While these buildings were furiously burning and thousands of dollars' worth of property was being destroyed the ventilating roof of the blacksmith shop to the south took fire. The roof of this building was of slate, and the ventilating roof was almost entirely destroyed before the rafters beneath the slate roof took fire. There was little or no machinery of value in the black-smith shop. The building itself was con-siderably damaged, and there was every pros-pect, as it was still slowly burning last night, in this place just now. A party of ten or twelve young men purchased three kegs of beer on Friday last, took them to the woods, and guzzled their contents until they became too drunk to reach town until after nightfall. We observed two of the party, or the evening in question, lying in a clump of bushes, in a beastly state of intoxication.

  The old repair shop, the wooden building in the rear of all the others, was not damaged at all, and its good fortune was due to the fact that the slate and tin roofs of the others kept the flames within bounds and that its own composition roof is not combustible. A number of the threshing machines manufactured in the building were run out for safety, though it was not necessary. The firemen worked at a decided disadvantage, as the only available supply of water was from a well with about six feet of fluid in it alongside of the threshing machine department and a tank at the new repair shop

THE CLIMAX OF MEDICAL SCIENCE. DR. COUNOD'S

STANDARD PREPARATIONS

The culminating achievement of Modern Medical Science needs no props to sustain its claim to public patronage. In the radical cures it has effected, in not only acute but chronic cases of diseases involving the Hidney's, Fladder, Filood, Liver, Skin, Nervous Organism and Genital Organs, it tells its own true and eloquent story. During a long residence in India, as Departmental Surgeon and Consulting Physician, d saved thousands of lives, while the catalogue of cases, abandoned by eminent practitioners, permanently cured in the cities and hospitals of Paris, London, Vienna, St. Petersburg, Amsterdam, Berlin, Brussels, Rome, Madrid, Calcutta and Constantinople, constitute a record which crowns Sandaline with imperishable renown. Sandaline, and both will do just as recommended, used as directed, or money refunded.

ELNR G SANDALINE is intended, by special combination with certain ingredients, to co-operate, in the Portal System, with the vital juices, and, by a gentle cathartic tendency, to throw off the effet matter and billiary secretions, and, by leaving the elements of which these vital juices are composed in their natural purity, resupply the wasted tissues. It builds up the system, debilitated by overstrain or constitutional maladies, and, by permeating the pores of the body, recuperates the entire system. In connection with Sandaline it will be found a powerful adjavant, and, operating in sympathy with each other, will confirm the cures they effect. Will do just as recommended, used as directed, or money refunded.

LOTION de SANDALINE is to the skin what Sandaline is to the Liver and Kidneys, and Elixir de Sandaline to the human system. In all powerful detergent known to Modern Medical Science, and yet it is as harmless as the saponaccous appliances of the toilet. It is safe, speedy, sure, penetrating the cuticle, and brings to the surface, where it dissipates, all the blood impurities that generate that intolerable burning, itching and uneasiness. It is a Liniment that will supersed all plasters and poulties. In the Bath it will be found a real desideratum, its grateful odor pleasing the senses while performing its other offices; and in all eruptive disorders, whether of a syphilitic or other mature, unhealthy discharges, used as an application, lotion or lujection, more particularly where Sandaline is taken internally, it is the only Lotion that has stood the ordeal of Chemical Tests. Will do Just as recommended, used as directed, or money refunded.

HAR LIFE GO SANDALINE composed of constituents as potent in their operations as Sandaliae, is as invigorating as Elixir do Sandauruff and making the hair grow luxuriantly where it is sentered and scan. It imparts glossiness to the hair, and, by its strengthening properties, prevents any tendency to premature "falling out." Persistently used, it is a safeguard against Baldmess, and, where Baldmess exists, will supply the loss with an outgrowth at once full and permanent. During my residence in India, witnessing the natives buthing their heads in the crude juices of Sandaline, in order to develop the growth of beautiful hair that subsequently adorned them, the idea, which I have matured, was originally conceived. As will be seen by my portrait, my hair is growing out luxuriantly, and I soon hope to have a head of hair, as in my youthful days. Will do just as recommended, used as dir-cted, or money refunded:

EAU GO COLOGNE GO SANDALINE [s the concentrated essence of the juices of the Bandal Tree, to which is supersadded the odor of the most fragrant flowers. Discarding the formulas of the most renowed preparations, added the odor of the most fragrant flowers. Discarding the formulas of the most renowed preparations, I have blended, by a delicate interweaving of ingredients, the most exquisite perfumes known to the Laboratory of Science, and given to the world an article, at once grateful and enjoyable. In the Toillet and the Bath it will revive the boasted traditions of the harem. The Eau de Cologne de Sandaline retains the odors of the tree whence it has been carefully extracted. To be Invalid it will be found revivifying, diffusing wherever and whenever used a most salutary perfume. It is put up in cut glass bottles, elaborately engraved, and covered with rich Satiu, handsomely labeled. It has found its way into the capitals of Europe, and received the indorsement of the Crowned Heads of the Old World, first heralded to the continental potentates by Engenie in the palmy days of the regime of Napoleon III.

Price, $1.00 per bottle each. Supplied through Pharmacists and Fancy Goods Dealers.
