makes the dress decrease the blood of our mer makes. The property of the control of the property of the proper bit that his child hath forsaicen und turn or nor na-tion, and his heart burns with angor against the children and his hath vowed that ore the moon shall again, rise above the brow of the distant mountain, his shall look down upon the dead bedies of thy frathing. Go then and warn them ere it be too late. A learned young lady being asked at tea table if she ever used sugar, replied:

"I have a diabolical, invincible repugnance to sugar, for to my insensible cogitations upon the sugar nullifies the flavosity of the sugar nullifies the fire, the state of the country of th or of the Dolty. Our benevolence, as far as it is own ing to the latter, into the former, is not virtue, but a desire of fame and distinction; as far as it is owing to the latter, int is a wirtue, but virtue founded upon the love of God. Joy undoubtedly, like the light of the sun, nover rebounds so strongly back again upon our reserves, as when it comes reflected to us from others. The grosser pleasures soon flatten upon the love," as Rabelais describes it. To take a connect when they essent and grow insipid to a well turned mind; but then most exquisite and delicate, as well as most lasting touches of pleasure, when we communicate it in any great degree, to those about us.

A poor scamp left his wife in a great rage, de-claring that she should never see his face until he was rich enough to come back in a carriage. He kept his word, for in two hours he was brought home richly drunk on a wheelbarrow.

A fellow was doubting whether or not he should Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire of these.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire temper, and very indifferent to the fact of these.

Molawk chief and his warriors have tasted the fire tasted the fire tasted have tasted have and have tasted have a tas

EVIL EFFROTS OF SOLITUDE.—It is too commonly considered an evidence of superiority when a man retires into the country, apart from general association, over though he seem to desire nothing, to at ton, over though he seem to desire nothing. Yet scarce it anything can be more prejudicial to the heart and understanding than a life of loneliness, without requiring or seeking the sympathy of others; and how soon such hermits might generally say of them, solves, like Scarron, "I am a little provish, a little gluttonous, and a little idie!" Solitary more living entirely alone, become almost invariably prodigious enters, very positive, very fond of money, very violent in their temper, and very indifferent to the feelings or to the fate of others. Real happiness.

To stop a runaway horse, throw the pans at him, which will so increase his speed, that in a short with the solitance of the same of the same and the speed of the same of the s EVIL EFFECTS OF SOLITUDE.-It is too common!

St Army, supposing his favorite horse dead, or-dired an Irishman to go and skin him.

1-4 What! is Silver-tail dead?" asked Pat.

Parliamentary speeches are interred.

Obseving Orders.—A certain General of the U.

An unfortunate landlord, going to collect rents, should be amended so that the law should take effect "from and after its publication in the 'lows sent his servant forward to prepare his tonants for Free Democrat,' a prominent free soil paper. A the visit. On reaching the first home, and weining his favorite horse dead, or migority of both houses adopted the amendment without suspicion: When we add that the law deavering to gain admittance, he said:

"What is Silver-tail dead?" asked Pat. we add that the law need to be told the reason. We are told that the law editor of the Free Democrat was heard profanely to exclaim when the bill had passed, that he would see the Legislature in a place not set down in any of the geographies, before he would publish the infernal law.

"No, yer taken effect our readers will hardly need to be told the reason. We are told that the editor of the Free Democrat was heard profanely to exclaim when the bill had passed, that he would see the Legislature in a place not set down in any of the geographies, before he would publish the infernal law.

"Charles." ****

"Charles." ***

"Charles." ****

"Charles." ****

"Charles." ****

"Charles." ***

"Charles."

were working in a saw mill, "what possesses you associate with such girls as you do? When I was of your age, I could go with the first cut."—
"The first cut," said the son, as he assisted the old

A newshoy was heard to say that he had given to say the say that say the say that say the say that say the say that say that say the say that say the say that say the say that say th

DIFF.

CALLES CONTROLLED BY A PERSONAL AND EL 1985.

CALLES CONTROLL

"I don't know, master," was the reply, " but the tenant evidently has."

The Maryland Convention have decided to abolish lotteries after April, 1859,

Mr. Wright, one of the Congressmen from Cali-fornia, and Gen. H. Walbridge are in London now, showing rich specimens of California ore, a quarte rock mashing machine, and striving to sell stock.

was or your age, I could go with the first out."

"The first out," said the son, as he assisted the old man in rolling over a log, "is always the slab."

Jefferson said of Monroe, that he was a man whose soul might be turned wrong side ontwards without discovering a blemish to the world,

A newshow was a very large that the was a man whose soul might be turned wrong side on twards without discovering a blemish to the world,

A Good Prace son Shormarrs.—Three isdies, residing in the village of Glen Cove, Queen county, N. Y., recently presented their spouses with twies on