attention than the Shawls, the buyer having visited Europe during the summer, and not only bought very largely of ready-made, but ordered made many styles which could not be procured otherwise. Those having a taste for the novel as well as beautiful in Shawl's, should look through our collection.
