The appointment of the special deputy marshals is not made by statute a spontaneous act of authority on the part of any executive or judicial officer of the government, but is accorded as a popular right of the citizens to call into operation this agency for securing the purity and freedom of elections in any city or town having 20,000 inhabitants or upwards. Section 2,021 of the revised statutes says it is in the power of any two citizens of such city or town to require of the marshal of the district the appointment of these special deputy marshals. Thereupon the duty of the marshal becomes imperative, and its non-permarshal becomes imperative, and its non-per-formance would expose him to judicial mandate formance would expose him to judicial mandate or punishment or to removal from office by the President as the circumstance of his conduct might require. The bill now before me neither revokes this popular right of citizens nor relieves the marshal of the duty imposed by law, nor the resident of his duty to see that this law is faithfully executed.

The July Number of Harper's Magazine is a worthy successor to the beautiful June Number. The social gayeties of a fashionable sea-side dered, and reach the President perhaps by Saturday. Republicans are divided on the probability of his signing this. The judical expenses bill he will probably veto, indeed, it is semi-officially announced that he will. This will force the Democrats to the last ditch again. Will they back down and make appropriations without limiting the executive power relative to enforcing the resort are presented in vivid colors in the leading article on Narragansett Pier, by Prof. Charles Carroll, with a number of striking illustrations by Reinhart. Howard Pyle's delightful and interesting gossip concerning life on the Eastern Shore is concluded in this Number. The peach-orchards of Delaware, cypress shingle-making in its Dismal Swamp, its sleepy old capital, and yachting along its coast, afford Mr. Pyle splendid opportunities for the use of his pencil as well as his pen; his pictures are novel and effective. Another illustrated paper in this number, "The American on the Stage," deals with a theme not before treated in the magazine, viz: The different attempts to portray distinctively American characters. The ranks of the writers of good short stories receive a new accession in Mrs. Mary Halleck Foote; the artist, whose first printed effort in this line appears in this number. Her story, "Friend Barten's "Concern," "deals with the Quakers. For new readers of Scribner, an additional, interest is lent to the concluding part of "Madame Bonaparte's Letters from Europe," by the publication of the Stuart pertraits of the writer and her husband, which mere printed in Scribner some years ago, and which any one who has read these letters will be glad to see. The third paper of the Braz I series is deveted to "An Indian Village on the Amazon," which is described in a clear and accurate manner, from personal observation. Another fully illustrated paper is Mr. W. H. Rideing's "Trinity Parish" (New York), with accounts of the unique charities of this celebrated corporation. In remembrance of the "Glorious Fourth," a spirited and exceedingly valuable narrative of "The Storming of Stony Point," July 15, 1779, with illustrations, is contributed by A. P. Johnston.

This Number contains the first of a series of papers covering the fifty years of American Art from 1828 to 1878, by S. G. W. Benjamin. The paper is illustrated with remarkably fine reproductions of paintings by Huntington, Wier, Inman, Elliott, Grey, Baker, Le Clear, Mount, Cole, Durand, Kensett, G. L. Brown, and Mignot, James T. Fields contributes a humorous poem, "The Owl Critic," which is accompanied by two characteristic illustrations. There is another illustrated poem, of a more sentimental character, by S. H. M. Byers, entitled "The Mowing;" the picture, drawn by Fredericks and engraved by Wolf, is exquisitely beautiful.

The illustrated short story in this Number is "A Romance of Easthampton," by A. A Hayes, Jr. It is a bright and well-told love-story. Henry James, Jr., contributes one of his very best short stories, "The Diary of a Man of Fifty." Edward

FACTS FOR THE PUBLIC,

1-We have the largest establishment for the manufacture and sale of Clothing in Philadelphia, ex-1—We have the largest establishment for the manufacture and sale of Clothing in Philadelphia, extending through from 518 and 520 Market street to 511 and 513 Minor street, and occupied.

2—Our buildings having been constructed and arranged for the business to which they are entirely devoted, unites all the conveniences and appliances which have been found necessary or desirable.

3—We have an ample cash capital, enabling us to make all purchases for cash, and giving us a selection, at the most favorable prices, from the markets of the entire world. In this particular we have advantages shared by but few other houses in the Trade. This fact is well

WE HAVE ADVANTAGES SHARED BY BUT FEW OTHER HOUSES IN THE TRADE. This fact is well known to the public.

4—We sell goods for cash only, which, though it restricts our business to those prepared to purchase in that way, enables us to give them advantages such as no house doing a different business can.

5—A business experience of over a quarter of a century has informed us fully of the wants of the public, and of the best way to meet them. We have introduced such improvements as have from time to time been found necessary, nearly all of which were originated by our predecessors in business (Messrs. Bennett & Co.) and many of them adopted by other houses in our business, so that long published accounts of "Systems of Doing Business" need not convey to the public an idea of anything new or peculiar, as the whole of such accounts are an almost verbatim description of methods which were mostly originated in this establishment, and have been in use in it for years.

6—We employ the best and most experienced cutters and workmen in making up our goods—the style, fit, and make of which are unsurpassed.

7—All persons, whatever may be their physical peculiarities (unless deformed,) can be accurately fitted at once from our stock, in most cases better than by goods made to order, and at prices 25 to 50 per cent. lower.

to 50 per cent. lower.

Our business is large a to 50 per cent. lower.

Our business is large and constantly increasing, enabling us to keep the largest, best assorted, and most complete stock of Men's, Youthe', Boys', and Children's Clothing in Philadelphia, to which large daily additions are made of fresh goods, replacing those sold.

For reasons already enumerated, we can and do sell at prices guaranteed in all cases lower than the lowest elsewhere, or the sale canceled and money refunded.

10—All goods when offered for sale are represented to be exactly what they are.

11—When buyers are for any reason dissatisfied with a purchase made, if reported within a reasonable time, we pledge ourselves, by exchange, refunding of money, or otherwise, to give full satisfaction in every case, and request that all such may be reported to us for adjustment.

12—All prices marked plainly on each garment.
13—To those unable to come to Philadelphia, we will send samples for any kind of garment with prices and plain instructions for self-measurement. TOWER HALL CLOTHING BAZAAR,
