'Alexander succeeds in in-corporating Poland with Russia--that is to say, in perfectly reconciling the Poles to the Russian Gor-mononi, and not merely subduing the country, he has gained the greatest stop towards subduing that My opinion is, that he will attempt starter the one or the other of the project Laz. "Wintioned, and I think "the first to be the most probable." Hereupon Mr. O'Meara.observed that the distance is nothing, ' tetturned Napoleon. in the carnica of Cossacka and Calmucks without expense. On a subsequent day, the 27th of the same month. Nepoleon again started the subject, and made use of the singular and most impressive statements which follow. They appear to us to approach as near to the truth and warnings of prophecy as any political spec-ulation we have ever known. In the cuurse of a few years,' said Napoleon on the latter occasion, Russia will have Constantinople, the greatest part of Torkey, end Greece. This I hold to be as certain as if it had already taken place. Almost all the cajoling and faitery which Alexander practiced toward me, wis to gain my consent to effect this object. I would not consent, foresceing that the equilibrium of Europe would be destroyed. In the natural course of things in a few years Torkey must fall to Russia. The greatest part of the reportation are Greeks, who, you may eay, are Russians. The powers it would injure, and who could oppose it, are to Austria, it will be very easy for Russia to engage.

powers it would injure, and who could oppose it, are England, France, Prussia and Austria. Now, as to Austria, it will be very easy for Russia to engage her assistance, by giving her Servia and other provin ces bordering upon the Austriah dominions, reaching mart to Constantinople. The only hypothesis on tablich France and England may ever be allied with sinceri-ity will be in order to precent thire. But even this al linned will not avail. France, England and Prussia united cannot prevent thire. But even this al linned will not avail. France, England and Prussia united cannot prevent thire. But even this al united cannot prevent thire. But even this al inneder annot prevent thire. But even this al inneder annot prevent thire. But even this al inneder annot prevent thire. But even this all inneder and the prophecy appred in 1852, in 1853 the question is that which excitates Europe from end to end, end the nephew of Napoleon is on the throne of France. It is possible that if the exiled Emperor could have foreseen the resuecitation of the dynasty, he night have taken a more sangume view of the possible results of that alliance with England which he thus so temerkably predicted. At any rate, here he speaks unmistakeably to us on the question so vital to the interest of Europe, and from his grave he dicates the pulsey which his nephew and success-or can alone pursuo with respect for his authority and name.
