

GEN. WM. O. HUNTER.

This distinguished gentleman was born in Jamaica county, Kentucky, in the month of March, 1791.

He was educated at Transylvania University, and graduated with high credit.

He was appointed to select one of the professions for life, when the wild alarm of the thrilling war rang through the land, the young stripling, yet in his minority, volunteered as a private soldier and rushed with the bold Kentucky regiment to the rescue of his country, then just sacrificed, and disgraced by the ignominious surrender of the army of the North West, by Gen. Hill.

After performing the most gallant acts at the battle of the River Raisin, he was wounded by a ball in the breast, and was finally taken prisoner with the remains of that brave but unfortunate army; the larger portion of which, fell victims to the ruthless tomahawk of the merciless Indian.

Our young hero was made a corporal by his company, and afterwards an ensign, by the Government. When released from his captivity, he was appointed Captain, and when his parole expired, he rejoined his brothers in arms, distinguished himself in many instances, and finally crowning himself with glory at New Orleans under the very eye of the immortal Jackson.

Speaking of one of his most daring deeds at New Orleans, General Call a political opponent says: "I witnessed on that field many deeds of daring courage—none of which excited my admiration more than his."

After the close of the war Captain Butler (who was now breveted Major) returned to his native tongue, left the pay of his country, and resigning his commission, returned to the cultivation of his paternal estate, and the pursuit of his quiet profession, for his support.

He was twice elected a member of Congress from his district which he changed from the Whig to the Democratic side, where, we believe it has since remained. He obtained a high position as a debater as well as a business man in the House.

On the opening of the Mexican war, his military knowledge, his high standing in the country, pointed him out at once to the President as one worthy qualified to be raised to a prominent command, and he was accordingly appointed a Major General.

His illustrious career, its growing glory, with his brilliant conduct at Monterey are well known to the whole country. At Monterey he was severely wounded by a grape shot, from the effects of which he had nearly recovered when at his own request he was sent home, and he died on the 10th of July, 1848, in the arms of his family.

He is now Commander-in-Chief of the army in Mexico, of his high fitness for which, his renowned predecessor, Gen. Scott, gave the most ample testimonials, when he devolved the command upon him.

Gen. Butler is a finished scholar, as well in science and ethics as in belles-lettres. His mind is highly cultivated, and from his pen have flown some odes, and epigrams which will do credit to the pen of the poet, M. De Lamartine. General Butler is and has been a sound, firm and consistent Democratic Republican of the old school, and will beyond doubt be the next Vice President of the United States.

We rejoice to announce that the following bill passed the House of Representatives on Thursday last. On Shame where is thy Shame—A Horse for the Federal Convention at Philadelphia a Mr. COLLIER of Ohio, spoke as follows: "Why sir, when the victories achieved by Gen. Taylor on the 8th and 9th of May, first came to Ohio, to that part of Ohio I have the honor to represent it, it was hailed with such enthusiasm, that it was anticipated that we could have at once elected old Zack President of the United States, and his WHITE CHARGER VICE PRESIDENT."

The history of the world presents but one case of fanaticism and folly equal to that which was the cause of the most atrocious, impious and cruel of all the Roman Emperors, Caligula, who proclaimed his horse consul, fed him at his own table with himself, and made his subjects worship him.

Such a blind and foolish enthusiasm, for mere military renown, by his Whig friends, we fear will break the heart of poor Harry Clay.

Democratic Union.

BROWNLOW ON GENERAL TAYLOR.—Brownlow has celebrated "Whig preacher and partisan of Tennessee, and editor of the Jonesboro Whig has the following proclamation of his own purposes towards Gen. Taylor:

"If Gen. Taylor is nominated for the Presidency by all the Conventions that can meet in this, and if he is the last and only candidate that ever the people have between this time and the day of judgment, we will not support him on any vote for him."

The Franklin Review, of the same State, says that this declaration of Brownlow "expresses the determination of a large number of East Tennessee Whigs."

THE PATRIOT MITCHELL.—The New York Herald

announces the arrival in that city of William Mitchell, said to be the brother of John Mitchell, the Irish patriot.

WESTMORELAND.—The Democrats of Westmoreland have placed in nomination for Congress, (subject to the decision of Bedford and Cambria,) J. M. Durrell, Senator, (subject to the decision of Somerset,) John Snodgrass.

"The 'SABER OOD COON'" is the title of a journal just started in New York by the Clay Whigs to oppose the election of Taylor.

JOSEPH T. BUCKENHAM, editor of the Boston Courier, has retired from the editorial field. The Courier opposed the nomination of Gen. Taylor, and the editor's views could not be changed, consequently his part of the paper was purchased for $25,000.

The Bill preventing the importation of adulterated drugs, has passed both Houses. Its provisions are most effectual—requiring inspection and chemical analysis by persons perfectly competent, at the custom house, before entering.

In General Taylor's letter to J. R. Ingersoll, of Philadelphia, he says that "he greatly doubts his want of the necessary qualifications" for the Presidency.

DIED.

On the morning of the 25th, after a lingering illness, Miss MARGARET LOGAN, of Frankfort township, aged about 93 years.

OBITUARY.

Died, in this Borough, on the 31st at the residence of her father, Miss ELLEN ANSON, in the eighteenth year of her age. We are rarely called upon to record a more beautiful example of youthful piety, than that furnished by the subject of this notice.

Before she was ten years of age she began to converse with God; and so delicate were her moral sensibilities to afflict and often thereby to purify her nature, until her spirits glowed with something of the transparent brightness of the unsexed and the unutterable. Being a young and darling daughter, who never had a wish ungratified, she had much to be desired, but yet there has, perhaps, never been a more perfect instance of sweet and touching resignation to the will of God, than she presented.

In a letter to the writer, during the last winter, she said: "The days I may yet live, I will spend in my sick room, have been to me the pleasant part of my life. Here, all alone, I commune with God; My couch is the worst, but there are many who had a worse one; and when Jesus suffered so much for me, I should not complain. He gives me patience to await his will. He has taken me from the world, and placed me in a better one; but I can glorify him as much by suffering here, as if I were out in the world. And thus, I much fear, I shall be tempted here, how much I would wish to resist him. During her illness she would lay her hand on her heart and say, 'Oh, how I do rejoice with me for I am going home.'"

To a dear friend she said, "I want to tell you how precious is my soul; as my bodily strength fails, I find my still nearer to me. I am afraid I am in the strong desire to have to depart, but it is not to be freed from pain, but to be with Jesus." She suffered from hunger and thirst for two days, but hunger, replied, smiling, "I shall soon be where there is no hunger or thirsting." "The Sabbath before her death she said, 'This is my last Sabbath on earth, the next I will spend in heaven, where the Sabbath is no end.' A little while before her death, when she was sinking rapidly, her father said to her, "My dear you are now on the brink of Jordan, how do you feel?" Laying her hand on her head, she said, "Christ is here all well." When he asked her to recite the Lord's Prayer, she replied, "Yes, brighter and brighter." When it was thought that the power of speech was gone, she suddenly exclaimed, in a clear and distinct voice, "I am a King's daughter; not a earthly king's but Jesus'." Having said these words, she sweetly fell asleep. Her life was a lovely exhibition of the purity and trust with which a young Christian may live; and her death, of the peace and triumph in which a young Christian may die.

THE Dedication of St. John's Church, in Franklin township, York county, three miles south of Dillsburg, will take place on Sunday the 30th of July next. German and English preaching will be conducted on Saturday and Sunday. The friends of religion are invited to attend.

Notice to Tax Payers.

UNDER the provisions of the act of 1844, any County paying into the State Treasury, the State tax levied on such county, prior to the 15th of July in any year; is entitled to an abatement of 5 per cent on the amount so paid.

The undersigned, Commissioners of Cumberland county, in view of the above provisions, consider it equitable and proper that those, who by the prompt payment of their taxes prior to the above date, enable the Treasurer to pay over the State tax, so as to receive the aforesaid abatement of 5 per cent, on the amount of their taxes, should be allowed a deduction of that amount by the collector—have authorized the different collectors to make said abatements in all cases where the State and County tax is paid to the collector prior to the 15th of July, 1848, when said abatement shall amount to one cent or more; no fractions of a cent to be credited.

Since the act of 1844, the Commissioners have paid the State tax of this county annually to the State Treasurer, within the time prescribed by the act, and the county has received the benefit of an abatement of five per cent, thereon, but to meet said deficiency they have found it necessary heretofore to appropriate a part of the county funds to meet the deficiency occasioned by delinquents, until the balance of the State tax was collected. It therefore becomes necessary to require the payment of both State and County tax to entitle the payer to the aforesaid abatement of five per cent.

The undersigned, therefore, confidently anticipate that the above arrangement, and all the further instructions of the State and County tax prior to the 15th of July next.
