WHAT OUR CORRESPONDENTS SAY. To Grand Jurors and Traverse Jurors

of the Criminal Courts. EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL :- As we are al iable at any moment to be thrown in a posi-tion where the safety of our own persons, our lives, and property, and reputations, may all depend upon the decision of a jury, we think it but just and proper to address a few words to those who have been, or may hereafter be, drawn as jurors for this county, or elsewher.

A number of verdicts, rendered recently in our criminal courts have led the writer to believe that many jurors lose sight of the fearful responsibility that rests upon them. We do not charge them with wilfully violating their oaths but we do believe when they get into the jury room many of them forget the solemn oath that they have taken. Here aret he oaths taken by the jurors. Oath of Foreman of Grand Jury:

"You do swear, that as foreman of this grand inquest, you will diligently inquire, and true presentment make, as well of all such matters and things as shall be given you in charge, as of those things which you shall know to be presentable here—the Commonwealth's counsel, your fellows, and your own, you shall keep secret—you shall present no one from envy, hatred, malice or ill will; neither shall you have any one unpresented through fear, favor, affection, reward, gain or any hope thereof, affection, reward, gain or any hope thereof, rawn as jurors for this county, or elsewhere affection, reward, gain or any hope thereof, but you shall present all things truly as they come to your knowledge, to the best of your nderstanding, so help you God."

BOROUGH TICKET—The Republican voters of this borough met in the Grand Jury room at the Court House, on Monday night, and placed in nomination the following ticket:

JUSTICE OF THE PRACE:

Jerry W. Miller. The coat to suit the case on trial, and when the jury are sent out to make up their verdict let the clerk give each juror a copy of the oath he has taken in the case. I make these suggestions, believing if this plan was adopted, we would have more justice in our courts. Grand Jurors, latterly, in this county, have tried to make themselves popular by ignoring bills, and making the procentors pay the costs. The constitution and laws of this common monwealth guarantee protection to every citizen, in their person and property. By the action of this grand jury this woman was sentenced to pay the costs of the suit or be imprisoned three months in the county jail, and as neither she nor her husband were able to pay the costs, she had to submit to the latter punishment. The question is asked why this woman is thus treated? We answer, because she is poor—no other reason under the Heavens can be given—she wore acalico dress, a scuffed bonnet her shoes, and her entire outfit bespoke her poverty. She had committed no crime; there were no charges preferred against her, and there is nothing to show that she ever violated a law of this commonwealth in all her life. She had commonwealth in all her life. She had of the message of the research of the sum of this commonwealth in all her life. She had of the research of the re

THE SECOND TIME I SAW HER.

First part of this poem, entitled "Love at First Sight," can be had on application at Tower Hall.]

By the Bard of Tower Hall.

Tuesday last I had a toothache-Horrible beyond description— And cold steel was recommended As the very best prescription,
Sleep I wood, but, fickle goddess,
Opium could not cajole her;
I must on some dentai altar

Sacrifice the aching molar.

So, I hurried to a dentist;
Reached his office in despair;
Entered—Lo! before me sitting,
In the cushioned dental chair, Was the maid with golden ringlets
I on Chestnut Street had seen.
She who stole away and left me
In the car at "Tweifth and Green." Still upon her snowy shoulders

Fell the same hewitching curls;
But, alas! her "lips of coral"
Were no longer "couched on pearls."
Not a tooth had they to rest on,
And I saw, to my dismay,
That the pearls which blessed my vision Then upon the table lay.
She had had a tooth extracted,
And the pain had made her faint;
From her cheek the rose had vanished (?) On the towel was some paint! She was from the swoon reviving,
When, oh! horror! Shall I tell?
Through an effort made in sneezing
To the floor her ringlets fell!

On the head, by curls forsaken. Hair was starting, coarse and thick, But the shade was far from golden, 'Twas the color of a brick,
'rom my tooth, the pain departing,
Settled in my head and heart, As no dentist could extract it,
I made up my mind to start,
And I also made my mind up
That when I again did write,
I would caution fellow creatures "Gainst the drafts of Love on Sight.
Trusting that no one will mention
"Priceless Jewel," "Beauty's Queen,"
I can bear to hear of "Twelfth Street,"
But let no one utter—"Green!"

But let no one utter—"Green!"
It may be by some remembered,
And, perhaps, it may by all,
That the "ocean of my passion
Swallowed up the Tower Hall."
But the "waves of admiration"
Swell no more the ocean's dry!
Tower Hall is still existing,
Where you can your clothing buy—
Where, unlike the bard, you will be Safe although you chose on sight.

Safe although you chose on sight, For the prices are the lowest, And the garments always right. GARITEE, MASTEN & ALLEN. TOWER HAEL CLOTHING BAZAAR, Nos. 518 and 520 MARKET STREET.
