From the Washington Union Federalism Protracting the War.

We invite the attention of all patriotic citizens, of We have received, by the way of Tampice, our flet ris written, by a gentleman some time a resident in Mexico, entirely unconnected, with party dent in Mexico, entirely unconnected, with Party and dent in Mexico, entirely unconnected, with Mexico, entirely unconnected, by dent in M all parties, to the following statements, which we excauses which authority. His language is as follows:

"The government and the people of this country become more provid and ignorant daily, and of course more bind to their own interest. After the battle of Monterey, for the first time I heard the report circulated—which is their political creed at the present day—that their only-hope of final success was the prolongation of the war,; and this government come to that sonclusion from letters their friends forwarded them from the North, assuring them that there was such an opposition to the worr among the people and in the Congress of the United States; that if they would only prolong the war, without hazarding any battles, they would, in the end, be able to dictate a peace. This doctrine was promulgated by the papers in such a manner, that it finally became the universal belief throughout the country, and when I left the city of Mexico, the greatest crime that of their wish or intention to make peace with the United States."

Here we have stated, by an impartial and well-in-

When we call the attention of the country to such facts as are here set furth—when we enumerate, under their rightful and appropriate name, the various organs have systematically roused up Mexico against us—when we show these representatives of Federal spinion laboring so effectually to cry down their country's cause and the inen who sustain it, and the measures on which it must rely for success—when meep resent this faithful picture of Federalism, as a party in this country, we are told, in reply, that there are, notwithstanding all this antivities.
