What Mrs. Smith Said.

"Saint Agatha! not been out of the city this Mo, Jones said he couldn't afford it."

his forty-nine cigars a day, as usual, don't he?!

in forty-nine eigars a day, as usual, don't he?"

"Yes,"

"Well, he plays billiards, and takes his sherry and hock, and all that sort o' thing down town, don't he?"

"I suppose so."

"Well put that and that together! Just so Smith told me—"couldn't afford it.' I didn't dispute the point. It was too much trouble. I just smiled sweetly at 'him, as if I didn't know it was a 'himbug' but I very quietly went to my boudoir, and despatched a note to that Jewel of a doctor, and despatched a note to that Jewel of a doctor, and the special state of the second of the probably recover till after a trip to Saratoga or n Niagara, or some of those quiet places. Well, he is as keen as a briar and when Smith came home and sent for him, he found me in a state of forcer nicatined exhaustion, in the hands of my maid Libby. Ho felt my pulse, looked wise and oracular, and said, the must have a change of air." Of course I objected declared! Inver could be moved; was quite entirely ran down, &c. Doctor said he wooldn't answer for the consequences, and finally, to oblige Mr. Smith, I gave in. Understand!—Nothing like a little diplomacy: Always use the othek rein, my dear if you want to start Jones off in any direction." Men ure a little contrary, that's all. "They'd be perfect treasures, every mother's son of them, if it was not for that.—Fanny Fern. in any direction. Men are a little contrary, that's all... They'd be perfect treasures, every mother's son of them, if it was not for that.—Fanny Fern.

To Preserve Fence Posts.

In so important a branch of farming, we endeavo in so important a trainer of natural, we discovered to give everything that may have a boneficial tendency. A writer, E. H. in the Rural New Yorker, speake confidently of the following plan of preserving posts:

—If prepare my posts for setting and then let them season. I then take coal tor and paint them with season. I then take coal tor and paint them with three coats of the same. I point the post from about four inches above where they set in the ground to she buttom, and the end that sets in the ground also putting the paint on hot. A gentleman informed me that he had known a fence set in this way, that had slood, forty years, and as permanent then as at first. I think this way is much easier and cheaper than lime, and more durable."

Med grow circumspect according to their po-sition. The only reason the people of Massach-setts are less given to night brawling than the people of California, is because the former grow ten dollars worth of grain to the acre, and the lat ter two hundred. What men call virtue, is ver ter (we hundred. What men call virtue, is very often nothing but an empty pocket. In our opinion deviltry springs as aniurally from success us somersetts do from a vaulting board. The easier fulks acquire dollars, the more they will indulge fin woodcock and ungodiness. Who ever knew a coal heaver to be arrosted for adultry?

A man attempted to seize a favorable opport nity, a few days since, but his hold slipped, an he fell to the ground.
