The last mentioned letter deceived her father; while the deception was confirmed by having all his letters to his daughter returned unopened. Award, at length, that she was a prisoner, Miss Bunkley determined to escape, and on the morning above named, susceeded in effecting her liberty, by climbing through a stable over a door, and thence into the yard—Her movements were overheard by the watchman, whose vigilance she cluded by concealing herself behind a tree. As soon as the watchman turned away, she fled—alone, a stranger, in the night, and dressed in her novice's habit and black cap, this poor terrified girl escaped over the rough country, ten-werry miles, to Creagerstown, where, on enquiring for the stage house, she was directed to Stevens. Hotel. She immed a "ly m'd known the circumstances of her case to Mr. Chas: Stevens, the laudford, and demanded his protection, which was promptly accorded, and in Miss Grimes, a relative of Mr. Stevens, she found a faithful and goattle confident and friend. It is thought also that a political calm is the proper time to begin this great work. In this year work way we will show our love for the great principles we maintain, by assembling when there is not a scramble for place and power, but at a time when the public mind is not excited and prejudiced by the bitterness attending an approaching election—when our own Councils will not be distracted by rival interests and personal aspirations.

The members of the Committee will therefore appreciate the importance of a general attended in the forestaid towaship, about one-stimulated in the forestaid towaship.

A Poon Rule.—The Pottstown Ledger evidently thinks the rule that governs the rise and fall of flour a poor one, inamuch as it don't work both ways with equal facility—being very quick going up and very slow coming down. He is not a bit mealy-mouthed in his complaints. Hear him:

"It is a curious but not very pleasing fact to us folks who have to purchase a bundred of flour every cupled weeks, that our flour merchants discover, a rise in the price of flour in Philadelphia, as soon as the lighting line can bring it, and at once "task it no (to us," but it if there happens to be a fall, it takes them a month to find it out, or at least before weget the benefit of it. Is it fair?
