my forrester, the first one making its appear-ance on the 29th June, 1844. These sketches and essays were collected previous to her sailing to India, in a volume entitled "Aldebrook." Here headth being feeble, she determined to spend a winter in this city, and while here be-came acquainted with the Rev. Adomiram Jule son, Babtist Missionary to Burmah, to whom she was marriad in July, 1847. They imme-diately sailed for India, where she endured the most harassing privations without a murmur-ing word. Her clothing, books, and even the treasured remembrances of distant friends, were stolen by the barbarians. On account of de-clining health she was forced to return home, and hascontinued to grow worse up to the time of her death. She died of consumption at Har-ilton, Canada West, surrounded by kind friends and ardent admirers. Mrs. Judson's longest poem is Astoroga, or the Maid of the Rock, descriptive of Indian life, in four cantos of Spenserian verse, which was written in 1844. The life of Mrs. Sarah Jud-son, (a previous wife of her husband.) was pub-lished in New York in 1848, and is regrad, of this city. The delicacy of her writer.— She took complete mastery of the heart, and could sound the profoundest depths of human feeling. There was a saint like devotion in her every thought, that won its way into the crevi-ces of the roughest nature, and left its indellible mark upon its memory. That she wrote with ease, is evident to the most carcless reader, for her desultory sketches are heart-confessions.— She was the very soul of piety, and with a hero-ism rarely equalled, she met the perils of the path into which she felt a stern duty calling her. "As the gifted writer, and the self denying ambassador of the gospel to the dark portions of earth, she has completed her task and gone to her reward. Around her tomb the associa-tions are nothing but delightful, and her mau-soleum is laid in the sca.

THE WEST FILLING UP.—The St. Mary (Iowa,) Gazette of a late date, says:— ''Our streets are thronged with emigrants for California, and business of all kinds is lively and profitable. Persons from different sections of the country are coming to settle on our vagent lands, and every appearance indicates a large accession to the present population of this for-tie valley. Numerous town lots have been sold in St. Mary within the last two weeks, and not be built as fast as the materials can be procured. Property is rapidly increasing in value. One of our citizens was offered fifty dollars an acre for forty acreas, one-half mile from St. Mary, which ho refused. The importance of this location is now so well known, that very little risk is in-curred in making arrangements for carrying on all kinds of business needful in a civilized com-munity."

The persons assined. The correspondent of the Democrat says: The name of the victim of this coemdy and tragedy was Schlessinger. He was a native of England, only 20 years of age, of handscome ath-letic person, and his general appearance such as to create a regret that he should follow such an unworthy profession as that of gambling, or come to such an unworthy end.

is called the preaching monkey. The appear-ance of this animal is at once grotesque and forbidding. It has a dark, thick beard, three inches long, hanging down from the chin. This gives it the mock air of a Capuchin friar, from which it has acquired the name of the preaching monkey. They are generally found in groups of twenty and thirty, except in their moring and evening meetings, when they assemble in vast multitudes. At these times, one of them, who appears by common consent, to be leader or president, mounts to the top of the highest tree which is near, and the rest take their places below. Having by a sign commanded silence the orator commences his harangues consisting of various modulated howls, sometimes shore and quick, then again slow and deep, but al ways so loud as to be heard several mics. The mingled sounds at a distance are said to resemble the orling of drums, and rumbling and creaking of cart wheels ungreased. Now and then the chief gives a signal with his band, when the whole company begin the most fright ful chorus imaginable, and with another sign silence is restored, and hegoes on with his chat the imagination can conceive. Courtesy comes cheap, but brings a good doal. Show a landlady a "particular attention," and you get the best room in the house, a sea-son ticket in the private patlor, such a cosy bed, to say nothing of the run of the pantry, and a great many other institutions of feather and fat-ness, about which Smith, Jenkins, Brown and others, your fellow borders, know just nothing.
