STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA. CUMBERLAND COUNTY, SS. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to Abraham Seavers, Jacob Senvers, David Seavers, George Seavers, George Helm, David Foreman, John Buchanan, and John Thrush, heirs at law of Mary Seavers, late of Dickinson township, deceased.

GREETING. Whereas Frederick Watts, Esq. Attorney for some of the heirs at law of Mary Seavers, late of Dickinson township, deceased, filed a paper in the Registers' Office of Cumberland county, requesting that a Registers' Court be convened for the determination of the validity of certain instruments of writing purporting to be the last will and testament of the said Mary Seavers, deceased. This is therefore to notify you that I have appointed a Registers' Court to be holden at the Registers' Office, in the borough of Carlisle, on Monday the 14th day of February, A. D. 1842, for the determination of the purposes aforesaid, when and where you are to attend, as follows:—

Valuable Property at PRIVATE SALE. THAT valuable property situated in Papertown, about five miles south of Carlisle, Pa., on the turnpike road leading from Carlisle to Baltimore, known by the name of the "UNION PAPER MILL," is offered for sale. It is one of the largest class of Mills, and has recently been thoroughly repaired and fitted up with new, and expensive machinery, in which the paper is dried on Steam-Cylinders.

MANSION HOUSE with the appurtenances for the accommodation of the manager—besides 3 substantial Tenements. Application can be made to Wm. B. Mullen on the premises, or to WM. B. KNOX, Attorney for the owners, Carlisle, October 28, 1841.

Dyspepsia of Ten Years Standing. I am truly happy to state to the afflicted community that a member of my family was afflicted for ten or twelve years with the above distressing disease. The symptoms were great oppression after eating, acidity at the stomach, a severe pain in the side and back, sick headache, mental despondency, with other symptoms during which time numerous remedies were procured without obtaining much relief.

JAMES R. KIRBY, Chamberburg, Pa. OFFICE for the sale of this Medicine, No. 10 NORTH EIGHTH STREET, Philadelphia. Also, for sale at the store of J. J. MYERS, Carlisle, and WILLIAM PEAL, Shippenburg.

SPECIAL COURT. BY virtue of a writ from the Hon. Anson V. Parsons, President Judge of the 12th Judicial District of Pennsylvania, bearing date at Carlisle, the 4th day of December, A. D. 1841.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a Special Court will be held by the said Hon. Anson V. Parsons, and the Associate Judges of the Court of Common Pleas of Cumberland county, at the Court House in the borough of Carlisle, commencing on Monday the 21st of February, A. D. 1842, to continue one week, for the trial of certain causes depending in the Court of Common Pleas of Cumberland county, in which the Hon. Samuel Hepburn was concerned as counsel for one of the parties, prior to his appointment as President Judge of the 9th Judicial District. Said causes being embraced within the provisions of the 29th section of an Act of the General Assembly, passed the 14th April, 1834, relative to the organization of Courts of Justice. Of said Special Court, Jurors and all persons concerned, will take notice.

The Young Shawnee's Farewell. Farewell Susquehanna, farewell noble stream, For the brown maiden's song, once the lofiest theme, I hear the waves dash thy grey pebble shore, And the leaves whisper o'er me, 'thou'lt hear them no more.

What charming music! Her breathing grew short—a gasp—she had joyfully passed on her way. She was dead.

Again there was a small and silent gathering. The last tribute of affectionate respect was about to be paid to the youthful dead.

The Naval establishment, including the general services of the Navy and the Marine Corps, $8,795,619.—Pennsylvania Inquirer.

LEAD.—In 1839, says the Savannah Georgian, lead was received at St. Louis, Mo., 375,000 pigs of 25 lbs. each, or 9,375,000 lbs. In 1840, 352,000 pigs, or 8,800,000 lbs., which is estimated at 34 cents per pound, giving for the whole a value of over two millions seven hundred thousand dollars, for less than three years. Most of this goes to New-Orleans, and is thence exported to the North or elsewhere.

The Deceased. "Mother, dear mother," and the dying girl's sweet voice trembled with emotion, "I have a message for Henry, and will you tell him when I am gone?"

"I will, Ellen, I will," and the widowed mother piltured her head beside her dying girl, and wept even like a child.

They were alone. Alas for the desolate heart of the dying poor—who shall sum its sorrows? Yet it was not always thus. Once prosperity had shed its brightest beams upon them, and the smile of friends, (the great and the gay, did gild their flowery paths.

"Tell him, dear mother, I will meet him in Heaven!" Souls, heart breaking, did burst from that mother's bosom. They passed away; and then was heard the low and fervent prayer.

"Not our will, but thine, O God! be done." Night drew on apace, and nought was heard in that silent chamber but the monotonous ticking of the clock and the rustling of the leafless tree against the old house, as they were driven by the cold autumn blast.

"What? my child?" and she wept with trembling hands the moisture of death from her brow.

"What charming music!" Her breathing grew short—a gasp—she had joyfully passed on her way. She was dead.

Again there was a small and silent gathering. The last tribute of affectionate respect was about to be paid to the youthful dead.

his long delay.

He had come for his idol. Himsell and the harvest of years of ceaseless toil were the offering. Well might he chide time. There was one who had come, and gone before him, and that one was Death! Even now had the retreating shadow fallen on him, chilling him like the winds of midwinter.

Again that name is heard in tones of awful earnest. But there is no response. A mist gathers before her eyes at the sight of his agony and she sinks before him.

"Tis a terrible sight to see a strong mind wrecked in its fondest hopes—to witness the struggle between hope and despair, in the heart that can fully realize its mighty loss.

Gradually, light dawned upon his darkened mind. Once, manhood forbade his tears; but now he wept freely. He had forgotten his God and Saviour, and sought happiness for his immortal soul on earth alone.

From the National Intelligencer. The subjoined Letter, addressed by a distinguished Representative in Congress to the President of the Senate of the State of Maryland, not only contains suggestions of a character very interesting to the People of that State, but may also afford valuable hints to the legislators of other States that find themselves at this moment in the same predicament as in Maryland:

To Richard Thomas, Esq. President of the Senate of Maryland: DEAR SIR: The great amount of the existing debt of our State and the consequent necessity of a resort to high taxation have excited a very intense interest amongst our people in the proceedings of the present Legislature.

"Tis a terrible sight to see a strong mind wrecked in its fondest hopes—to witness the struggle between hope and despair, in the heart that can fully realize its mighty loss.

this sum of $9,000,000 is all that remains as a charge upon the people requiring taxation to meet it. The assessment or valuation of all the taxable property of the State, real and personal, was estimated last year at $300,000,000. As this has been found to be too high, will, for the sake of illustration, set it down at $200,000,000.

Now, the first requisition of my plan is, that the assessment of the real estate be accurately determined, and that it be charged with its exact proportion of the whole debt to be provided for. For example, if the real estate constitute two-thirds of the whole assessment, let it be charged or encumbered with two-thirds of the debt.

prospect of this advantage may induce many to prefer a partial to the full exemption.

5. As these exemption funds are paid into the Treasury, they should be applied to the purchase of the State bonds; thus operating as a sinking fund in the State's own stock. And as foreign holders, having stock not redeemable for many years to come, might be willing to have it redeemed at once, it would be well to authorize the Treasurer to advertise abroad, whenever he thought proper to do so, that the bonds, to the extent of the means which should come into his hands, would be redeemed at par, if presented at the Treasury of Maryland, notwithstanding the period they had to run.
