CARLISLE, PA., THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1852.

NO. 6.

BY JOHN D. BRATTON.

ued angry and her mother still continued weeping.

They were all three seated in the parlor-Mr. They were all three seated in the parlor—Mr. Moore was arranging the fire—when this was concluded, he threw the tongs from him, snatched a book from the mantel, and opened it abruptly; but after a moment's perusal, he closed it again, in a violent humor, cast a fierce glance at his trembling wife, and hurrically rose from his chair, Rosanna, deeply moved, clasped her arms about his neck, as he was about to rise, and affectionatehis neck, as he was about to rise, and affectionately, careased him. He could not reject her innocent coaxing, and the little girl thinking she had succeeded in touching his heart, took in her hands the moistened handkerchief wherewith her mother had been drying her weeping oyes, and dried them in second time therewith; she then tenderly embraced her mother, who returned her affectionate careas with all a mother's fondness.

The parties being now favorably disposed, naught remained but to establish the peace. This was no casy matter—neither would make the first overture—and without the penetration of little Rose, the reconciliation would not then have taken place. She took her father's hand between her own little hands and pressed it to her bosom; she then

| The content of the

"All this delay from day to day,
Arroars of work amasses, oh!
By suni on suni, till August's come,
When members droop like Asses, oh!
Loud bray the Asses, oh!
Loud bray, the Asses, oh!
While business walls amid debates, could now neither see nor smell them, he said, ropeatedly.—" My beautiful flowers, my lovely flowers." It is son sank into a tranquil sleep, which was to be to him the repose of death. His respiration gradually became less regular, but his features calmer and more heavenly. The family were ranged round the bed when the physician entered. Soon a slight convulsion passed over the face, and the physician said "That is death." The spirit had departed! All sank, praying, on their knees. Richter was buried by terchlight: the unfinished. manuscript of Selind was berne on his coffin, and Elepstock's noble ode, "Thou shalt arise my Soul," was song over his remains at the burief Yault.

nains at the burial vault.

Loud bray the Asses, oh!

Loud bray the Asses, oh!

Loud bray the Asses, oh!

While business waits amid debates,
And so the acselon passes, oh!

THE AMERICAN LANGUAGE.—An Englisman person and the acselon passes, oh!

THE AMERICAN LANGUAGE.—An Englisman person and the acselon passes, oh!

THE AMERICAN LANGUAGE.—An Englisman person and the acselon passes, oh!

THE AMERICAN LANGUAGE.—An Englisman person and the acselon passes, oh!

THE AMERICAN LANGUAGE.—An Englisman person and the acselon passes, oh!

THE AMERICAN LANGUAGE.—An Englisman person and the acselon passes, oh!

THE AMERICAN LANGUAGE.—An Englisman person and men have no tails, and you will perhaps, of they cannot treat it better. "English language it they cannot treat it better." "English language it its is not a very illogical inference that there are birds without tails, and you will perhaps grant the tis is not a very illogical inference that there are birds without tails. There is a variety of cats may be men with tails. There is a variety of cats may be men with tails. There is a variety of cats its that have no tails. A friend of mine, a distinguished naturalist, had such a cat, which died, it believe of a surfeit; and he has now the skeleton in his museum, and it has no more tail than I suppose you have, Mr. Editor.

The Elder Knapp, while preaching recently in the condition of t

DEGREES OF DRUNKENNESS.—If Princo Albert were drunk he would be called clats; if Lord Tristam were drunk he would be called clats; if Lord Tristam were drunk he would be called clats; if Lord Nr. Plum, the rich merchant, were drunk, he would be called incortant by the called incortant of the deacone to pass the contribution boxes, saying in liquor, it would be said that the nasty beast was as drunk as a pig.—Punch.

Veny Particular.—The Cincinnatt Commer.

About forty dellars was raised. He then finished his germen.

in order to be betruthed. Some priests perform this ceremony in their robuss-some imes even in church and after the old formulary for betrothal. When an individual desires to contract a marriage, after having promised marriage to another, a certificate is taken out from the priest, who, may them delay the marriage until the matter be either settled by a compensation in money, or a commissity, after a tedious process, has taken commission thereof and inflicted a fine.

inflicted a fine.

Love-Lefters and Nonsense.

A love letter is an heterogeneous compound of lics and aonsense. If you are really in love, you are positively unfit to write; if you are not in love, you will only be puzzling your brain to invent false-hoods, which is ten times worse. Love letters are the sillest of created things, and are only endurable when read aloud in a public court, to afford amusement to a gaping crowd; however they are "useful" sometimes, in an action at law, to secure "damages!"

"Black and white" are awkward witnesses, and "aids to assist the memory" anything but pleasant.

He that would pass the latter part of life with hon-or and decensy, must, when he is young, consider that his shall one day be old, and lay up, knowledge for his support, when his powers of acting shall for-sake him, and remember when he is old that he has once been young, and forbear to animadvert with un-necessary vigor on faults which experience only can correct.

Donnter.

it under a bell with one of my hardest bitten mice. It immediately reared itself on it hinder part, and catending its long arms, remained motionless in this posture, while the mouse ran round the bell, oridently unwilling to face its new antigonist. This continued a short time; and then, as if under the influence of an irresistable fascination, the mouse jumped suddenly infolthe arms of the tarantula, which quickly seized him with his two nippers, resembling the claws of a cat, situated at either side of the head, and with such deadly effect, that the little quadroped instantly swelled up and burst. I next let loose two all shared the same fate.

A Posst in a Scotterer paper begins—"I've lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Ictry or three mice at a time on the tarantula, but they all shared the same fale.

Art of Swimming.

Men are drowed by raising their arms above water, the unbuoyed weight of which depresses the head. Other animals have no uotion or ability to act in a similar manner, and therefore awam naturally. When a man falls into deep water, he will rise to leave to his hands. If he moves his hand under the ble sphing has to allow him free liberty to breather; and will continue there is the sphing has to allow him free liberty to breather; and will respect to the will use his leggs as in the act of walking (or all the or of walking up sairs,) his shoulders will rise above the water, so that he may use the less exertion with his hands, or apply them to other pupposes, above the water, so that he may use the less exertion with his hands, or apply them to other pupposes. These plain directions are recommended to the region of these who have not learned to swim in their youth, as they may be found highly advantageous in preserving life.

Laxe Surranon.—There are few marble dining tables.—T. Weed.

A. Poket in a Southern paper begins—"I've lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory. "That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerry lived upon thy memory." That is as bad as Jerr

LAKE SUPERIOR.—There are few persons in this country, and still fewer in the Old World, who have anything like an stequate conception of the immense extent of this big drink, as they say out west. To the lakes of Europeal bears the same relation in size, wilclick the Mississippi and Missouri bear to European rivers. The lakes of England, Scotland and Switzer.

A new kind of tobacco is cultivated in some places in Maryland, It is named Persian Tobaction, is of a beautiful color, and commands when Sho took her father's hand between her own lits. Sho took her father's hand between her own lits. Sho took her father's hand between her own lits. Sho took her father's hand between her own lits. In large and present it to hands and the present it to hand and an analysis of the present it to hand and the present it to hand an analysis of the present it to hand and the present it to hand an analysis of the present it to have a successful by one of the hand and the present it to hand an analysis of the present it to hand an an analysis of the present it to hand an analysis of the present it to