hausting.

The Chairman, [Hon. Seth Sprague,] stated that much attention had been devoted in Plymouth county, to the raising of corn, and with great success, yields of 100, 120, and even 145 bushels to the acre, being attained. The corn is planted closely, not more than two feet apart, Somehaveplanted two feet apart on way and 18 inches the other, and succeeded well. On certain kinds of soil, when planted closely, the corn will shade the ground, which is better than to expose the soil to the heat of the month of August, partic-as much nutriment as an acre of hay, and he thought that raising corn was a good preparation of the ground for hay. It will draw more from the land than hay, but nothing in comparison with other crops.

Mr. Proctor, of Danvers, thought the corn crop was worthy of increased attention, because it was one of the most certain crops. True, we sometimes lose the crop by frost as in 1826, and perhaps once or twice since, but it is very rarely the case. It is a certain, if not more so, than any other crop of grain we raise. With Yet he would not recommend as a general rule, or as a matter of economy, the planting of corn less than three feet apart. The corn planted in Plymouth county has a small stalk, with a full large car. Mr. Sheldon, of Wilmington, believed that corn did better when planted closely. If the land is well manured, there are not so many suckers, when planted in this manner. On two lots of which he was cognizant, the thickly planted corn did better than that which was planted at longer intervals between. He believed that a good fair acre of corn fodder, contained as much nutriment as an acre of hay, and he thought that raising corn was a good preparation of the ground for hay? pose you take several species of the wild crib apples found native, and cultivate them in an orchard by themselves, you might get varieties of crab apples only. You would, by planting the seeds, obtain crab apples and the seeds of different coins, but we doubt if you get anything above the character of a crab apple after all. How long would it take, think you, provided you had nothing but wild crab apples to work upon the fore you could bring them up to the size of a Ritsbone Pippin, Greening or Baldwin?

The celebrated English horticulturalist, the late Mr. Knight, it is true, improved crab apples, by carefully mixing pollen of the crab with that of some of the cultivated apples, and then plant ing the seeds produced, but we have ucere heard of his doing it by confining the operation to the pollen of the crab alone.
