From the Germantown Telegraph. SUCCESSION OF CROPS.

Mn. EDITOR.—The question has often been asked, "what are the crops which can be made it a succeed each other, on the same soil, with the preatest advantage?" The problem has generally the been felt difficult of solution, because, in the diversity of practices, we have as yet arrived at modata that can be relied on as correct. It has been attempted to resolve the question in a atthoretical manner, by analogy or inference, and sometimes by both. On this subject a distinguished author, which I have just consulted, remarks:

guished author, which I have just consulted, remarks:

'It is a well-know fact that each plant does not require peculiar elements for its nutrition, but that its own organs digest and, assimilate to it those juices which they extract from all those component parts of the soil which are destined for the nutrition of plants in general.—Vegetables whose properties are the most corresive and venomous, as well as those which are most beautiful and useful—those the most opposite in variety and contradictory in nature—will be found growing on the same soil, and flourishing together—a thing which never could occur if they required different nutritive matter for their support. In short, all varieties of The second of the second problem of the seco transplanting or root pruning.

The plan given below is more simple, and from limited experience I should think more sucessum.

It consists in grafting early, as for other concentrates in the manner of the common cleft. The consists in grating early, as no other stone fruits in the manner of the common cleft.

The side seams are to be waxed in the usual manner, the cleft filled, and the end of the stub covered with varion or melted composition. The whole is then to be wound with composition cloth, to prevent curling of the bark. That this show will succeed by a demonstrate from the plan will succeed, is a demonstrated fact, but in how great a proportion of cases, experience is too limited to determine. Suffice it to say, that eight scions set in different branches of the rapidity. Will others give this plan a trial and report the result. O. G. Gibbs, M. D., Perry, O.

Grafting.—The Editor of the Germantown of propagating choice fruit by grafting varieties upon all indifferent stock on the premises. There is much room for improvement. Any one can graft who carefully examines the performance of the operation by others. Speaking of the modus operandi the Major says: "inserting if (the graft) so that the outer bark of both scion and stump shall come in exact contact, and then filling the apertures with the wax, as well as covering the sawed part."

Is this not an error I to inner bark of both which should meet each other. As the grafts are gennerally much smaller than the stock upon which they are placed, the bark of the latter will be much thicker than the former, so if the outer bark be made to come in exact contact, the inner cannot, and a union will then be exceptioned doubtful.

contact, the inner cannot be exceedingly doubtful.

HOMES.

Nothing appears to us so beautiful in human experience as the reciprocal affection of parents and children, especially after the latter have attained maturity, and it may have formed now relations in life. We have seen the loving and lovely daughter, seize every opportunity of visiting the paternal home to lavish her affectionate attentions upon her parents, and by a thousand tonder and graceful kindness assure them that though she was an idolized wife, and a happy mother, blessed with lovely children, her heart still clave with ever strengthening fervor to father and mother who watched over her infancy, and guided her youth. It has been our privilege to know such as we have witnessed the outpourings of love and happiness between these devoted and glowing hearts, we have felt that surely much of heaven might be enjoyed here if all families were equally attached. And would that every daughter knew what pure joy she might create irrite parental bosom by a constant keeping alive of the spirit of filial devotion, and seizing frequent opportunities to make it manifest in little acts of gentleness and love, flotwithstanding the child may have become a parent.—It is always the dear child, and never so dear as when, it keeps up the childish confidence and love of its earlier years.

bas borne the stars and stripes into the interfor application of plaster to eight acres, that the land was worth ten times as much as it was without the plaster, and it has never tired of its use from that day to this, though the effect of an application now is not so great as then, as a matter of course.

SI CERSETT MODE OF GRAFTING THE PEACH.

To successfully graft the peach tree, has been universally considered next to an impossibility, but in consequence of the care and success of budding, this concession has seemed of but the the practicable importance. Yet every one of the least experience in this matter knows that many trees, where budding has been neglected or unsuccessfully performed, might be saved and rendered valuable if grafting could be performed with success.

Iam aware that Dr. Page of Washington, published and copyrighted about a year ago, a method of grafting the peach, for which he claimed success, equal to that attending ordinary grafting. His plan consisted in checking the growth of the tree simultaneously with grafting, by transplanting or root pruning.

The long given below is more simple, and "Where are you going with that bed?"

"Where are you going with that bed?"

"I am going up stairs with it, ma'am," said
Jake, whose backward position favored his lie, ind he began to walk up again.

"Come down I tell you," said the lady in rage, a there's no Mr. Sullivan living here." "I beg your pardon my lady," said Jake.— Then turning round and marching off with th bed fair and easy.
"Well there was a regular shilloo in the hous when the thing was found out, and eart rope wouldn't hold the lady for the rage she was in.

THE MARRIAGE STATE: Shall Happiness and Bealth, or Misery Sickness, attend it ?

MOST STARTLING CONSIDERATIONS I Reflections for the Thoughtful.

Strange that countless human beings exist and drag through life as do the beasts of the field, or the insects of the carth, evineing ne more thought or reflection than though the noble faculties of mind were not vouchasfed to them.

Many such are humands and fathers, upon whom are dependent the health, the well-being, and the happleness of a confiding and affectionate wife, with perhaps a family of children.

HOW OFTEN IT HAPPENS THAT THE WIFE LINGERS FROM YEAR TO YEAR to the enjoyment of health.

She may not be an invalid confined to her bed, or even to her room; as her pride, ambition and energy induce and norve her to take personal charge of her household, even when her health will not admit of it; but she is nevertheless perceptibly sinking from day to day, and always ailing.
Thus, day after day, and month after month tranpire. Her health daily sinks, till finally even the REMOVAL.

JOHN D. GORGAS hereby informs his friends and customers, that he has removed his TIN WARE and STORE ROOMS to the room lately occupied by Mr. J. W. Eby as a Grocery Store, on West High street, where he will as heretofare manufacture and keep constantly in store, overy description of offered where long credits are given.

Under their cash and short credit system the necessity for chargieg large profits does not exist, and by selling titlir goods at a very small advance on foreign cost. They mean to make it the interest of every judge of goods, to buy on the following terms:

Cash Buyers will receive a discount of SIX per cent, if the money be paid in par funds, within the days from the date of bill.

Uncorrect money will also be taken at its market value on the day it is received.

To merchants of undoubted standing a credit of six months will be given if desired.

Where money is remitted in advance of matarnian will be allowed.

They ask from merchants visiting the Eastern cities, the favor of an examination of their stock, being satisfied that they will be convinced that it is not for their interest to pay the large profits that are absolutely essential to those who give long credits.
