KIND WORDS .- The following commu nication, coming as it does from a former citizens of this place, and one who was univer sally known and esteemed as a highly intelligent and respectable Christian gentleman, we deem worthy of publication, not for the pur sided contest so much as that of vindicating the course which we have pursued in the matter, and of showing what the unbiased opinion

Mr. J. A. NASH, ED. JOURNAL .- My Dear Sir If it will afford you the least particle of pleasure, you are quite welcome to know that it seems to me altogether unreasonable that you, or the Journal, for you are both one, should be assailed touching your action in that camp meeting matter. Is a man of refined, or, what is the same thing, genuine Christian feeling, to be compelled to witness and endure disgraceful scenes upon public highways, invol ring the character of communities and families n which he has a personal interest, and be bound to hold his peace for fear of "soulless corporations,"which would not care a picayune Is Your Hair Falling, or Turning Gray? who or what went to the devil, provided its harvests of filthy lucre were not damaged? Or why should not any body of men who con duct public meetings, professedly in the in terest of the people at large, receive with pleasure, and with thanks, the public, respectful criticisms of any intelligent person who chose to take the time and trouble to bring dis graceful hindrances to the notice of the parties most interested? "Civis" has certainly conducted his case, in this instance, with con spicuous good-temper and ability. You have fendant to the mercy of the Court.

LIMIT OF LIABILITY OF RAILROADS .-The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania rendered an important decision on Monday last, fixing the limit of the liability of the Pennsylvania railroad for damages in case of death by an accident at $5,000. Stephen Langdon was killed in a railroad accident near Pittsburgh in 1877, and his widow sued the company for $20,000 damages. The Allegheny County Court gave her a verdict for $5,712, and the company appealed on the ground that under the act of 1868 there could be no recovery greater than $5,000. The new Constitution provides that there shall be no limit to the amount for injury, but the Pennsylvania railroad contended that they had never accepted the provisions of the new Constitution, and therefore are not amenable to any legislation under it. The Supreme Court decided in favor of the claims of the railroad company .-Altoona Tribune.
