

THE VOLUNTEER.

John E. Dietrich, Editor and Proprietor.
CARLISLE, THURSDAY, NOV. 23, 1850.

AGENCY.
D. R. PALMER, Esq., is our authorized Agent for various advertisements, renewals, &c., &c., &c., &c., &c., for the American Volunteer, at his office, 101 Market Street, Philadelphia.

NOTICE.
A sermon will be preached by the Rev.
Mr. Wm. F. Palmer, D.D., in the M. E. Church of this borough, on Wednesday 29th inst., at 6 o'clock P.M.

Godey's Lady's Book.—We have received the December number of this most excellent and popular magazine. This number contains a correct likeness of Grace Greenwood, together with many other superb engravings and cuts. Godey deserves great credit for the manner in which he conducts his Book. We consider it one of the very best periodicals in this country. Should any of our readers desire to examine Godey's Lady's Book before subscribing, by calling at our office they can be accommodated.
After they see it, we feel satisfied they will become subscribers. We shall publish the prospectus for this superior work shortly.

Death of Capt. Morton.—Capt. Robt. H. Morton, who has twice been the Native American candidate for Canal Commissioner, died at his residence in Harrisburg, on Monday morning. He was much esteemed.

Capt. William M. Merriweather, James Irvin, James Cooper, Townsend Haines, Charles B. Penrose, Thaddeus Stevens, and some half dozen other gentlemen, are named as the Native Whig Federal candidates for United States Senator.

After the Spoils.—Some five or six of the "original Taylor men" of this borough, are named as applicants for the Carlisle Post-office. What patriots our Federal friends are. Before the election they were constantly upholding the Democrats by terming their "office seekers," but no sooner has the election resulted in favor of Federalism than we will see a grand scramble for "the spoils." Such is Federalism.

Notch things for the Tooley.—William Webb has recently opened at his room in Main street, a very large and superior assortment of perfumes, brushes, combs, &c., &c., to which we would invite attention.
Everything necessary for the toilet may be had of him, and of a quality which cannot be surpassed.— See his card in another column, and then call at his store, if you desire anything in line.

Fair in Shippensburg.—A small building, occupied by Richard Baker, a colored man, as an Oyster house, in the borough of Shippensburg, was entirely destroyed by fire on Monday night last. How the fire originated is not known, but it is supposed to have been the work of some cowardly incendiary.

Cashier Deposite Bank.—At an election held at the banking house, in this borough, on Monday last,
the following named gentlemen were elected Directors of the Carlisle Deposit Bank, for the ensuing year, viz.—James H. Graham, Richard Parker, John Zug, Thos. C. Miller, William Ker, Jacob Leiby, Robert Moore, Geo. W. Shoaf, Charles Ogilby.

Vote for President.—In to day's paper we publish the official vote of this State for President, by which it will be seen that Taylor's majority over Cass is 13,399—over Cass and Van Buren united 2,265.
As soon as we receive the official vote of the several States, we shall publish the same as a master of future reference. We think the result will be as we stated in our last, viz.—Electoral votes for Taylor, 160 —for Cass 127—for Van Buren 0: Florida to hear from.

"C." We regret to learn that Col. May—now in command at the Carlisle Barracks—in jumping from his carriage a few days since, broke a bone in his right leg. The limb is very painful, but we are pleased to learn it is healing rapidly.

Monument to Francis R. Shunk.

Daniel Far, Esq., the worthy Chairman of the Executive Committee for collecting contributions for the erection of a "substantial marble monument" over the remains of Ex-Governor Shunk, at the Trappe, in Montgomery county—has published a list of the collectors appointed for the purpose throughout the State. Capt. George Sanderson, and Samuel Wherry, Esq., are the collectors for this county.— Many and consecrated are the ends that endear the memory of Francis R. Shunk to the people of Pennsylvania; and hundreds will doubtless esteem it both a pride, and a pleasure to contribute to an object, so entitledly proper and patriotic.

"C" The Herald still appears troubled about the answer we gave it to the question—"Has the Volunteer ever heard of Gen. Taylor using his slaves with cruelty?" The answer we made at the time, may appear "foolish and absurd" to some, and "a black calumny" to others, but we are prepared to prove our statement true to the letter. Now we can tell the Herald, and the other papers that have volunteered to defend Gen. Taylor, that the fact of him (Gen. T.) having once whipped his slave with a raw hide, would not be considered at all out of the way in the South. Had our neighbor of the Herald ever lived in a Slave State, as we have, he would have condoned our answer to his question quite reasonable.— The answer we made to the Herald's question would not be calculated to injure Gen. Taylor at the South —it would be considered no slander there. But, our only object in commencing this article was to inform our neighbor that we are prepared at any time to prove that our answer was literally true, and we will wager any amount the Herald may name, that we can prove it true.

"C" The Herald thinks that the defeat of the Democratic party has given us fits. Don't be alarmed about our health, neighbor. We have been disappointed. It is true, but we hope to live long enough to give fits to our Federal opponents.

Taylor beaten at home.—The majority for Gen.
Cass over General Taylor at Baton Rouge is six.— General Cass is ahead in his own ward, his own town, his own county, and, to cap the climax, in General Taylor's own home! Thus, where both are best known, Cass is best liked—believed to be best qualified, the doubtless is, for President of the U.
States. This, perhaps, is a crumb of food for the reaction of those who voted for Taylor without a why or wherefore—and, indeed, for those who voted for him at all.

How High Clay.—It is stated in a Louisville paper that Mr. Clay did not vote at the recent presidential election.

Glory of the Rank and File.—Glory has one of the properties of heat—that it is with great difficulty communicated downward. The rank and file are bound to be satisfied, if they return from a war with all their pay and half their limbs.

Contempt or Covet.—Judge Breckinridge, once Gen. Jacksop's private secretary, and his son, were each fined one hundred dollars and costs by Judge Fulton of Pittsburg, on Tuesday, for contempt of the Criminal Court in that city.

Lester Sweenzy.—The Savannah Republican of the 8th inst., perpetuates the following joke:—"It will be seen by reference to our telegraphic head that Mr. Calhoun took enfuu yesterday, about six o'clock P. M., whereupon 129 members of the South Carolina Legislature sneezed."

GEN. TAYLOR'S CABINET.

The Federal journals are now engaged in fixing up a Cabinet for Gen. Taylor. Before the election we were told, by these same Federal papers that Gen. Taylor would make appointments from both parties—that he would proscribe no men because of his political opinions, and they quoted the General's own letter in proof of the assertion. But, since the election the Federal papers have changed their tune —they say the idea that Gen. T. intends to appoint competent Democrats to office; and in naming men for his cabinet officers, they propose none but rabid red-Whigs. Many Democrats in Pennsylvania were soft enough to believe that Gen. Taylor's Whig friends were sincere when they assured the people that he (Gen. T.) would not, in case of his election, be a party President. Many Democrats, we say, believed this declaration, and supported Gen. T. because of their belief. That they have been deceived and duped, is very evident from the tone of the Federal press at this time. We always feel inclined to pity a man who has been deceived by corrupt and designing demagogues, but for such Democrats as voted for Gen. Taylor, because they believed he was not a party man, we have no pity. They deserve the contempt of all. They may yet perhaps learn lesson from experience.

We shall be much disappointed if President Taylor's administration is not one of the most proprie-tive we have ever had. It is true, before the election Gen. Taylor, in many of his letters, assured us that he would not be the "President of a party; and his leading Federal friends shouted "Amidst the sentiment. But this was more ruse—a trap for unsurpecting Democrats to be caught in.

Should Gen. Taylor, however, adhere to his former declarations, and act independent of the Whig party, and push aside those who would dictate him—he should, in forming his cabinet, select men from both parties, and in distributing his favors give to each party alike, then will we say that he has been faithful to his declarations, and honest in intention when he declared that he would not be "a party President." The formation of his cabinet will be evidences whether he was sincere when he made those declarations. We have to confide, however, in the belief that he will adhere to his former expressed opinions, and still less confidence have we in his Whig friends. In our opinion, General Taylor will select for his cabinet, and for all offices of trust and profit, Whigs alone, notwithstanding his former professions to the contrary. He must either contradict himself, or fall out with the Whig party. We care very little which horn of dilemma he may seize.— We shall see what we shall see.

THE GUILLOTINE AND THE HEADSMAN.

The North American is having the guillotine made ready, for General Taylor's especial use, and offers itself as the Chief Headsmen in the following very amusing language:

Cashier Deposite Bank.—At an election held at the banking house, in this borough, on Monday last,
the following named gentlemen were elected Directors of the Carlisle Deposit Bank, for the ensuing year, viz.—James H. Graham, Richard Parker, John

Democracy can also punish for ingratitude and disloyal falsehood.

General Taylor will find the guillotine and the headsmen made ready for him by his ingenuous friends when he reaches Washington. He may, gods may not, employ them to the extent in which the North American desires. But, since the election the Federal press have changed their tune.

CRIMINAL COURT.

The Quarter Sessions commenced on Monday of last week. The following cases were disposed of:
Commonwealth vs. Samuel Clark.—Assault and Battery.—On oath of Elizabeth Bowman. True bill.
The defendant in this case was tried at the August Term for the same offence and convicted. The verdict was set aside by the Court, and defendant entered into recognizance for his appearance at the next Term. The alleged offence was committed on a little girl who resided with the defendant. She was a turbulent child, and the defendant had been proper to chastise her severely with a small raw-hide. The defendant was acquitted and the court to pay the costs of prosecution.

Commonwealth vs. Rachael Shoemaker, (colored).— Malicious Mischief.—On oath of Michael Snyder.
Rachael had beaten on a "spec," and out late at night.
The evidence had a quinting that Rachael entertained spite towards Michael, and had broken in his window from malicious motives. The defence insisted that she had broken in the window for the purpose of throwing a stone at Michael, and if the said Rachael had thrown the stone, and broken in the window, (which was doubted,) as Michael had a small tea party at his house that evening, and had been playing the violin most lustily, she may have taken offence from being left out of the card of invitation, and concluded she would take a benger on her own hook. It appeared about as "clear as mud" on both sides, and the jury rendered a verdict of "not guilty," but nothing about the costs.

Commonwealth vs. George Hamill.—Robbery.—On oath of Timothy McCarty. Timothy was lured down on the evening of the alleged robbery, and if he was not rich, he felt so, and waking up in the morning without a cent, naturally concluded he had been robbed. As he had met Mr. Hamill, or Mr. Hamill had met him, Tim did not know exactly which, the preceding evening, and they had taken some of the papers in your part of the country are denouncing me as a Native American and in favor of their principles, because they have made use of my name as their candidate for the Presidency; and also that I am opposed to the exercise of the elective franchise by foreigners as well as Americans, and they deserve the honor of the country for the courteous, and fidelity with which they have defended her interests and honor.

Gen. Taylor and the Native-Americans.
The following is the letter of Gen. Taylor, which appeared in the New York Tribune, but one day after the Presidential election. Mark the date of the letter:

BALTIMORE, July 13, 1848.

Dear Sir—I have the honor of acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 24th ult., stating that some of the papers in your part of the country are denouncing me as a Native American and in favor of their principles, because they have made use of my name as their candidate for the Presidency; and also
that I am opposed to the exercise of the elective franchise by foreigners as well as Americans, and they deserve the honor of the country for the courteous, and fidelity with which they have defended her
interests and honor.

With my best wishes for your health and prosperity, I am sincerely yours, &c.

Z. TAYLOR.

Queer Figures.
Or all the queer figures at the late extraordinary election, the following comparison, says the Pennsylvaniaian, made by the Bulletin, of the news of New York and Philadelphia cities and counties, is the queerest:

Full vote of New-York, 53,158.
"Do Philadelphia," 53,167.

When we consider the difference in favor of New York, in population, as compared with Philadelphia, we may then find out where all the great Taylor majories in the city and county came from on the time of their election to the executive chair:

Ages.

1. Washington, 57. 7. Jackson, 54.
John Adams, 61. 8. Van Buren, 54.
2. Jefferson, 57. 9. Harrison, 67.
Madison, 57. 10. Tyler, 49.
Monroe, 57. 11. Polk, 44.
John Q. Adams, 57. 12. Taylor, 64.

The average of the above ages is about 57½ years, and it is a curious circumstance that five of our twelve Presidents have been of the age of 57 at the time of their election. Harrisson was the oldest of the Presidents and Polk the youngest when elected.

A SCENE IN COURT.

It was announced in a despatch from Pittsburg, which came through the telegraph, that Judge Breckinridge and his son had been fined for contempt of Court. The Pittsburg Despatch relates the following scene as the cause of it:

Two women were some time since prosecuted for a conspiracy to seduce a young girl named Parsons; it seems that the Grand Jury upon the evidence of the girl, inserted the name of Morgan Brackenridge in the bill of indictment, which was found "a true bill."

Mr. Brackenridge yesterday appeared in Court, and his father (Hon. H. M. Brackenridge), asked the Court to enter a rule procedere in causa, alleging that the child had been taken away from him by his son, to compromise the case, from his son, to the defendant finding the Brackenridge's incorrigible, first threw a chip up against the window, then a brick through the window, and then a turnip, to the great damage and annoyance of the prosecutor.

The jury found the defendant guilty in manner and form as he stood indicted, and the court recognizing him as an old acquaintance, sentenced him to 30 days imprisonment, to pay the costs of prosecution, and find security for his good behavior for the period of one year.

Commonwealth vs. John Hendel.—Surety of the Peace.—On oath of Col. Samuel Bronizer. This case was exceedingly riot, but too serious to make a joke of.
Hendel had called after Bronizer in the street and unloosed his shirt, and made a joke of him.

The defendant finding the Bronizer's incorrigible, first threw a chip up against the window, then a<br
