

ADDRESS.

At the request of several of our military friends, we publish the following—being the farewell address delivered by Gen. Willis Foulk on taking leave of the 1st Battalion of Cumberland Volunteers, on the 10th of May.

BROTHER SOLDIERS AND FELLOW CITIZENS OF THE BATTALION.—I am about to dismiss the Battalion and to leave it, as its Commanding officer perhaps for ever; and I assure you I do so with no little regret, but with feelings painful in the extreme, having now served in it, as I believe faithfully, without missing a day's parade, except from sickness or other unavoidable cause, for about twenty years.

You no doubt, are aware that it has been decided, that it is improper for one and the same individual to hold the office of Brigade Inspector, and be at the same time commander of a separate corps. I am, and have been decidedly of a contrary opinion; yet, under present circumstances, I am content to acquiesce in the arrangement, and it has only been a matter of hesitation with me, for which of the two, (Brigade Inspector or Lieutenant Colonel) which I have had the honor to hold for the last seven years, I would allow my name to be used as a candidate, having been repeatedly solicited to allow it for the one and the other, and for both.

On this occasion, I deem it not out of place, but should it be thought so by others I hope they will do me the justice to believe, which I assure them is the fact, that it is intended for your good as military men and for the good of the Battalion—to give you a few words of advice. I therefore strenuously advise you, as you value your existence and honor as a military corps, to bury at once all spirit of discord or insubordination that may have been among you; let it emanate from whatever cause it may; for believe me, brother soldiers, no good can result to a junior by disobeying, or even disrespecting the orders of his senior, be they right or be they wrong.

Mr. Buchanan said he was the more ready to vote for the number suggested by him; which would give a House of about 200 members, because it left the largest fraction to his own State.

It is the part of a magnanimous soldier to forgive and forget injuries real or imaginary. We are not infallible, but mortals; and all liable to err; hence we should be tolerant and forgiving.

I leave you fellow soldiers without a feeling of ill will towards any one, and I hope that the mantle of charity may be thrown over any indiscretion I may have committed. With all my heart I wish you well, and entertain the kindest feelings towards you all; and I sincerely hope those feelings may long continue.

I now bid you an affectionate and, perhaps final farewell.

W. FOULK. Carlisle, May 10th, 1842.

MAINE.—The legislature of Maine is now in session, having been convened, specially, by the proclamation of the Governor. The object of the session is to take into consideration some propositions submitted or to be submitted by Lord Ashburton, the British envoy, for the final adjustment of the Maine Boundary Question.

Whatever may be the claim, however, of the General Government, as to its power through indirectness, it does not claim the power of ceding directly, any portion of our territory, or of directly agreeing to any other line of boundary than that described in the treaty of 1783.

The British Government, also, is now prepared to propose—for so I am disposed to regard the matter—what may be thought to be "a just and equitable equivalent" for a portion of that which she has heretofore claimed as her own. If this is not going as far as some may deem the honor of the State requires, it certainly is far less objectionable than most that we have been accustomed to receive from that quarter.

Twenty-seventh Congress. SECOND SESSION.

THURSDAY, May 26, 1842. In the Senate, Mr. Buchanan and several other Senators presented memorials in favor of protective duties.

Mr. Preston, a memorial in favor of an international copyright law, and made a few remarks in support of this proposition.

Mr. Bayard's resolution, proposing a select committee of five Senators to inquire into the best method of establishing a corps of Senatorial Reporters, was adopted.

Messrs. Bayard, Archer, Graham, Benton and Walker, were constituted the committee.

After some other unimportant business, the Senate took up the Apportionment Bill, took the same course as the House in their preliminary steps for filling the blank in the same—that is, different Senators furnished, respectively, their several favorite ratios, as follows:

Mr. Sevier proposed 77,000; Mr. White 76,000; Mr. Bagby 75,000; Mr. Bayard 74,000; Mr. Hunt 74,391; Mr. Merrick 72,854; Mr. Crafts 72,000; Mr. Buchanan 70,680; Mr. King 69,000; Mr. Evans 66,000; Mr. Graham 65,500; Mr. Tallmadge 62,579; Mr. Williams 62,500; Mr. Miller 62,000; Mr. Sturgeon 61,474; Mr. Young 59,506; Mr. Woodbury 56,746; Mr. Kerr 54,866; Mr. Porter 53,010; Mr. Wright 50,178.

Mr. Buchanan said he was the more ready to vote for the number suggested by him; which would give a House of about 200 members, because it left the largest fraction to his own State.

A very long and animated debate ensued as to which number of Representatives would be most conducive to the despatch of the public business, &c. in which Messrs. Sevier, Preston, Calhoun, Woodbury, Crittenden, Allen, Buchanan, Smith, and others participated.

Messrs. Calhoun, Sevier and Preston, advocated a high ratio, and Messrs. Crittenden and Woodbury a smaller one.

The Senate adjourned at near 5 o'clock without taking any question.

In the House, Mr. J. Irvin presented numerous tariff memorials from Union, Huntington, Centre, and Northumberland counties, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Levy offered the following resolution: Resolved, That the Secretary of War be directed to report to this House all correspondence between the present commanding officer of the United States Army in Florida and the Department of War; and all orders which have been issued from said department, in relation to the Indian hostilities.

And be it further resolved, That, in the opinion of this House, there ought to be no cessation of hostilities against the Seminoles in Florida, until the whole of said Indians shall have been effectually subdued.

acted in Florida, by the murder of a whole family. The letter was read. Mr. McKay hoped the gentleman would confine the resolution to the first of January last; which having been assented to by Mr. Levy, the resolution was adopted.

Several reports were made from committees. Mr. Hibard Hall, from a select committee, made a report in relation to the Commercial Bank of Boston, the purport of which could not be heard.

Mr. Gilmer in opposition, who continued to speak until about a quarter of four, when the committee rose, and The House adjourned.

FOREIGN NEWS.—The steamship Acadia arrived at Boston on Saturday week. She experienced very severe weather during her passage, and fell in with several ice-bergs, but sustained no damage.

The Duke of Wellington, who is now 75 years of age, is about to retire from public life. A serious difficulty occurred between the Emperor of Morocco and the American Consul at Tangier, Mr. Carr. The latter was recalled, and was about to take his departure, when the Moorish authorities refused to permit his departure, the Emperor had given an order to that effect.

The Courier Français states, on the faith of a letter from Toulon, that whilst vessels engaged in conveying slaves across the Atlantic are carefully watched, the same trade is being carried on in the Mediterranean with impunity—that slave markets are held in the regencies of Morocco and Tripoli towards the end of March, and that ships under the Greek and Ottoman flag transport a number of slaves to the Levant.

The British in China have taken possession of three towns, viz: Yapo, Teikok and Fungheva, in a circle embracing 30 or 40 miles from Ningpo.

The Chester "Upand Union" gives the following account of the loss of a schooner in the Delaware, accompanied by circumstances of a peculiarly infamous character: "The schooner Jesse M. Justice, belonging to Wm. McLaughlin & Son, of Marcus Hook, Delaware county, was lost on Monday the 9th inst. on Absecom bar. She was upset by a sudden blow of wind, the wife and child of Capt. McLaughlin was in the cabin at the time, and with difficulty escaped to the deck, when she found her husband and two of the crew overboard, and they regained the vessel. In this situation they were discovered by Capt. Bailly, of the schooner Mary & Eliza of Cape May. She anchored at some distance from them, sent her boat, took the lady, her child and two of the hands on board, the captain requested a few minutes to get his money, (about $200) out of the cabin, but was refused a moment's time by the mate, who evinced all the ferocity of a savage and the dishonesty of a pirate; his name is Maurice Carson. These inhuman wretches after having prevented the saving of any thing from the wreck, refused to let the crew on board the schooner Pioneer bound to Wilmington, and landed them at Egg Harbor, where they were but little better treated. Capt. M.L. thinks his vessel could have been readily saved if he had received any assistance, but being refused by the free booters he had fallen in with, he was forced to abandon her till next morning, when he found every thing stolen that could be removed. The vessel was worth $4,000 and we are informed without insurance."

ASSASSINATION.—Lieut. W. Boggs, late Governor of Missouri, was shot in his own dwelling, in Independence, in that state on the night of the 6th ult. He was sitting in an apartment alone, and a boy, his son, hearing a report, ran into the room, and found the Governor sitting in his chair, with his jaw fallen down, and his head leaning back on a covering; the injury done by his father, he gave the alarm. Foot tracks were found in the garden below the window, and a pistol picked up supposed to have been overloaded, and thrown from the hand who fired it. The St. Louis Era mentions that three buckshot, of a heavy load, took effect, one going through his mouth—one into the brain, and another probably in or near the brain—all going in, in the back part of the head and head. The Governor was still alive on the morning of the 7th; but no hopes of his recovery by his friends. A man was suspected, and the sheriff most probably has possession of him by this time.
