assess for an explanation. The other, somewhat absahed, but warming with his theme, contrived at last to state the case as it was, and to say, that he whad not expected so severe, so public and so per-isonal an issant from one to whom he had always looked up with such admiration, friendship, and ca-teen."

few seconds, and mustering all his courage for the effort, he commenced.

asked for an explanation.

The Doctor was at once amused, pained, and aston-ished, and hastened to disabuse the mind of his friend. He assured him that he labored under a friend. He assured him that he labored under a gross mistake, that the discourse was general, and that he had not intended it for any particular indi-vidual. Indeed, he had not for a moment supposed that the complainant was liable to such censure, and hoped that his self application, and self rebuke in this instance, were unjust. The effect may be imagined. The excited and self condemned member was at once confused and rolioved-confused at the indirect acknowledgment of his own weaknesses and vices, and relieved be-cause he had not been singled out and reluxed in the ECHO AND THE LOVER. The following elegant bagatelle was the pro-duction of Dr. JOHN M. HARNEY, who died at Bards town, Ky., in 1825 : -Echo ! mysterious nympth declare, Of what you're made and what you are-

Echo Lover-Mid airy cliffs and places high, Sweet Echo! listening, love, you Echo-Lover-Thou dost resuscitate dead sounds And castles boilt in air; Your heart was like a feather, And mine weighed down with care. To you came wealth with manhood's prime, To me it brought alloys-Foreshadowing in the primrose time, When you and I were boys.

Hark ! how my voice revives, resounds ! Echo-Zeunds
