Don't you remember Lily, dear,
The mill by the old hill side,
Where we used to go in summer time
And watch the foaming ide;
On its breast so smooth and bright,
Where they floated away like come
In a flood of golden light?

And the millor, love, with his slouchy cap,
And uyes of mildest gray,
Puddling about his dusty work,
Singing the live-long day?
And that cont hung on the rusty nati,
With many's musty putch,
And the rude od door with its broken sill,
And the string and the wooden latch?
Lity, dear,

And the water wheel, with its glunt arms,
Dashing the beaded spray,
And the weeds are pulled from the saud below
And tyssed in scorn away:
And the strength is corn away:
And the strength is stood in pride,
Breasting the waves where the chinks of time
Were made in the old mill's side.
Lity, dear I
