The Potter committee commenced the investigation of the "cipher telegrams" on Monday.

VANDEBILT is worth a cool $100,000. He wants to get clear of some of his surplus cash let him start a newspaper.

CHARLES N. FARR, esq., of Reading, who acted as private secretary for Gov. Hartranft during his last term, has been retained in the same capacity by Gov. Hoyt.

The name of Hon. Wayne McVeigh is favorably mentioned in connection with the Judgeship of the United States court made vacant by the recent death of Judge Caldwell.

Gov. Hoyt, on Tuesday afternoon, sent the name of David H. Lane, to the Senate for confirmation as Recorder of Philadelphia, but two-thirds of the Senators failing to vote in the affirmative his nomination was rejected.

Judge John Caldwell, of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, died at his residence, in Philadelphia, on Sunday morning, at the ripe old age of seventy-four years. The disease from which he died was pneumonia.

A PITTSBURGH woman, who says that she is the widow of the late Hon. R. W. Mackey, has taken steps to contest the will of that gentleman. The friends and intimate acquaintances of Mr. Mackey contended that he never was married and the woman is an imposter.

A BILL has been introduced in the legislature for the abolition of the office of jury commissioner. Since the new constitution gives a minority representation in the board of county commissioners, we see no reason why the jury commissioner system should be continued.

HON. GALUSHA A. GROW was in Washington last week, and while in conversation with prominent men there said that the political sentiment in Pennsylvania was never so harmonious, and it now looks as if the campaign of 1880 would be the most successful in the State for years.

On Saturday evening last, at the little village of Montville, in the State of Maine, an insane man named Rowell brutally murdered the family of John McFarland, consisting of himself, his wife and granddaughter. The murderer was afterwards shot and killed by a neighbor whom he had attacked.

S. W. ALVORD, esq., after a ten years' connection with E. O. Goodrich & Co., in the publication of the Bradford Reporter, disposes of his interest in the paper to Mr. J. E. Hitchcock and Hitchcock. The new firm will be Goodrich & Hitchcock, with the former as editor and the latter as publisher. We wish them success.

EX-GOVERNOR HARTRANFT has been appointed and confirmed Major General of the National Guard. Gov. Hoyt showed good judgment in calling Gen. Hartranft to the command of our citizen soldiery, and if their services are ever called into requisition for the suppression of riot or insurrection, his large military experience will be of incalculable value.

IN LAST WEEK'S JOURNAL we gave the names of the different committees to which Senator Fisher had been assigned, but in doing so we neglected to mention the important fact that he had been elected Secretary of the Finance Committee. In view of the fact that we are asking appropriations for the Middle Penitentiary we are more interested in this committee than any other, and our people will be glad to learn that Senator Fisher occupies so important and influential a position upon it.

REPRESENTATIVE DOYLE has asked for an appropriation of $600,000 for the Middle Penitentiary, and he has also introduced a bill for the adoption, in this State, of the famous Virginia bell-punch, for the purpose of taxing every glass of beer and liquor sold over the counters of saloons and hotels. While Mr. Doyle is in the liquor business he should ask the House to pass a prohibitory liquor law, and if he could succeed in securing the passage of such a law then there would be no necessity for the bell-punch.

The Lancaster Daily Examiner and Express reached us on Wednesday morning dressed in a new suit of beautiful type and enlarged by an increase in the length of its columns. The paper presents a clean, clear and neat appearance, and while its typography is faultless, its editorial, local and news departments are all that could be desired. We trust its publishers will not act as meekly as did the New Era men, send their paper out to country publishers for a favorable notice, and when they received it cut their acquaintance from that moment. We will be glad to have the daily visits of the Examiner.

The Nationalist "battled for the re-monetization of silver and Congress yielded to the clamor." Je-ru-sa-lem! The Nationalist "thundered against the further destruction of Greenbacks and Congress stopped their further cancellation." Je-wil-kens! The Nationalist "urged and insisted that the Government should receive Greenbacks in payment of the duties on imports and now the Secretary of the Treasury, without warrant of law—but because the Nationalist "urged and insisted"—has so ordered and Congress will legalize the order." Je-mi-mah! What a mighty power in the land this Nationalist is any how! Who'd a thunk it, that with its three or four hundred of a circulation it could have "sneaked" Congress and Secretary Sherman into doing what it "insisted" be done? A paper with such an influence ought to "pay its way" without double-edged appeals to the people to throw it a little sop. Don't you think it ought?

HON. M. S. QUAY.

On Tuesday afternoon Gov. Hoyt sent to the Senate the name of Hon. M. S. Quay for Secretary of the Commonwealth, and that body promptly and unanimously confirmed his nomination. In the Harrisburg Telegraph we find the following brief biography of Mr. Quay which we transfer to our columns:

Matthew Stanley Quay, who now resumes his old position as Secretary of the Commonwealth, was born in Dillsburg, York county, on the 30th of September, 1833. His father was a Presbyterian minister, and removed to Beaver in 1840, where Colonel Quay was reared. He graduated at Jefferson college at the age of seventeen, and studied law with the firm of Penny & Sterrett. Before admission to the bar, he spent two years in Texas and Mississippi, teaching and lecturing, and then returned to Beaver, where he was admitted to the bar in 1854. In 1855 he was appointed prothonotary to fill a vacancy, and he was elected in 1856 and re-elected in 1859. In 1861 he entered the army as an officer in the Pennsylvania Reserves, but was induced to accept the position of Assistant Commissary-General under General Irvin, to aid Governor Curtin in the laborious work of organizing the troops. He was subsequently transferred to Governor Curtin's military staff until August, 1862, when he was appointed Colonel of the 134th regiment. Soon after he was summoned by Governor Curtin to take the important position of State Military Agent at Washington. After he had resigned to repair to Washington, General Burnside made the attack at Fredericksburg, and Colonel Quay, although without a command, volunteered on staff duty, and was in the sanguinary charge of Humphreys' corps which cost so many lives of gallant Pennsylvania soldiers. In 1863 he became Military Secretary to Governor Curtin, which position he filled until 1864, when he was elected to the Legislature by the Republicans of Washington and Beaver, and he resigned in January, 1865, to take his seat in the House. He was re-elected to the House in 1865, and again in 1866, and was a prominent candidate for Speaker in the session of 1867, but was defeated in his aspirations. In the campaign of 1872 he was largely instrumental in securing a Republican victory by the election of Hartranft to the Governorship and Simon Cameron to the Senatorship, and since then Colonel Quay has figured very conspicuously in the politics of the State. Governor Hartranft appointed him Secretary of the Commonwealth at the beginning of his first term, and he was continued in this important and responsible office until the close of April, 1878. Mr. Quay then resigned to accept the position of Recorder of the city of Philadelphia, under the act enlarging the duties of this office. In June Mr. Quay removed his residence from Beaver to Philadelphia. He was selected as chairman of the Republican State Committee, and conducted the campaign of last year with such aggressive boldness and such fertility of resources as to win one of the most memorable political victories in the history of the State.

MORE SOUTHERN TRICKERY. The Harrisburg Telegraph says that every day brings something new in the way of propositions to enable the South to get its local expenses paid out of the National Treasury. The latest proposition in this line is to divide the proceeds of public lands among several States for educational purposes. Mr. Goode, a haughty and blatant Southerner, always ready to curl his lip or elevate his nose at everything of a Northern character, is the author of this grand scheme, which is made solely in the interest of the South. Pennsylvania does not ask for such aid. Neither do any of the other Northern, Eastern or Western States, all of which have paid for their own public school houses, and have all the buildings of that class necessary to accommodate their children. They do not desire to waste the public lands in this manner, believing that the property should be disposed of to attain other purposes. The Southern States, if once in possession of such property, would divert the proceeds to other purposes than those of education, for which they have never given the country any evidence that they desire its promotion and diffusion among the poor man's children. Let the North beware of this snare, for such it is, to waste the public lands. The national domain must be used to attract actual settlers. In no other way can they be turned to account by the Government. Ex Representative Grow's Homestead law is the feasible plan to render the public lands of profit, to widen and extend the channels of commerce and increase the resources of the people. But this scheme of Mr. Goode's is nothing more nor less than a bold conspiracy to enable the South to place the cost of educating its children to the account of the National Government, and when once the people who assume to rule that section have accomplished this, as we have said, direct the revenues in their control to insure the educational purpose to objects entirely different. It is high time that the people of the North put their foot on all such propositions.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR HULL, of Florida, is under arrest, charged with frauds at the late election by which he was returned as elected to Congress over Mr. Bibbee, in the Second district. Hull's present election was secured by throwing out of the count one or two Republican counties, but even after doing this Hull's majority was less than twenty. He is charged with having a hand in the frauds by which he secured his certificate of election and as he is to be tried in a United States Court there is some prospect of justice being meted out to him.

WE ARE indebted to our clever townsman, Hon. J. Simpson Jaffe, Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs, for a handsomely gotten-up copy of his Annual Report. This book contains a vast amount of important information.

THE NEW PENSION BILL.

Under the new pension bill, which has just passed both houses of Congress and received the signature of the President, all pensions, whenever granted, will commence from the date of the death or disability of the claimant. This bill will benefit directly not less than half a million people, embracing wounded and disabled soldiers and the widows and orphans of those who fell in the service, and it is estimated that it will require about $30,000,000 to carry out its provisions. The bill wisely provides for the protection of claimants against the hungry and unprincipled claim agents, by rendering the mode of application so plain and simple that every applicant can attend to his own case. On application to the Commissioner of Pensions the necessary blanks and instructions will be furnished without charge. For the benefit of those of our readers who may be interested in this matter we publish the bill in its entirety, as follows:

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT ALL PENSIONS ON ACCOUNT OF DEATH OR WOUNDS RECEIVED OR CONTRACTED IN THE SERVICE OF THE UNITED STATES DURING THE LATE WAR OF THE REBELLION, WHICH HAVE BEEN GRANTED OR WHICH SHALL HEREAFTER BE GRANTED, SHALL COMMENCE FROM THE DATE OF DEATH OR DISCHARGE FROM THE SERVICE OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE PAYMENT OF ARREARS OF PENSIONS OR OTHER PURSUES.

Be it enacted, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the pensions which have been granted under the general laws regulating pensions or that may hereafter be granted in consequence of death from a cause which originated in the United States service during the continuance of the late war of the rebellion, or in consequence of wounds, injuries or diseases received or contracted in said service during the late war of the rebellion, shall commence from the date of the death or discharge from said service of the person on whose account the claim has been or shall hereafter be granted or for the termination of the right of the party having prior title to such pension, provided the rate of pension for the intervening time for which the pension of pension are hereby granted shall be the same per month for which the pension was originally granted.

SEC. 2. That the Commissioner of Pensions is hereby authorized and directed to adopt such rules and regulations for the payment of the arrears of pensions hereby granted as he may deem proper, and to be paid to such pensioners, or to the heirs or assigns of such pensioners, or to the person or persons entitled to the same, all such arrears of pensions as the pensioner may be or would have been entitled to under this act.

SEC. 3. That section 4,717 of the revised statutes, which provides that "no claim for pension shall be prosecuted to a successful issue within five years from the date of filing the same shall be admitted without record evidence from the War or Navy Department of the injury or the disease which resulted in the disability or death of the person on whose account the claim is made, provided that in any case in which the limitation prescribed by this section shall have been further presented of the claim the claimant may present, through the Pension Office, to the Adjutant General of the Army or the Surgeon General of the Navy, evidence that the disease or injury which resulted in the disability or death of the person on whose account the claim is made originated in the service and is deemed satisfactory by the officer to whom it may be submitted he shall cause a record of the fact so proved to be made and a copy of the same to be transmitted to the Commissioner of Pensions and the bar to the prosecution of the claim shall thereby be removed," be and the same is hereby repealed.

NO CLAIM AGENT OR OTHER PERSON SHALL BE ENTITLED TO RECEIVE ANY COMPENSATION FOR SERVICES FOR MAKING APPLICATION FOR ARREARS OF PENSION.

SEC. 5. That all acts or portions of acts so far as they may conflict with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

TWO MURDERERS HANGED.

WILLIAM E. MERRICK and JOHN ACHRY SUPPER THE DEATH PENALTY AT INDIANAPOLIS—THEIR CRIMES.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., January 29.—The execution by hanging of William E. Merrick and John Achry took place at 12:20 o'clock to-day. At 12:22 the physicians pronounced both men dead. Achry claimed that his crime was not premeditated, and closed by saying: "The people want a hanging, and I am ready for it." Merrick asserted his innocence to the last. Both men displayed wonderful coolness, and stepped to their places on the trap without assistance, and with no hesitation or a tremor visible. The arrangements of the Sheriff were perfect and carried out without the slightest deviation or accident. The necks of both men were broken.

John Achry shot George Leggett in a drinking saloon in the afternoon of July 16 last. Both were gamblers. Leggett had arranged a game in which Achry lost all his money. He had received quite a sum from his mother's estate. Believing he had been cheated he sought out Leggett and shot him twice, causing death in twenty minutes. Much sympathy had existed for Achry and executive clemency had been invoked, but without avail.

William E. Merrick had lived with his wife before marriage. She brought a bastardy suit against him and compromised by marrying her. On the night of September 14 last, he invited her to take a buggy ride. Stopping at a saloon he procured a glass of wine, in which he placed poison, taking it out for her to drink. He then drove about the city until she was dead. During her death struggles she gave birth to a child. He buried his wife and child a short distance from the city in some bur-
