

THE VOLUNTEER.

John B. Stratton, Editor and Proprietor.
CARLISLE, SEPTEMBER 23, 1852.

FOR PRESIDENT,
Gen. Franklin Pierce,
OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
Col. William R. King,
OF ALABAMA.

JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT,
Hon. Geo. W. Woodward,
OF LUZERNE COUNTY.

FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER,
Col. William Hopkins,
OF WASHINGTON COUNTY.

Presidential Electors.

- GEORGE W. WOODWARD, of Luzerne.
- WILSON M'CALLISTER, of Allegheny.
- ADDITIONAL DISTRICT.
- ROBERT PATTERSON, of Philadelphia.
- DISTRICTS.
- 1. PETER LOGAN, Philadelphia.
- 2. GEORGE H. MARTIN, Philadelphia.
- 3. JOHN MILLER, Philadelphia.
- 4. F. W. BOCKLIS, Philadelphia.
- 5. R. McKAY, Jr., Delaware.
- 6. A. APPLIE, Bucks.
- 7. N. STRICKLAND, Chester.
- 8. A. PETERS, Lancaster.
- 9. DAVID FISTER, Berks.
- 10. R. E. JAMES, Northampton.
- 11. JOHN M'ERCY, Columbia.
- 12. F. DAMON, Bucks.
- 13. H. C. EYER, Union.
- 14. JNO. CLAYTON, Schuylkill.
- 15. ISAAC ROBINSON, Adams.
- 16. HENRY FETTER, Perry.
- 17. JAS. BURNSIDE, Centre.
- 18. MAXWELL McCASLIN, Greene.
- 19. JOSEPH MILLER, Cambria.
- 20. W. S. COLAHAN, Washington.
- 21. ANDREW BURK, Allegheny.
- 22. WM. DUNN, Mercer.
- 23. JOHN S. McCORMACK, Clarion.
- 24. GEO. R. BARRETT, Clearfield.

County Ticket.

WM. H. KURTZ, of York County.
Assembly.

Dr. IRA DAY, of Mechanicsburg.
DAVID J. M'KEE, of Newton.
Commissioner.

JOHN BOBB, of Silver Spring.
Director of the Poor.

GEO. BRINDLE, of N. Middleton.
Sheriff.

JNO. CAROTHERS, of Westpennsb.
Coroner.

JOS. C. THOMPSON, of Carlisle.
Treasurer.

GEORGE Z. BENTZ, of Carlisle.
Auditor.

DEPARTURE OF TROOPS.—A detachment of U. S. troops left Carlisle barracks on Tuesday, bound for Fort Snelling, Minnesota territory. The detachment numbered sixty five looking men, under the command of Lieutenant Jones and Talford.

SPLENDID JEWELRY.—Our friend CORNELL, West High street, has recently replenished his establishment with a splendid and varied assortment of beautiful and truly elegant jewelry. His assortment of Gold and Silver Watches, in particular, is extensive, and "can't be beat," and he is now prepared to accommodate all, both in price and quality. Give him a call.

CHOLERA AT CHAMBERSBURG.—We regret to learn that the cholera continues to prevail at Chambersburg, to an alarming extent, and appears to be rather on the increase than otherwise. During the week and on Saturday, ten deaths from cholera occurred. Tuesday last was observed by the citizens of Chambersburg as a day of fasting and prayer.

Democrats, Are you Assessed?
Democrat, attend to this important matter immediately! It is necessary, to entitle you to vote, that you be assessed ten days before the election. You have no time to lose, as the State and County election will take place on the 12th of October. Mr. Andrew Roberts is the Assessor for Carlisle Borough.

Hon. JOEL B. DANNEB, of Gettysburg, has received the Democratic nomination for Congress in his District. He has to contend against fearful odds—but if any man in all that region can bear aloft our glorious banner to victory, he's the one to do it. Danneb's a whole-souled, noble-hearted Democrat, and deserves to be elected.

The Conferees of the Luzerne District have nominated, unanimously, Colonel H. B. WRIGHT as the Democratic candidate for Congress.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—The Pittsburg Post says the remainder of the Western Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad will be opened for travel early in November next; thus completing a continuous railroad from Pittsburg to Philadelphia, in connection with the Allegheny Portage Railway.

JUST LIKE THEM.—The Boston Post says "the Scott committee at Washington, circulated at the North, by means of Congressional frank, one hundred thousand copies of the Era, the Abolition paper at Washington, with an article to prove that Pierce is a pro-slavery man." Senator Smith, of Connecticut, is the honorable worthy who is at the head of that business. There are plenty of counterfeiters in our Penitentiary who are not a whit better than that same Truman!

FOR-ORANGE STAMPER ENVELOPES.—The Post-office Department, under the late Act of Congress in regard to post routes, is about to issue stamped envelopes, the use of which, either through the regular post, or by private hand, will be recognized as legal and regular. This will prove a convenience to parties writing for the packets and rail trains to the latest moment.

During the recent election in Montgomery county, Ala., there were forty-two dollars collected in the box labeled "One dime to the memory of Washington," which is to be applied to the erection of the Washington Monument.

Old Bull, the great violinist, has purchased 120,000 acres of land in Potter county, Pennsylvania, for the purpose of founding thereon a colony of his Norwegian countrymen. The vanguard of the enterprise consisting of thirty hardy-looking men, have already arrived at Condecorport, in that county.

CAN THE PEOPLE BE BOUGHT?

The Federalists think they can. We notice in nearly every call for a Whig meeting, that a bribe is held out to those who will condescend to attend. For instance, when the Federalists of this county attempted to get up a Harvest Home Celebration, they advertised that the dinner and also the "refreshments" (viz: brandy, gin, whisky, hard- cider, &c.) would be furnished "without charge" to all who would consent to attend the meeting! Bill the meeting was a most complete failure. Even the free dinner and refreshments was not a sufficient inducement.

The people would not attend the Scott meeting. In Lancaster county—that hot bed of mischievousness—an attempt was made last week to get up a State mass meeting of the friends of Scott, but like all other similar attempts the people would not attend, and another grand failure was the consequence. In their call for this meeting the Committee, as usual, held out bribes to those who would attend. The fare on the railroad free; dinner free; and a splendid prize banner, to cost $100, to the township or borough sending the largest delegation in proportion to the Whig vote. Notwithstanding all these efforts, however, the meeting was a most miserable affair, and amounted almost to a complete failure.— A few hundred office-seekers from Lancaster, Harrisburg and Philadelphia made up this "grand demonstration." The Whig papers are careful to make no mention of the number present at this last grand failure, but we have heard from a reliable source, that the highest estimate of those present was some 1500. And this meeting was got up as an off-set to the Reading Democratic meeting, which numbered its 20,000.

A Whig paper on our table, from New York, contains a call for a Scott meeting, and an offer of a banner, the cost of which is to be $500. The object is to encourage the Whigs of the county sending the largest delegation! The delegations are to travel on railroads and steam boats free of charge, and a grand free dinner is to be served up for the hungry to partake of. Everything is to be free. Now, we would ask, who raises the money to do away the expenses of these Scott meetings? It costs thousands of dollars to get up these gatherings, and yet everything is paid for by one man, who acts as financier and treasurer. Has part of the Galphin and Gardiner swindles been appropriated for political purposes? It would seem so, for beyond question, a very large fund has been raised in some way. When Democrats get up meetings every one attending has to contribute his share to defray expenses. We have no Galphin fund to resort to, nor do Democrats desire to have—we have no Government money to use for political purposes, but every man has to pay his own expenses.

Democrats, prepare to meet the Galphinites—these plunderers of the Treasury, who are now using their ill-gotten gains in an effort to elevate Scott to the Presidency. They can well afford to spend thousands upon thousands to elect their candidate, for they have robbed the people's treasury, and will continue to plunder the system, should they be successful. Let Democrats go to work, therefore, and put down the men who are attempting, by a free use of stolen money, to place their friend, Gen. Scott in the Presidential chair.

CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE—PRINTING TICKETS.
The Bradford Reporter of last week publishes a scale of prices, which the editor says he charges candidates for office, for printing their tickets, viz: Congress, $25 President Judge, $20 State Senator, 20 Associate Judge, each, 10 Representatives, each, 15 Register, 10 Sheriff, 15 Clerk of Courts, 10 Prothonotary, 15 Co. Commissioner, 10 Treasurer, 10 Prosecuting Attorney, 5

The editor of the Reporter publishes this list of charges in order to prevent all misapprehension, mistake, or dispute, "for it is a fact that some candidates, whether successful or not, dislike paying a printer's bill, especially after the election. We have adopted the above as our scale of prices, and we hereby give notice to the candidates accordingly. Every fall we are at a very heavy expense for printing tickets, for which we seldom receive a cent. We have determined to submit to this imposition no longer. We cannot, in justice to ourself and family, afford to "work for nothing and find ourselves;" and we are unable to see why the expenses and labor should devolve entirely upon the editor of our paper, "for the good of the party." The candidates are the proper persons to pay the debt. Certain it is, we will not. We are willing to contribute four times as much as any one else, but our share toward liquidating party expenses, but we cannot, and will not hereafter, pay debts that justly and honestly belong to others. We are (as indeed is every party editor,) at a constant expense for political purposes. Perhaps many of our readers do not know, and if they did, do not care, that printing tickets for State officers is a gratuitous business, being done, as is much of our labor, "for the good of the party." So, also, for Electors for President and Vice President. These expenses necessarily belong to the party editor. Even those who are anxious for office and employment under the State or National Government, could not think of taking this expense of $20 or $25 on themselves. The party editor must do it, for no one else will. We say we have adopted the above as our scale of prices for printing tickets, and we shall rigidly adhere to those terms. If any of the candidates are dissatisfied with our terms, they are at perfect liberty to procure their tickets elsewhere.

"GREAT NUSS IN SOUTH MIDDLETON."
Under the above caption the Herald of last week publishes a communication, which purports to have been written by a Democrat who was an officer of a Democratic meeting held at the public house of Snyder Ruppel, in Papertown, on the 4th inst., the proceedings of which we published in our paper two weeks since. This correspondent of the Herald says that no resolution in favor of the Democratic ticket was "entertained by the meeting," and that he was surprised to find a resolution endorsing the ticket published. He says also that the President Vice President, Secretaries and many others who participated at that meeting, "will not support the Democratic ticket." We pronounce the assertions above false in every particular. It is false that a resolution in favor of the ticket was not offered. It was read with the other resolutions, and adopted unanimously. It is false that the officers of that meeting are opposed to the ticket, and the scribbler for the Herald (no doubt a Whig of Carlisle), convicts himself of falsifying, for he says that Judge Stuart (who was first Vice President of the meeting) "undertook to put the ticket through," but failed in the attempt! The statement of the Herald's correspondent is a fabrication from beginning to end—and is pronounced by every Democrat who attended the meeting at Ruppel's.

WASHINGTON UNION.—The Union is certainly the ablest and best conducted Democratic paper in the United States. Every Democrat should subscribe for it.

"ALL THE INTELLIGENCE."—A Texas Whig editor, in speaking of the Whig candidate for Vice President, says—"Mr. Graham is well known to the literary world as the accomplished editor of Graham's Magazine, one of the best literary works published in America!" Hold our buttons!

WHIG EDITORS OF PENNSYLVANIA!

If you want to save labor, turn to the files of the Locofoco papers published in your town, and you will find editorial attacks on the proceedings of meetings where Scott is praised in the highest and strongest language of eulogy.—Pa. Telegraph.

Well, there is some truth in the above, notwithstanding it is the assertion of a Federal paper. During the Mexican war Democratic editors and editors of the Whig papers, and others, have applied to him all sorts of epithets, such as "the murderer of innocent children," "a journeyman throat-cutter," &c. Federal editors expressed the hope that the Whig troops under his might be welcomed by the Mexicans "with bloody hands to hospitable graces," and Federal editors endorsed this treasonable and wicked sentiment, and published the speech that contained it, and commended it to their readers! There was treason in our lap at that time, and the prominent leaders of Federalism from Maine to Georgia conspired to give "aid and comfort" to the Mexican Federal editors and editors because held by the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected to, but sympathized with, and spoke words of encouragement to them. "This was the course of the Democratic party at that time, and redounds to its honor. We did hold meetings, and so did the Federalists." The object of our meetings was to encourage the American troops—the object of theirs was the dissemination of the same sentiments, and thus encouraged the Mexicans to continue the war much longer than it would have been continued had not this encouragement been given them. Then it was that Democratic called meetings for the purpose of rebuking traitors at home, and at the same time to "praise" our brave troops engaged in a foreign war, and thus encourage them and hold up their hands. Democrats, unlike the Whigs, were not cautious to the harshness our brave troops were subjected