PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE. fellow-citizens of the Senate and House of Represen

The annual meeting of Congress is always an inversing event. The Representatives of the States and of the people come fresh from their constituents to take counsel together for the common good. After an existence of near three-fourths of a century as a free and independent republic, the problem no longer remains to be selved, whether man is capable of self-government. The success of our admirable system is a conclusive refutation of the theories of those in other countries who maintain that "a favored few" has born to rule, and that the mass of mankind must be governed by force. Subject to no arbitary or hereditary authority, the people are the only sovereigns recognized by our Constitution. Numerous emigrants of every lineage and language, attracted by the civil and religious freedom we enjoy, and by our he civil and religious freedom we enjoy, and by our appy condition, annually crowd to our shores, and cansfer their heart, not less than their allegiance, to no country whose dominion belongs alone to the people:

No codintry has been so much favored, or should acknowledge with deeper reverence the manifestations of the Divine protection. An all-wise Creator directed and guarded us in our infant struggle for freedom, and has constantly watched over our surprising progress, until we have become one of the great nations of the earth.

nations of the earth.

It is in a country thus favored, and under a government in which the Executive and Legislative branches hold their attificity for limited periods, the from the people, and where all are responsible to their respective constituencies, that it is again my duty to communicate with Congress upon the state of the Union, and the present condition of public filtirs.

During the past year the most gratifying proofs re presented that our country has been blessed with wide spread and universal prosperity. There has een no period since the government was founded, then all the industrial pursuits of our people have can more successful, or when labor in all branches funioned that have received a fairer or buffer remark.

been more successful, or when labor in all branches of business has received a fairer or better reward.—
From our abundance we have been enabled to perform the pleasing duty of furnishing food for the starving millions of less invoiced countries.

In the enjoyment of the bountles of Providence at home, such as have rarely fallen to the lot of any people, it is cause of Congratifiation; that bur intercourse with all the Powers of the earth, except McXfco; continues to be of an amicable character.

It has ever been our cherished nolley to cultivate.
