Why don't we? In the first place because the article is too lengthy for our columns, and in the next place because we don't please to publish it. But we reiterate what we said a few weeks since—the article from the Washington Union from which the Herald quoted an extract, contained more solid argument against Know Nothingism than any former article that we had noticed in that able journal. The Herald must remember that the discussion of the naturalization laws and Know-Nothingism are different subjects. If the naturalization laws are defece, if they require amendment, the democracy of the country are not afraid to discuss the question, but in doing this we make no concessions to a mid-night conclave of Know Nothings.

Disclosures under Oath,

At the criminal term of the Court of Common Pleas, now being held in Lowell, Bishop J. presiding, the following scene was enacted yesterday (Friday).

The case on trial was the Commonwealth vs. Michael Reardon, for rape. District Attorney Train for Government, B. F. Butler and Daniel Needham for defendant.

H. O. Snow, of Groton; having testified for the government, Mr. Butler, on cross examination, asked him the following question:

Do you belong to a secure society, popularly called Know-Nothings?

Mr. Snow, having denied that he did, and stoully persisting in the denial, the question was put in a different form, when he was finally driven to the wall; and asked leave of the Court to consult counsel. This liberty was politely to consult oounsel. This liberty was politely granted by Judge Bishop, who gave the Jury a recess of ten minutes on account of the delay. When Mr. Snow again took the stund, the question was again seked, thom which he prompt ly replied; he had a right to protect himself. If he had taken an eath contrary to law, he wan not bound to criminate himself. But, said-Judge Bishop, this is a startling revelation that men take obligations in secret societies, which are regarded by them as of higher authority than those administered in this court.

A. M. Gage was then called. He testified in a frank, humorous manner, that he mee joined the Order, but left it some three months ago. Mr. Butler called his attention to an exposition of the oath, published in the Boston Post of Oct. 25th, which Mr. Gage seemed to think was about the kind of oath administered to him, though he did not remember exactly. From his testimony, we judged he had broome disguisted with the Order, and exposed its secrets without any misgivings.
