POLITICAL BARGAINING

The impudent assurance with which the Federal union of the Federal and Native parties, induced some to believe that the Federalists were honest in their declarations. But, alas for those who put faith in the sayings of Federal editors and orators.

It will be remembered that shortly before the Govern or a clection the Domocratic party accused their old poponents of birgaining with the Native American party for a quit proque. The charge was any of the leading Federal papers—it was denied by the very men who were parties to the bargain and the table to was written at Williams and the parties and the declaration of the very day of the election by the very men who were parties to the bargain and the parties and to understand that the very men who were parties to the bargain and the parties and the very men who were parties to the bargai apers, previous to the late election, disclaimed a such dishonorable acts as this? The Foderalists are afraid to give open countenance to the political doctrines of the Natives—on the contrary they professed to abhor the proscriptive spirit of Nativeism—but yet they will agree to divide the spoils with that faction they will be the spoil to the spoil t in consideration of receiving the Nulive vote! Nay, sent fo General Toylor to sign!" Proof—the Hon. More rapid than eagles his course is they came, more, the so-called "Whig " party, in their barguin D. R.
