

quences. The Chinese had poisoned nearly all the streams around the Hong Kong, and it was only by watching, through telescopes, where the Chinese got their own water, that the ship captains could tell where to get theirs. The deepest possible hostility was raised to all foreigners, especially after the battle of the 3d of November.

From the Baltimore Sun.
THE RELATIONS BETWEEN ENGLAND AND AMERICA.—Remarks in the English newspapers are by the British Queen, intimate a strong feeling of distrust in a long continuance of the amicable relations existing between England and the United States. The North Eastern boundary question furnishes a fruitful theme, while the proposed blockade of the Chinese ports is brought in collaterally. Among the paragraphs not particularly pacific in their character, we find the following, from a Liverpool Journal: "We see enough in this dispute, to believe that circumstances may arise to place this question of peace or war beyond the power of any individual to control; and, therefore, the sooner effectual steps are taken to settle it, the better. The commissioner appointed by the British government to survey the disputed territory, returned from his mission two months ago, and as the question is one which admits of no delay, it is time we think that parliament and our country should know something of the result."

"The London Shipping Gazette," on the subject of the China difficulties, remarks: "If the course we pursue in the dispute with China, be found to be injurious to American commerce, there are elements already at work of a character sufficiently inflammable to render them not over fastidious or punctilious at finding out some real or imaginary line of distinction to be drawn between our proceedings and the French blockade in South America. We question, therefore, if we are ever and above secure against being involved in a quarrel, with the United States, if we proceed to the blockade of the ports of the Celestial Empire without declaring war. At all events, it will be wise in ministers to act with circumspection, and weigh well the probable consequences, before they are so far committed that they cannot retreat without a sacrifice of principle."

THE ELECTION.
NEW HAMPSHIRE TRUE TO HER PRINCIPLES.
The election has resulted in the complete triumph of democratic principles. Gov. Fairbanks is re-elected by an increased majority. Four of the five Counsellors and ten of the twelve Senators elected are true democrats, and the democratic majority in the House has been greatly increased. The opposition fought the battle here under the Harrison flag keeping their gubernatorial candidate almost out of sight; but the result is, that the democratic majority has been increased some one or two thousand, since Harrison was brought into the field. New Hampshire has given a glorious lead, and we doubt not her example will be followed not only throughout New England, but throughout the United States.—New Hampshire Patriot.

states that on the 8th inst. the dead body of a young girl named Susan Potter, daughter of John Potter, of Morgan county, (Va.) was found on the bank of the Potomac, where it had washed up during the freshet. She was about fourteen years of age, and has been missing since the 20th of January. The jury of inquest came to the conclusion that she "came to her death by the hands of some person or persons unknown to the jury." No doubt appears to exist that she was murdered, and a strong belief prevails that she was first brutally outraged.—Balt. Sun.

Fatal Affray.—An affray occurred at Tuscaloosa, Alabama, on the 9th inst., between Major John Cantley and Washington Moody, in which the former was killed by being shot with a double-barrel gun in the hands of the latter. The deceased left a family, consisting of a wife and seven children, in poverty. Moody surrendered himself to the authorities, and was released on giving bail.—Id.

MOTHERS AFTER ALL.
Colonel Ethan Allen, was a bold officer in the American Revolution.—He could face the enemies of his country with the most undaunted bravery, and in the field of battle he never shrunk from danger. But he was an opposer of Christianity, and gloried in the character of an infidel. His wife, however, was a pious woman, and taught her children in the ways of piety, while he told them it was delusion. But there was an hour coming when Col. Allen's confidence in his own sentiments would be closely tried. A beloved daughter was taken sick. He received a message that she was dying; he hastened to her bedside, anxious to hear her dying words.

"Father," said she, "I am about to die; shall I believe in the principles which you have taught me, or shall I believe what my mother has taught me?"

This was an affecting scene. The intrepid Colonel became extremely agitated; his chin quivered; his whole frame shook; and after waiting a few moments, he replied, "Believe as your mother has taught you."

COMMERCE.—The New York Evening Post remarks that freights were never higher than now are, at that place; that there is not sufficient tonnage now to transact the commerce by water, &c. The same may be said of this place. Instead of ships rotting at the wharves, as the Whigs have alleged was or would be the case, vessels which have been long laid by as unseaworthy, are drawn up to be repaired, and a number of large vessels are now on the stocks. These are indications of the approach of better times.—Balt. Rep.

SINGULAR AFFAIR.
A Mrs. Eliza McFarlane, of N. Orleans, has been arrested and held to bail in $1000 in consequence of having in her possession, and attempting to utter, a draft for $500, purporting to have been drawn by the Rev. J. N. Maffit, in favor of Mrs. McFarlane, dated at Cincinnati, on the house of Price, Johnson & Co. New Orleans, in whose hands the alleged drawer had no funds, and bearing on its face the acceptance of that firm, who pronounce the acceptance a forgery. The draft Mrs. McFarlane alleges she received in a letter from Mr. Maffit, but the writing does not appear to be his, though a close imitation of it.

Shortly after the receipt of the letter, the draft in question was handed by Mrs. McFarlane to a Dr. Hatridge, with a request that he would present it to the house of Price, Johnson & Co. for acceptance. He returned to Mrs. McFarlane's residence, and placed the draft upon the mantel-piece, observing that it had been accepted. At this time Mrs. McFarlane was unwell, and kept her room. Some time after this, the draft was placed in the hands of a Mr. Conklin, who was requested by Mrs. McFarlane to take it to a broker and get it shaved. The broker to whom it was offered, detected the forgery, and the consequence was the arrest of Mrs. McFarlane, as before stated. The unfortunate lady formerly conducted a religious paper at Natchez, and possesses much intelligence. It is altogether a very singular affair.—Amer. Sent.
