Pictures of the Loved & Gone.

LIFE WHERE ART THOU RECORDED?

Blest be the art that can immortalize.
That Art that baffles time's tyrannic claim to quench it.

How sweet it is in after days, when memories on memories arise, and dreams of bygone times, and long forgotten things come softly to the heart. How sweet we say it is to gaze upon the likeness of some dear friend, with whom we once associated, whether far away, sailing upon the broad ocean, strolling over the prairies of the far west, wandering in strange lands, across the blue waters, or sleeping beneath the cold clods of earth, or the roaming wave. How pleasant the thought, that the art divine can give us the perfect resemblance of the absent and the loved, till we can almost imagine it is reality, that life and animation alone are wanting, for often as we gaze upon a good picture, the eyes seem to sparkle with brilliancy, and the lips appear as if about to speak.

A Daguerreotype is far more preferable to a painting, simply because it is far more correct and more convenient: the form stands out as it were from the plate, and gives every expression of the face as it was in the original. The Daguerreotype is without doubt one of the greatest inventions of the nineteenth century, and its benefit to man incalculable. Though simple in its operation, yet the human mind cannot comprehend exactly its strange mysteries: its shadow is caught upon the plate as if by magic, and we can only wonder that it is so.

Those who have not yet procured these precious momentoes, we would advise to call upon our friend A. B. Tubbs, at his Gallery in Wyeth's Hall, in Harrisburg, or at his new gallery, in Marion Hall, Carlisle, and our word for it, you will be obligingly entertained, and furnished with likenesses that will please and delight even the most fastidious. He has long occupied an enviable position as a Daguerreian Artist, received a Diploma for his splendid Daguerreotypes at the late State Agricultural Fair, at Harrisburg, and by close application and long experience, has made many experiments in the art, and is ready to compete with any establishment in the country.

Much attention is given to copying daguerreotypes and other pictures. Small pictures can be enlarged to any size. Children of any age taken.

Daguerreotypes inserted in Lockets, Breastpins, finger rings, pencil heads, &c.

Instructions given in the art on the most reasonable terms.

Pictures taken in cloudy as well as in clear weather. A collection of portraits can be seen at the Rooms, which are fair at all times.
