

THE WAR IN EUROPE!

The Cunard steamer ship arrived at New York on Thursday. She sailed from Liverpool on Saturday, April 8th. Her arrival here, therefore, three days later than was brought by the Arctic.

Flour had declined two shillings. Indian Corn had also declined sixpence. Wheat has declined three pence.

The Asia brings no tidings of the missing Steamship City of Glasgow.

The czar had submitted peaceful propositions to the combined Powers, but they were of such a nature that they were rejected.

The negotiations between Austria and Prussia are not yet closed, but Prussia has joined in a protocol, signed at Vienna, between England, France and Austria.

The allied fleets were about to blockade the port of Odessa in the Black Sea.

The Russians have evacuated Anland, an island at the entrance of the Gulf of Bothnia, well fortified, and considered one of the most important points in the Baltic. It is generally the station of a large portion of the Baltic fleet.

The evacuation indicates that the Russians intend to meet the allied fleet in the Baltic. It was next day that Peter the Great gained his first naval battle over the Swedes in 1714.

The expulsion of the Greeks by Turkey has been resolved on.

There has been no battle of any kind yet between the Russians and the allies.

Admiral Sir Charles Napier's address to the sailors in the fleet was as follows:

"Lads, War is declared. We are to meet a bold and numerous enemy. Should they offer to fight, you know how to dispose of them. Should they remain in port we must try to get at them. Success depends upon the quickness and resolution of each of you. Lads! sharpen your cutlasses and the day is your own."

This characteristic address was received with great enthusiasm.

Five million pounds sterling have been removed from the treasury to St. Petersburg, being supposed for war purposes.

Hostilities will soon be commenced in the Baltic.

The Sultan has sent additional troops to Albania, where there is a rising against the British.

The Russian Emperor and her Count have left St. Petersburg and moved to Moscow.

The British Government has seized two Russian screw steamers building at Northfleet.

Terrible Shipwrecks.
Loss of the Ship "Pohowatan"—Two Hundred Persons Drowned.—Loss of Schooner "Manhattan" and Loss of Life!
The late storm has been productive of a most terrible disaster at Long Beach, on the coast of Oregon. A magnificent ship "Pohowatan," from Havre, went ashore all hands on board, consisting of 200 passengers and the crew, were lost.

Eighty bodies have been washed ashore at Aberdeen, and more than thirty at Long Beach. It was announced, yesterday, that an elegant ship had gone ashore on Saturday, near Harbort, and was still beating the waves on Sunday, the dreadful state of the weather not permitting any assistance to be given.

The gale of Sunday night was a terrible one, and no ship in the harbor was so much exposed to be could withstand it.

The following letter from Long Beach and despatches from Aberdeen tell us the particulars known of this terrible catastrophe, and probably all that ever will be known, as not a living soul appears to have escaped.

The schooner "Manhattan" was also wrecked, and all her crew but one person in this case were reported to be dead.

Long Beach, Oregon, April 17, 1854.
ENTRUSTED LADDER—Gentlemen—I write to inform you of the total loss of the ship "Pohowatan," of New York, which was wrecked on Sunday morning about 3 o'clock, during one of the most violent storms ever experienced on the coast.

She was laden with emigrants, I should think about 200, and out of the whole number of passengers and crew there was not a soul saved. It was impossible to save any on account of the weather.

The vessel has gone to pieces so much that it is almost impossible to tell where she struck, which was about 7 miles north of Egg Harbor Light.

We have picked up 23 bodies to-day, and since the storm has abated, we have plenty of help from the main to assist in the search for bodies.

Also, on Sunday evening, three came ashore, about 2 miles south of the ship, on Long Beach, schooner "Manhattan," of Bangor, Maine, laden with coal. She went to pieces immediately, and all except one lost, and he is in such a state of mind that it is impossible to ascertain any thing at present from him.

L. P. S.
FRANCE AND THE UNITED STATES.—A Parisian journal speaks of the probability which exists of an increase in the export of American grain to France as one of the results of the war in the Orient.

"We have never, for our part, considered the cereals of another country as indispensable to our internal consumption. Odessa, Azoff, and the other ports of those shores, have already furnished this year from 12 to 14,000,000 of hectolitres of grain; they could yet furnish from 10,000,000. This undoubtedly is not a great resource, but the prohibition is not irremediable. The United States also have a considerable excess, which has been estimated at 17,000,000 of hectolitres. Now, as we have ourselves estimated the deficiency of Western Europe at 60,000,000, it will be seen that we have still a large margin, and that we can get along without the cereals of the Black sea, which are, besides, sufficiently mediocre, not to say absolutely bad, because of their inferior quality. In the place of the navigation of the Mediterranean and the Archipelago is much more dangerous than that of the Atlantic ocean; in the second place, the United States are a civilized country which will receive our products in exchange for its own, whilst the countries bordering the Black sea, will comparatively a desert, receive only our cereals; and finally, our commerce with the United States, whose future is immense, will very favorably affect our vine cultivation, the fabrics of Lyons, and the articles of Paris, whilst the commerce of the Black sea is, for us, a veritable ruin."

AT A PUBLIC OCCURRENCE—ALMOST A MURDER OF A HUSBAND BY HIS WIFE, AND SUICIDE BY THE LATTER.—On Wednesday last, the citizens of this community were startled by an awful occurrence which transpired in Penn township, Lancaster county, about 4 miles north-east of our borough. On the previous night the wife of Mr. David Salmon, who we learn, had been somewhat deranged for a period of several weeks, while Mr. S. was in bed and asleep, struck him a blow on the side of his head with a mauling axe, stunning him and causing a serious wound from which he, however, somewhat recovered in a short time. He then awoke his children and sent for one of his neighbors, Mr. Eastman, who immediately repaired to the place. He found Mr. and Mrs. S. in the same room, the latter, however, immediately entered an adjoining one, and when he had learned from the husband what had happened, he went in search of her, but could not find her, she having made her escape through one of the windows. On Wednesday morning she was discovered, being lying on the pig-sty, with a piece of cord tied round her neck, and she had been twisted, drawn tightly around her neck, and another piece fastened to a rafter in the sty, sufficient evidence that she had hung herself, and that the cord broke, but not until she had hung long enough to cause death.

An inquest was held, by F. Eslinger, Esq., when the verdict was rendered in accordance with the facts as above stated.—Manheim Sentinel.

TRAGEDY.—A paragraph is running the rounds of the papers, stating that "no citizen of the United States has ever yet been convicted of treason." This is a mistake, for in 1812, the late convicted of High Treason in the Circuit Court of the United States, sitting at Philadelphia, in the year 1800 or 1801. They were sentenced to death, and later in the evening of the day previous to that appointed for their execution, they were pardoned by President Adams.—Pennsylvania Enquirer.

Concession at Wilkesbarre.
Wilkesbarre, April 21.—James Quinn, the murderer of Mahala Wiggins, by cleaving her skull with an axe on board a canal boat, last fall, was executed here to-day, by virtue of the sentence of the Governor. He left his cell at half past one o'clock this afternoon, and on reaching the jail-yard he ran eagerly up the steps of the scaffold. He then looked around with apparent emotion, and composed, and with seeming indifference to his fate. During the prayer, he smiled and bowed on recognizing acquaintances among the persons assembled to witness the execution. All being prepared, at a few minutes of two o'clock the Sheriff bade him farewell, and the drop falling, he died with few struggles, and without having made any confession.

The Washington Union re-publishes the following extract from Daniel Webster's speech at the Kosuth banquet, Jan. 7, 1852, in Washington City:—
"May I be so egotistical as to say that I have nothing new to say upon the subject of Hungary? Gentlemen! the autumn of last year before last, out of health, and retired to my paternal home among the mountains of New Hampshire, I was, by reason of my physical condition, confined to my house. I was bound to inspire. Nothing saluted my senses, nothing saluted my mind or my sentiments, but freedom, full and entire, [applause] and there, gentlemen, near the ocean shore, I wrote a letter, which most of you have seen, addressed to the Austrian chargé d'affaires. I can say nothing of the ability displayed in that letter, but as to its principles, while the sun and moon endure, I stand by them."
